SENATORS LAY LACK OF RUBBER TO 'NEGLIGENCE'

Rip Officials for Not Foreseeing Need.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—Democratic and Republican senators joined today in charges that government officials have been inexcusably negligent in failing to provide synthetic rubber production facilities against the day when rubber imports from the far east would be cut off.

They asserted that the entire rubber shortage problem now harassing the country could have been avoided with proper foresight in this respect. One senator suggested punishment for negligence on the part of public officials.

Confer on Car Problems.

The discussion arose during the appearance of Leon Henderson, price administrator and director of the Office of Civilian Supply, before a conference called to consider the plight of automobile retailers hit by the government freezing order against sales of new cars.

Sen. Francis Maloney [D., Conn.] brought up the subject after Henderson said that even if there had been no other considerations a cut of automobile production would have been necessary after the Pearl Harbor attack in order to conserve on rubber.

"I want to ask about synthetic rubber," the senator interjected. "Is production progressing as fast as we can expect?"

Henderson Dodges Comment.

"I'm on a spot about that," Henderson replied. "I don't care to discuss it in a public hearing. After all, the synthetic rubber supply is not my responsibility and I don't like to talk about other people's responsibilities in public. I have enough trouble meeting complaints about things for which I am responsible."

"I know you're on a spot," Sen. Maloney responded, "but I think it's about time we had a showdown. Months ago I told Jesse Jones [chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation] that a large number of synthetic rubber plants should be built. I told him at that time that even if the plants turned out to be unnecessary it would be better to have wasted money on their construction than to face a situation similar to that with which we are now confronted."

Rubber Key to Troubles.

Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., Ohio] observed that the troubles of automobile dealers as well as those of tire retailers stemmed from the limited supplies of rubber available and declared that the whole difficulty could have been avoided with foresight in providing for synthetic rubber production.

"We have provisions in our wartime and defense laws," said Sen. Maloney, "which impose penalties on private citizens who commit an offense against our war effort. I think it would be a good idea to provide punishment for negligence on the part of public officials also."

Several senators, including James E. Murray [D., Mont.], chairman of the senate's aid to small business subcommittee which sponsored the conference, pressed Henderson for figures on the exact amount of synthetic rubber available and likely to be available.

Henderson declined to disclose the figures publicly but wrote them on a slip of paper which he passed up to the chairman. In answer to a question, the witness said that if he had his way he would have built "a hell of a lot of synthetic rubber plants" some time ago.

IF IT ISN'T 8 DEGREES BELOW ZERO TODAY, WEATHER MAN ERRED

If Chicagoans wake up this morning to find their thermometers registering above zero, it will mean that the weather bureau has made a mistake. Forecaster A. J. Knarr said the mercury was due to slide today to about 8 or 10 degrees below zero. And, it was his guess that the peak this afternoon will be around 5 above. Yesterday's high temperature was 16 above, but a zipping wind and falling mercury combined to make travel thru the city's streets uncomfortable for motorists and pedestrians in the late afternoon and evening.

MEASURE LETS WICKARD RULE FARM PRODUCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—The powerful farm bloc in congress scored a victory over the Roosevelt administration today when the senate adopted an amendment to the price fixing bill giving the secretary of agriculture veto power over farm prices on raw products.

Sen. Bankhead.

President Roosevelt came out flatly against the amendment yesterday, but the chamber refused to heed his objections and late today knocked down a compromise amendment proposed by Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], which would have restricted the secretary's powers.

How It Splits Control.

In effect the measure splits control of prices between the administrator and the secretary of agriculture. On all articles and materials except raw farm products the administrator would be a price fixing czar. On raw farm products, such as hogs, cattle, cotton, corn, eggs, and other products, the administrator must get the approval of the secretary of agriculture before setting any prices. Thus it would make the administrator subordinate to the secretary of agriculture and make Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard boss of farm products prices.

The senate is scheduled to complete action tomorrow on the bill. Then it probably will go to conference for adjustment with the house version passed late last year.

Vote Against F. D. R. 48 to 37.

The vote on the farm price amendment, introduced by Sen. John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] and supported by such leaders as Senators Walter F. George [D., Ga.] and Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], was 48 to 37. A total of 31 Democrats, 16 Republicans, and 1 Progressive prevailed over 26 Democrats, 10 Republicans, and 1 Independent.

In its original version, which was wholly acceptable to Mr. Roosevelt, the bill gave unquestioned authority to fix all prices to a single price administrator, presumably Leon Henderson, the administration's present price fixer. Introduction of the Bankhead amendment was regarded as an expression by farm bloc members that they do not want Henderson to interfere with inflation on farm commodities.

Wickard Can Veto Ceilings.

Under the amendment Secretary of Agriculture Wickard could rule out any price ceiling on farmers' raw products with which he might not agree.

Mr. Roosevelt declared in a telegram to Barkley yesterday, which the latter read from the senate floor, that he was "disturbed" by the suggestion of division of control over price fixing. The whole price structure is linked together, said Mr. Roosevelt, taking a stand against the amendment.

Bankhead first had advocated that the secretary of agriculture be given equal authority with the price administrator on all commodities processed in "substantial part" from farm products. While administration leaders were giving out interviews earlier today confidently predicting defeat of the amendment, the Alabamian quietly modified his proposal to include only raw products.

Eliminates Some Products.

The change in language automatically eliminated such items as alcohol, soaps, and fertilizers, household furnishings, breakfast foods, fabrics, and leather products. It also gave the farm bloc the voting margin of victory.

During debate on the proviso, Bankhead asserted that former President Herbert Hoover recommended to the senate banking and currency committee that agricultural prices be in control of the secretary of the department.

"Why is it necessary," he asked, "to place control of all business in one man? It is the power of life and death over all industry."

The senator also declared that Secretary Wickard had nothing to do with originating the amendment. The proposal came from the farmers, themselves, he insisted.

AIMING AHEAD

HOUSE APPROVES DAYLIGHT SAVING

Votes to Move Nation's Clocks Hour Ahead.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—The house today passed a bill providing for daylight saving time thruout the nation. The measure, adopted by a vote of 67 to 20, provides for moving the clock ahead one hour in each of the four time zones of the United States.

The bill is in conflict with a senate measure passed Wednesday which would give the President authority to advance or retard time as much as two hours in any part of the country. The house voted against giving Mr. Roosevelt such power.

The two chambers will hold a committee conference to arrive at a compromise. In this case the house is expected to win.

Farm Protests Crushed.

Farm state representatives opposed the legislation, but administration leaders crushed their protests with the assertion the bill was a wartime necessity and "expressive of a nation alert to accelerate its production and defense efforts and the conservation of power."

"I am against daylight saving time in any form," Rep. James W. Wadsworth [R., N. Y.] told the house. "It works a hardship on the farmer, and with factories working at a 24 hour rate, I see no reason why it should save power."

Rep. Donald H. McLean [R., N. J.] said that at any other time he would have insisted upon an amendment providing for one time zone in the United States reaching from the Atlantic coast to the Mississippi river. There are two time zones in this region.

Favors Three U. S. Zones.

"I know the house is in no mood to accept amendments to this bill," said McLean, "but the logical thing to do would be to extend the eastern time zone to the Mississippi river; the central time zone to the Rocky mountains; and the Pacific time zone to the Pacific ocean."

President Roosevelt last July 15 asked authority to provide daylight saving time upon a regional or national basis.

Told 'You're Fine, but I Don't Love You,' Suitor Kills Self

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

A 20 year old youth studying photography in a loop studio took poison and died yesterday shortly after receiving a letter from a high school girl he loved. The letter was a glowing tribute to the youth, whom the writer once had idolized.

Its five pages, seemingly the reason for his tragic act, said:

That the girl believed she was not good enough for him and that he had been "the only decent thing" in her life.

That she had been very much in love with him and had "grabbed out" to him whenever she needed help.

That she would never forget him.

But that she no longer loved him.

Parents Tell o. Friendship.

Shortly after reading the letter the boy, Robert Sorenson, 8342 Drexel avenue, a graduate of Hirsch High school, was dying of a swift acting poison. The girl, with whom he had been going for four years, according to his parents, is Marjorie Parsons, 17, of 8114 Ingleside avenue. The letter was signed "Marjorie."

Miss Parsons became hysterical immediately on learning of Sorenson's death. Police said they could not learn whether or not the letter was from her.

Young Sorenson was found dying at his desk in the studio at 127 North Dearborn street, where he was employed. The letter was found in his pocket by Detectives John Steiner and Frank Littleton of the 1st district.

Girl's Diamond Ring Found.

Also found was a girl's diamond ring with a gold chain attached. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sorenson, the youth's parents, said he had given such a ring to Miss Parsons, whom he had known since their grade school days, and that he had planned to marry her when he came of age. The elder Sorenson, an artist, said his son left home yesterday morning in high spirits and must have received the letter later in the day.

Both he and the dead youth's mother said that their son had never seemed unduly despondent, that he had liked sports and that, after first planning to be an artist, he had turned to photography about a year ago.

Young Sorenson was found gasping in the afternoon by a fellow worker, Leo Nozik. On the desk beside him was a package of the poison and a small measure in which it had been mixed.

"What's the matter, Bob?" Nozik asked.

Sorenson, he said, stared as if he didn't see him and muttered:

"Nothing. Let me alone."

Nate Pritikin, owner of the studio, entered then and aid was summoned. The youth appeared to rally, but then died.

Text of the Letter.

The letter in his pocket, postmarked Jan. 8, follows:

"Dear Bob: This is one point I want straight from the first. Your going with Uncle Sam has nothing to do with any of this. This isn't being written to hurt you or for me to get hurt in your answer.

"I have been planning to write this for a long time. I can't tell you everything in this letter, only that I'm not good enough for you. You have been the only decent thing in my life. For all the time I've known you, you have been something firm under my feet. I get in trouble and you usually put me on the right path, much better than my mother could have ever done.

"From the ages of 13 to 17 I've

MYSTERY EPIDEMIC OF EYE INFECTIONS HAMPERS SHIPYARDS

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 9 [Special].—An eye infection which, it was testified, had incapacitated about 2,000 shipyard workmen in the bay area for an average period of two or three weeks, caused concern today to federal officials interested in pushing defense production to a maximum level.

Existence of the "epidemic" was revealed at a hearing before a state industrial accident commission examiner, during which afflicted workers, chiefly welders, sought state compensation for their loss of working time. A government spokesman afterward described the situation as "serious" from the standpoint of labor supply in defense plants.

A suggestion that saboteurs might be responsible was made by Charles Janigian, attorney for the State Federation of Labor, who told Referee Arthur I. Townsend, that according to one theory, the disease might be traceable to a similar epidemic reported recently from Japan.

WAR AT A GLANCE FROM WORLD'S FIGHTING FRONTS

Yesterday's developments on the world's fighting fronts:

The United States navy announced that a Japanese plane had destroyed the Ruth Alexander, an American passenger liner, in the waters of the Netherlands East Indies. One crewman was listed as dead with four others injured. The remainder of the ship's personnel was declared to be safe in a friendly port.

The war department said that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's fighting men in the Philippines were steeling themselves for another savage attack by the Japanese. The enemy continued to move fresh troops and equipment into battle positions north of Manila.

Stem Jap Drive in Malaya.

Many lives were lost by both the British and the Japanese in furious fighting in the Malayan peninsula. The British apparently had stemmed a drive by Japanese tanks along the main road to Singapore, 290 miles away. This action occurred 50 miles north of Kuala Lumpur, the world's crude rubber capital.

The Netherlands East Indies disclosed that a Japanese submarine sank a Dutch ship in the Java sea, and then shelled, machine gunned and rammed lifeboats and men who were struggling in the water.

The Chinese claimed they were battering the Japanese on a 1,000 mile front and had pierced the outer defenses of Canton and Nanchang, two important provincial capitals held since 1938 by the Japanese in China.

Russians Seize Mosalsk.

The Russian army reported the recapture of Mosalsk on the central front, and about 30 miles short of the German winter defense line. The Reds also claimed the sieges of both Leningrad in the north and Sevastopol, soviet naval base on the Black sea, virtually had been lifted.

British bombers, guarded by American built fighters, pounded axis sea and land supply lines in the Mediterranean and North Africa. The outnumbered American built planes were credited with shooting down seven aircraft in a fight with 50 German and Italian planes.

The British acknowledged that axis troops covering Gen. Erwin Rommel's retreating forces were putting up stiff resistance in Libya.

CREWMAN DIES, 4 HURT; REST IN 'FRIENDLY PORT'

Navy Reveals Attack in Dutch Indies.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—The navy tonight announced the destruction of an 8,000 ton American ship by an enemy plane in waters of the Netherlands East Indies, while the nation awaited word of a renewed attack upon the gallant defenders of the Philippines.

The vessel was the Ruth Alexander of the American Presidents Lines. She was formerly owned by the Pacific Steamship company and was once in regular passenger service between Los Angeles and Seattle.

Abandoned as Total Loss.

One member of the crew was killed and four others were injured. The remainder of the ship's personnel was declared to be safe in a friendly port. The air attack apparently did not sink the vessel, but inflicted such damage that she had to be abandoned as a total loss.

[The Ruth Alexander's crew is given as 143 men in the merchant marine's register. A Dutch communique on Jan. 1 reported that an American freighter was attacked and set afire by planes in East Indies waters and that a Dutch naval flying boat had rescued 48 of its crew. It said one crewman remained missing. The navy said last night it did not know whether this ship and the Ruth Alexander were the same, but added that from available information this was assumed to be the case.]

The navy, in addition to announcing the destruction of the American liner, added that operations against Japanese submarines in the central Pacific were continuing, and that off the west coast of the United States the activities of undersea raiders had been reduced.

The navy's communique said an investigation of reports of an enemy submarine off the New England coast had produced nothing definite.

Prepare for Another Assault.

Meanwhile, the weary fighting men of Gen. Douglas MacArthur were steeling themselves in the Philippines to withstand another savage Japanese effort to drive them off their rocky, grimly held peninsula and into the sea.

The enemy obviously was gathering his strength and forces for a major attack, moving fresh troops and equipment into the areas of direct assault.

The actual fighting had reduced itself to sporadic jungle skirmishes, the apparent result of chance encounters between advanced patrols. The interim at least gave the American and Filipino defenders an opportunity for the thing which, in addition to airplanes and ground reënforcements, they needed most—rest.

The day brought the first direct word since Dec. 31 from Associated Press correspondents in the Philippines, and disclosed that Clark Lee of the Manila bureau is at Fort Mills, on Corregidor Island.

His dispatch was a brief account of how three American soldiers cut off by Japanese forces played dead for 28 hours and eventually rejoined the main body of American troops.

STEM JAP TANK DRIVE ON ROAD TO SINGAPORE

RAF Bombs Landing Ships on East Coast.

SINGAPORE, Jan. 9 (AP).—The British and Japanese fought in west Malaya today with a deadly urgency that took many lives on both sides and RAF bombers pounded Japanese ships which apparently were trying to land reënforcements from the China sea for the comparatively weak invading force on the east coast.

The British flyers reported they scored a direct hit on one 4,000-ton Japanese ship and damaging "near-misses" on another in the Kuantan estuary, 190 miles north of Singapore, and that they also made several direct hits on a Japanese ship north of Anambas Island, between Malaya and Borneo. No British planes were lost.

British Clinging to Line.

In the mounting fury of the land fighting, the British imperial troops clung doggedly to a ragged line running thru swamps, forests and rubber plantations in the Slim river area 50 miles north of Kuala Lumpur, but were under constant attack along the main road 290 miles above Singapore by the most powerful tank forces the Japanese have yet employed. Artillery was called into action at close range to stem these Japanese thrusts in southern Perak state.

The British radio, hinting at widespread Japanese fifth column activity, said "the enemy evidently had complete knowledge of the roads thru the rubber estates which enabled them to launch surprise attacks in armored vehicles."

[The British Broadcasting company heard in New York said "the slaughter of Japanese in some areas in Malaya is unbelievable," and told how concentrated British fire "has mowed down wave after wave of them and whole detachments have been blown to pieces."]

British Burn Rubber Stocks.

Between Kuala Lumpur and the front the smell of burning rubber filled the air as British demolition crews destroyed stocks likely to fall into the invaders' hands. Tin stocks and auxiliary flanking bridges also were blown up.

Japanese planes were reported machine gunning rubber estates and roads in the fighting area, but the communique mentioned only one bombing raid, that on Klang, a city 25 miles west of Kuala Lumpur. A few casualties resulted there, it said.

"Near Kuala Lumpur": Japs.

TOKIO, Jan. 9 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—Japanese forces driving down the Malaya peninsula have advanced more than 20 miles beyond Tanjong Malim, which is some 50 miles north of Kuala Lumpur, Domei news agency said tonight in a war summary.

CHINESE BATTER JAP TROOPS ON 1,000 MILE FRONT

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 9 (AP).—The Chinese claimed tonight that a broad-scope offensive had pierced the outer defenses of two of the most important Japanese held provincial capitals in south China—Canton and Nanchang—and threatened to break the Japanese grip on three more key cities—Ichang, Kweichih, and Chungmow.

An army communique declared that two columns had driven into suburbs of Canton, Kwangtung province capital, in the southern war zone.

Crack Nanchang Defenses.

The Chinese also reported cracking the outer defenses of Nanchang, capital of Klangsi province, inflicting heavy casualties on the Japanese defense forces.

The Japanese have held both capitals since 1938.

The communique asserted that the Chinese also have launched an encircling movement against Ichang, 200 miles west of Hankow and farthest Japanese penetration up the Yangtze toward Chungking. Ichang is in Hupeh province.

Check Japs in Anhwei Area.

In southern Anhwei province Japanese activity in the vicinity of Kweichih on the east bank of the Yangtze was said to have been "checked."

Almost 200 miles north of Hankow the Chinese reported storming the south and east gates of Chungmow, near the important rail junction town of Chengchow in northern Honan province.

Further battering of Japanese columns retreating from Changsha, Hunan province capital, 200 miles southwest of Hankow, was reported. The Chinese air force shot down seven Japanese planes.

Chinese Raid Amoy Island.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 9 (AP).—The Singapore radio said today that Chinese troops made a surprise raid upon Amoy, an island off the Chinese coast 240 miles northeast of Hongkong, destroying several Japanese artillery and machine gun posts. Amoy is opposite the Japanese owned island of Formosa.

'We're Ready! Japs Won't Get Hawaii,' Gen. Emmons Says

Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons.

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 8 [Delayed].—With greatly increased strength, including troops and aircraft, the army in Hawaii is ready for a Japanese attack any time and will hold these islands as the bastion on which the control of this part of the Pacific rests, Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, the new commander of the Hawaiian department and the military governor of Hawaii, declared today at Fort Shafter headquarters.

"Hawaii is the key to this part of the Pacific and we will not lose it," he asserted. "This is where we start our offense and we are getting geared to carry out the President's idea [of carrying the war to the enemy]."

Needed by Shipping.

Gen. Emmons pointed out that Hawaii flanks the Panama canal and with the canal and Alaska forms a protective arc for the Pacific coast.

"If Hawaii falls, the west coast will be in a very difficult situation," he said. "In such a case, I doubt that there would be any coastal shipping."

"The new and stronger defenses in Hawaii include aircraft," he went on, "and the aircraft is the real defense now. Aircraft and the navy are our only weapons against an attack until the attackers come close enough to shore for the artillery and the ground forces."

Taking No Chances.

He emphasized that the army is taking no chances and will not be surprised by another Japanese attack. He pointed out that surprise is Japan's strongest weapon, but "we are prepared, day and night, to meet any situation."

"We are not waiting till the Singapore situation is disposed of one way or the other," he said. "We are employing a large proportion of our man power in strengthening our fortifications. We are now far stronger than we were Dec. 7."

The general admitted that difficulty would ensue if the Japanese should establish a base on one of the four other major islands, besides Oahu on which Honolulu and Pearl Harbor are situated. The farthest of the larger outlying islands is only 150 miles from Oahu, but he reiterated that the defending ships and the air force were strong now and were being reënforced.

Smashes at Spies.

The military governor indicated that intensive and apparently successful efforts had been made to smash Japanese espionage and said he believed that all short wave radio transmitters in the hands of Japanese agents have now been taken over.

He indicated that the army would not hesitate to enforce labor on the Honolulu docks if necessary.

"We are short of labor," he said. "If the people will not work we shall have to exercise some pressure. We do not care if the men are office workers, if they can move a truck, roll a barrel, cut brush—anything."

U. S. NAVY SCOFFS AT TOKIO CLAIM LANGLEY IS SUNK

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—Replying to Japanese claims that the United States aircraft tender, Langley had been sunk, a navy spokesman said today Tokio was playing "the old Nazi game" of trying to smoke out the vessel's location.

"The Langley has been sunk two or three times by Japanese shortwave [radio]," the spokesman said. "The Japanese still haven't been able to find where it is. It's the old Nazi game and they're hoping someone will give away some secrets."

8,000 Convoyed Vessels Sail from Canada in War

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 9 (AP).—More than 8,000 ships laden with 50,000,000 tons of food and war supplies have sailed in convoys from Canadian ports since the war's start, Navy Minister Angus MacDonald said here today. Canadian and British ships have been joined on the North Atlantic convoy routes by those flying the flags of the United States, Norway, The Netherlands, Belgium, Russia, Poland, and Greece and eight other nations, he disclosed.

JAPS SINK DUTCH SHIP, THEN FIRE ON MEN IN WATER

3 Survivors Claim Sub Rammed Lifeboats.

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Jan. 10 [Saturday] (AP).—A Japanese submarine torpedoed and sank a Dutch freighter in the Java sea and then shelled, machine gunned and rammed lifeboats and crewmen in the water, according to a communique issued here today.

Only three members of the crew are known to have survived, the communique added. They saved themselves by clinging to the edge of their lifeboat while the Japanese were firing on the craft.

Submarine Rams Lifeboat.

After the shelling the submarine was declared to have rammed loaded lifeboats, including the one to which the three Dutch sailors were clinging. They tried to climb aboard the submarine, the account said, but were pushed back into the water by Japanese sailors. The submarine then disappeared in the darkness.

The three swam about seeking floating wreckage, finally locating an undamaged lifeboat in which they rowed to safety.

Islands Braced for Invasion.

The expectation is based on ceaseless Japanese aerial reconnaissance of the islands and air attacks on the naval and military base on the Island of Amboina, between New Guinea and Celebes, and on Tarakan, the military outpost and oil center off the northern coast of Dutch East Borneo. All these attacks, officials said, were ineffective except for reconnoitering results.

French Passenger Ship Reported Sunk in Storm

MARSEILLES, France, Jan. 9 (AP).—The French passenger ship La Moriciere, with 260 passengers and 100 crewmen believed aboard, was reported to have sunk today in a storm off the Balearic Islands. The ship was in the Marseilles-North African service and was one of the oldest French ships in operation.

Seventh grade children at the Sayre elementary school, both boys and girls, are spending all their spare classroom time these days learning the art of knitting. As soon as they are sufficiently expert the Red Cross will supply the class with wool and the proper implements to make sweaters, socks, and other war needs.

500 AMERICANS AND BRITISH HELD IN HANKOW AREA

CHUNGKING, Jan. 9 (AP).—The Chinese Central Daily News said today more than 500 American and British nationals had been taken into custody by the Japanese in the tri-cities, Hankow, Wuchang, and Hanyang at the Yangtze bend in Hupeh province.

It said the Japanese had taken over the National City Bank of New York's branch in Hankow.

Australian Public Looks to U. S. First, Paper Finds

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 9.—The Daily Telegraph reported today that a sampling of public opinion in New South Wales indicated that 73 per cent agreed with Prime Minister John Curtin that Australia ought to look primarily to the United States for aid in the Pacific.

RIDICULE TOKIO BOAST OF EASY CONQUEST OF U. S.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—Officials today scoffed at a blatantly boastful Tokio claim that Japanese troops will eventually land on American soil and find it a "simple matter" to sweep everything before them. The statements were made in the Japan Times and Advertiser.

Officials here, not the least bit apprehensive, said such claims were for home consumption. They pointed out that before any such enterprise could be attempted Japan would have to be supreme in the far east, destroy the United States fleet, reduce Pearl Harbor, and neutralize Alaska.

American forces on the west coast have been on the alert since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, which opened the hostilities.

Approve Promotion of Lieut. Gen. G. H. Brett

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—The senate military committee approved today President Roosevelt's nomination of Maj. Gen. George Howard Brett, recently designated as deputy commander of the allied forces in the far east, to be a lieutenant general. The committee also approved the advancement of Maj. Gen. Stanley Dunbar Embick to the rank of lieutenant general.

COL. M'CORMICK TO TELL LESSONS OF CRETE BATTLE

Speaks by Radio Tonight on Planes vs. Navy.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, tonight will tell in a radio address of the lessons learned by American and British military leaders from the amazing German assault and air seizure of the Mediterranean island of Crete last May 20. The speech will be broadcast by W-G-N, W59C, and the Mutual Broadcasting system between 8 and 9 p. m. as part of the Chicago Theater of the Air program.

The map printed in the adjoining column will enable listeners to follow the action as Col. McCormick talks. Two more maps to be printed tomorrow will help the listeners later to study the geographic and strategical elements of the epic battle for Crete. It is suggested that readers cut out this map today and use it to follow the radio speech. With the maps in tomorrow's TRIBUNE the reader will be better able to study the conclusions drawn in Col. McCormick's talk, which will be printed in full.

First Conquest of Its Kind.

The maps have been taken from an article in the December number of the Infantry Journal, a semiofficial magazine for officers and men of the armed services. The article "Conquest by Air," written by Maj. Paul W. Thompson, summarized the steps followed by the German units engaged in the battle and enumerated the various weapons used by the Germans in this first all-air conquest of an island surrounded by waters which were controled by a powerful fleet.

Col. McCormick's speech will deal with the conclusions which he and other military experts have drawn from this campaign. The importance of aviation and its coördinated use with all other elements of the army will be discussed by Col. McCormick, who also will cite the application that American forces may make of the German mistakes and successes as revealed by analysis of the action at Crete.

Broadcast from New York.

The speech will be made from the studios of WOR, Mutual's New York station, altho the rest of the program will originate in W-G-N's auditorium in Chicago.

The remainder of the program will consist of W-G-N's production of the well loved Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "H. M. S. Pinafore." Marion Claire and Attilio Baggiore will be the singing stars, taking the parts of Josephine and Ralph Rackstraw. The dramatic rôles for these characters will be taken by Betty Lou Gerson and Bret Morrison, and the entire cast will appear in costume.

The musical backdrop will be provided by W-G-N's orchestra and ensemble with Henry Weber conducting. Robert Trendler is the ensemble coach; Lewis James the vocal coach, and William A. Bacher the producer. All the gay, nautical musical highlights of this favorite operetta will be included.

Crete—Island Captured by Epic Air Invasion

(Story in adjoining column.)

OUSTED N. Y. RED TEACHER FOUND WITH U. S. FLEET

Zysman May Lose Rating as Petty Officer.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 9.—Dale Zysman, who was ousted as a New York City school teacher a month ago on the ground that he is a communist, popped up today as a petty officer in the United States navy.

An investigation to find out how Zysman got into the United States fleet has been started here by officials, it was learned. He enlisted on Jan. 3, was accepted by the navy without question, and given the rating of storekeeper, third class. Zysman was sent to a naval training base, and was to be assigned eventually to duty at sea.

The erstwhile school teacher's career under the stars and stripes may be cut short as a result of the inquiry, it was intimated today by navy officers.

Writer for Red Papers.

Zysman, who has written for the Daily Worker, official Red organ in this country, and for the Communist, under the party name of Jack Hardy, was dismissed from the faculty by the New York board of education last Dec. 11. The board charged that Zysman had testified falsely before the Rapp-Coudert legislative committee, which has been investigating communism among New York City teachers.

For the last six years Zysman has been vice president of the local teachers' union, which was expelled from the American Federation of Teachers [AFL] as a communist-dominated organization.

Opposed Aid to Allies.

In this connection it was recalled that one of the counts against Zysman's union was the way in which it followed the zigzag party line laid down in Moscow. The union opposed aid to the allies in the days when Hitler and Stalin were embraced in the nonaggression pact. The local communist slogan then was "The Yanks Aren't Coming."

Since the debacle at Pearl Harbor, the Daily Worker has been carrying stories about the recruits among American communists.

Cupid's Mark

ALEXIS SMITH.

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 9 [Special].—War hit the romance department in Hollywood today. Mars isn't stopping Cupid but he's putting hobbles on the little fellow. All this became evident when Alexis Smith and Craig Stevens admitted being "very interested" in each other but announced firmly at the same time that they plan no formal engagement because they are using their time and money for defense bonds, the Red Cross and other wartime projects.

The two young screen players, who first met three months ago during the filming of a picture, have been seen together frequently since that time.

8 FIRE-TRAPPED COLORADO MINERS KILLED BY SMOKE

Silverton, Colo., Jan. 9 (AP).—Smoke killed eight miners who were trapped today by fire in the Pride of the West gold and silver mine. The smoke poured into the mine shaft from buildings ablaze at the entrance.

A hundred men worked vainly over the miners at the mine camp six miles north of here after they were brought into the open by other miners. The eight were believed unconscious when first brought out of the tunnel, but evidently they had died deep in the earth.

Blast Razes Powder Plant In Mexico City Suburbs

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 9 (AP).—Fire and the explosion of a ton of gunpowder wrecked a powder factory in the suburbs of Mexico City tonight but caused no personal injuries. José B. Ortiz, owner of the factory, said he was convinced the fire was due to sabotage.

DENY GUNS DOT BERLIN BECAUSE OF NAZI UNREST

BERLIN, Jan. 9 [ANDI agency to Associated Press].—German officials, in view of reports abroad of growing unrest and political disorders, have invited foreign correspondents to designate any spot in Berlin as a possible trouble center and then go and see for themselves.

Foreign observers on daily rounds hitherto have not seen any machine gun positions or the massing of troops anywhere in the city, which shows its usual wartime face. Nowhere are there signs of any extraordinary precautionary police or army measures. Even night life continues as usual, without indication of increased police surveillance during blackouts.

[The above dispatch sent from Berlin by the Argentine news agency ANDI, indicates that reports of unrest within Germany have become so general that German officials feel it is necessary to deny them. The dispatch indicates that Berlin authorities for the first time have taken public notice of the reports, which have increased coincident with the retreat of the German armies in Russia, Hitler's assumption of personal control of his army, his plea for warm clothing for his soldiers, and other indications that the Nazis were finding the going rough.]

Commercial Radio Service to Philippines Is Restored

New York, Jan. 9.—Direct commercial radio telegraph service was reestablished today between the United States and the Philippines by RCA communications. It was announced that an oceanic link between San Francisco and the city of Cebu, on the Island of Cebu midway between Manila and Davao, in Mindanao, had been opened. Radio service was broken Dec. 31 when the United States army demolished all radio and cable installations at Manila.

BELIEVE WAVELL PLANS DRIVE FROM CHINA AND BURMA AGAINST JAPS

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP).—Intensified air assaults from Burma on Japanese bases in Thailand and deployment of Chinese forces in Burma, with Chungking's promise of more men when needed, led military observers tonight to the belief that allied Generalissimo Wavell might be preparing an offensive in both China and Burma to relieve Singapore.

Such a drive from British Burma would imperil Japanese air, land, and sea bases in puppetized Thailand and French Indo-China and rob the Japanese of some of their driving power for any other offensive action such as a move against the Dutch East Indies.

RAF Gets New Burma Chief.

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 9 (AP).—Air Vice Marshal D. F. Stevenson has arrived in Rangoon to assume command of the RAF in Burma. He is 47 years old and commanded a bomber group in Britain.

Japanese planes bombed an area north of the city today and encountered the heaviest anti-aircraft barrage heard here.

Farley in Capital; Silent on Talk of War Services

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 [Special].—James A. Farley, who severed his connection with the Roosevelt administration as postmaster general and chairman of the Democratic National committee because of his convictions against the third term, was a capital visitor today. Farley visited Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Vice President Henry A. Wallace, and other members of the cabinet. He lunched with a number of senators, but would not discuss reports that his services in a defense post are to be drafted by President Roosevelt.

REPORT 3 DIE AS ARMY CARGO PLANE CRASHES

Springfield, O., Jan. 9 (AP).—An army cargo plane crashed on a farm at Brighton, 14 miles east of here late tonight, army officials at Wright field in Dayton announced. State highway patrolmen said three men were killed.

The crew was listed by Wright field as Second Lieut. Harold W. Wolfe, 24 years old, of Dunkirk, N. Y.; co-Pilot Clayton L. Head, 21, Jackson, Miss., and Crew Chief George M. Hopkins, 22, of Dayton, O.

Joseph Ollinger, a farmer, reported that the plane plunged to earth and exploded "with a great flare" 200 feet from his house.

Nazis Tell Swiss, Sweden 'Our Enemies Are Yours'

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP).—The German radio said tonight "Sweden and Switzerland should tremble rather than quote with such pleasure and so extensively the British and Russian war communiques. For it is these two countries which will finally be the victims and will feel the results of the Anglo-bolshevik alliance."

REDS RECAPTURE MOSALSK; NEAR NAZI WINTER LINE

Germans Suffer Big Losses as Drive Rolls On.

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP).—The soviet radio announced tonight that the Red army had recaptured Mosalsk, 47 miles west of Kaluga and about two-thirds of the way to the Nazi winter defense line of Vyazma-Bryansk.

The broadcast communique also said Serpeisk, a town in the same area, had been retaken in the steady soviet counter offensive which is inflicting heavy losses on the Germans.

30 Miles from Defense Line.

Mosalsk is just a few miles north of Meshchovsk, which the Russians announced retaken yesterday by their troops. Both points are about 30 miles short of the Nazi winter line.

Russian naval forces also were said to have sunk an enemy transport in the Barents sea in the Arctic. The communique said 19 German planes were destroyed. The Russians admitted a loss of five planes.

Earlier the Red armies, thrusting forward along the whole length of the front, said they virtually have lifted the sieges of both Leningrad and Sevastopol. They claimed both great garrisons have been converted into offensive forces threatening to smash the German north and south anchors.

Nazi Machine Broken—Reds.

"The enemy continues to retreat in many sectors of the front, losing a great number of men, tanks, trucks, and guns. The initiative has been torn out of the enemy's hands. The German machine is broken!"

Soviet reports during the day indicated that Leningrad now had become one of the areas of greatest decision in the entire Russian offensive—and both in that theater and at the center the German communique acknowledged that the Russians still held the initiative and that for the Nazis it was a case of "bitter defensive fighting."

Beat Heavily at Invaders.

The Russians, by soviet account, were beating heavily at the invaders along the Stalin canal, which at some points runs within 15 miles of Leningrad, and it appeared that the Leningrad forces themselves were bursting out toward a juncture with these forces.

Strong continued Russian attacks farther to the north, against the Finnish lines north of Lake Onega, also were in progress.

In the far southern Crimea seven or more German divisions—100,000 men or more—seemed to be in increasingly grave position. The erstwhile besiegers of Sevastopol, the great Black sea naval base in southwestern Crimea, were said to be falling back to the north under assault by the Sevastopol garrison and by the Black sea fleet.

Other Russian forces landed above Sevastopol on both sides of the peninsula were beating inland. To complete the great pattern of entrapment thus spread, Russian efforts were being made to close the entire peninsula by cutting off the isthmus connection to the mainland.

Claim Nazis Fly to Front.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Jan. 9 (AP).—Germany was reported today by the army newspaper Red Star to be rushing re-enforcements by airplane from western Europe in an effort to stop the Russian counter-offensive. One hundred German officers were brought from France Dec. 23 to the Kalinin front, but most of them now are dead, the newspaper said. Another case was cited where 60 Nazis were flown from Germany.

Retreat Is Orderly: Nazis.

BERLIN, Jan. 9 [ANDI agency to Associated Press].—German forces on the eastern front have not yet reached their winter line, the highly placed commentary Dienst aus Deutschland acknowledged tonight.

The Nazis are making an orderly retreat before "storming soviet masses," Dienst asserted, adding that they were not digging themselves in because trench warfare after the World war pattern is contrary to German plans.

Dienst acknowledged that the Germans were "unaccustomed" to their present predicament.

It defined the Nazi winter line as an integrated series of nets of resistance, behind which are located the stronger bases on the main Nazi front. [Dienst apparently did not state how far back the Germans intend to retreat before making a stand against the onrushing Russians.]

Saves Baby's Life

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Elizabeth Bellandi and her daughter, Lydia.

A mother who had read of the method, yesterday breathed life back into her almost suffocated baby, Lydia, 5 months old, in the family home at 837 North Avers avenue. So successful was the mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bellandi, 25, that when a fire rescue squad arrived it had nothing to do.

Mrs. Bellandi found the baby blue and smothering under a rubber blanket in the crib, about five minutes after she had left the child to sleep.

She placed her mouth over that of the child and breathed into its lungs. It began to recover at once.

FRANCE RETIRES 42 GENERALS IN ARMY SHAKEUP

VICHY, France, Jan. 9 (AP).—Vice Premier Adm. Jean Darlan, acting in his capacity as minister of national defense, has retired 42 generals and intends to recast the army administration from top to bottom before a new war minister is named to replace the late Gen. Charles Huntziger, an official announcement said tonight.

The generals retired thus far have lost their posts since the first of the year and more retirements are to come, an authorized source said.

It was explained that the army command had been found paralyzed by the war administration and that Darlan took the situation in hand after Gen. Huntziger, war minister in the Petain régime, died in an airplane crash last November.

BRITAIN NAMES 2 COUNSELORS TO EMBASSY IN U. S.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Ivone Kirkpatrick, foreign office official, who identified and interviewed Rudolf Hess, Chancellor Adolf Hitler's deputy, after his arrival by plane in Scotland, and Charles Peake, formerly first secretary to the British embassy in Paris, today were named counselors to the British embassy in Washington, D. C.

Just before the war began Kirkpatrick was first secretary in the Berlin embassy. Last February he became foreign adviser to the British Broadcasting company.

Peake, now British diplomatic representative with the "Free French," accompanied Ambassador Viscount Halifax to the United States last year. He formerly was chief of the foreign office news department.

Austrians in Canada Ask to Join Anti-Axis Front

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 9 (AP).—Officials of a Free Austrian organization with headquarters here said today they had sent Secretary of State Cordell Hull a message expressing agreement with the principles of the 26 power anti-axis front and asking to be included. The message said "Austria's youth abroad is longing to fight the Germans, thereby preparing the way for the Austrians at home to join in the fight."

Hitler's Press Chief Admits Crisis, but Calls for Trust

BERNE, Switzerland, Jan. 9 (AP).—An article by Dr. Otto Dietrich, Adolf Hitler's personal press chief, in all German newspapers said today that "Germany's military operations have entered an extremely serious and indeed critical phase, but Hitler will know how to overcome this crisis."

POLAND TO TRIPLE STRENGTH OF ITS ARMY IN RUSSIA

Premier Asks That Allies Equip Six Divisions.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The Polish army in Russia will be increased from two to six divisions as the result of an agreement reached with Russian Premier Josef Stalin, Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorksi, premier of the Polish government in exile, disclosed today.

Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski.

Gen. Sikorski, who recently visited Russia and the near east, emphasized that he wanted to coöperate with Russia and said he hoped his pact with Stalin would be the basis for a lasting agreement.

Russia and Poland must live together, he said, indicating the Poles are ready to do their part, despite Russian provocations when Russia was a German ally.

Widely Scattered Prison Camps.

The seriousness of these provocations was demonstrated by Gen. Sikorski, who indicated on a map of Russia the location of prison camps to which Poles seized when Russia and Germany partitioned Poland had been sent. Some were in wildest Siberia, others were far above the Arctic circle, and many were scattered thruout southern Russia. Others, Gen. Sikorski said, have not yet been located.

Between 1,500,000 and 2 million Poles were deported, he said, and all now are being released as a result of his representations to Stalin.

Poles in arms on the Russian side, he said, are being uniformed by the British, but he emphasized that arms and equipment for the six divisions must be provided by the United States and Britain.

Troops Train in South.

The Polish troops are being moved to the south and are training and being equipped on the frontiers of Iran and Afghanistan, he added.

Gen. Sikorski said the Russians also had agreed to release 25,000 soldiers and 2,000 airmen for service in the middle east and that Britain will complete their organization.

The premier disclosed that he had seen William C. Bullitt, President Roosevelt's envoy to the near east, and said they had reached full agreement and were most optimistic about Russia.

He saw the possibility of the Germans suffering a major defeat in Russia by being thrown back to a line running from the Dnieper river in the south to Smolensk, about 210 miles west of Moscow, and north to the Luga river, west of Leningrad. He said the Russian advance should continue for at least three months, asserting the soviets had been generally undervalued as to their equipment and endurance in the field.

To the CUSTOMERS of THE PEOPLES GAS LIGHT AND COKE COMPANY

WE SEE NO OCCASION FOR ANY CUSTOMER OF THIS COMPANY TO BE DISTURBED IN REGARD TO HIS SUPPLY OF GAS

The sub-zero weather of the past few days increased the demand of our general customers for gas, naturally calling for a much heavier consumption than is the case under normal seasonal conditions.

The following numbers of customers purchase gas from this Company on a firm basis; that is, they are entitled to receive any volume of gas they may require at any time during the year, summer or winter.

818,000 domestic customers using gas for cooking, heating, refrigeration and water heating.

38,000 commercial customers, that is, hotels, restaurants, bakeries, small stores, etc.,

5,700 industrial customers,
or a total of 861,700 customers.

Not one customer out of the 861,700 failed to receive all the gas he desired unless some condition on the customer's own premises or adjacent thereto, over which the Company had no control, interfered with the delivery of gas.

The Company has ample facilities and supplies to serve customers buying gas on a firm basis, to the fullest extent of their requirements barring any major accident beyond its control.

In addition to our general customers, the Company has seven customers to whom it sells natural gas on what is known as an interruptible basis—that is, the customer can discontinue the use of such natural gas at any time he desires and the Company may likewise discontinue or curtail its deliveries at any time.

The Company makes this interruptible service available only to customers whose normal fuel requirements are met by some other fuel and who choose to interrupt the use of such fuel for the sake of the economy available to them when natural gas can be furnished.

There has been no interference with the production of any one of the seven customers as a result of any reduction in deliveries of natural gas to it.

We repeat, we can see no occasion for any customer of this Company to be disturbed in regard to his supply of gas.

WHAT WARTIME LONDON READS IN DAILY PAPER

Food, Clothing, Whisky, Stage Make News.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Reports taken from this evening's newspapers and the news services dealing with food, restaurant meals, clothing, billeting allowances, entertainment, the conscription of women, and labor problems provide the bag of mixed news to which the British public has become accustomed in wartime.

A new order by the food ministry prohibits retail sales of all canned fruit, tomatoes, and peas until further notice. Atop this, the Scottish Malt Distillers association, meeting in Elgin, Scotland, today, decided to recommend an increase of 50 per cent in the selling price of this year's whisky, owing to the shortage and the increased price of barley.

Restaurants Close Early.

Much space is given in the press to the difficulties in obtaining restaurant meals and the prospects of more severe rationing of clothing. According to this evening's Star, only about 1 person in 10 who applies can buy a meal in the West End after 9 p. m.

The shortage of restaurant help also causes rush hour congestion in the restaurants and cafés. In an effort to solve the problem, the London caterers are planning to open 100 self-service restaurants within the next three months.

Cuts in the civilian clothing ration, either by decreasing the number of coupons issued per person or by increasing the coupon values of the goods for sale, are regarded as certain when the present rationing program ends in May.

Public Is Warned.

Only yesterday Sir Thomas Barlow, director general of civilian clothing, warned the public that "it is no good pretending that the textile or clothing position is a pleasant one at present." Not only cotton from the far east, but also wool from Australia, will be affected by the war, either thru a stoppage of production or transport difficulties. The growing army needs and the shortage of labor in the Lancashire textile factories are other contributory causes for the clothing cuts.

To relieve the Lancashire labor problems, the government, it was announced, may draft some of the women conscripted for war service into the textile industries. The first women to be conscripted under the new act, it was announced tonight, will be those born in January, 1921, and December, 1920. The call is due to begin next week, it was stated.

Bonus from RAF.

In contrast to the general run of wartime news was a report that boarding house and hotel owners billeting members of the RAF in all parts of Britain will share in yearly bonus from the air ministry. After four months of negotations, the ministry, it was stated, agreed to increase the billeting allowance figures to about $6 a week the year around, against the present $5.15 in the winter and $4.55 in the summer.

Following the recent announcement that Deanna Durbin will visit Britain to give stage shows for the forces and that arrangements have been made for the British comedian, George Formby, to go to Canada next April on a tour, plans are now being drawn up here, it was stated, for a world theater.

SPY SAYS SPAIN AIDS NAZI PLOT IN LATIN AMERICA

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Jan. 9.—In a document in possession of the Mexican government, a secret agent of the Spanish government relates how he worked in the United States and Latin America in collaboration with Germans to prepare armed resistance to the United States thruout Latin America.

Complete plans have been made for a German attack on South America from Spanish colonies in Africa and from Spanish islands off Africa.

Organizations of Nationalist Spain in Latin America active in this scheme are the Falange [Spanish Fascist party], the Spanish military intelligence, and the Spanish colonies, who largely finance the work of Spanish Fascist organizations, according to his story. Fascist forces in Latin America have received arms from Spain and even from the United States, he says.

'V' ARMY TELLS 'QUISLING RATS': 'WE'LL GET YOU!'

LONDON, Jan. 10 [Saturday] (AP).—"Col. Britton," the radio voice of the anti-Nazi "V-for-Victory" campaign, broadcast to the European continent early today a new list of what he called "Quisling rats" and told them:

"One of these nights we may come across the sea for you."

First on his list he named Yves Paringaux, chief aid to the Vichy French interior minister, Pierre Pucheu. Paringaux, who was found beaten to death on a French railway line five days ago, "already has learned that treachery is not so profitable as he thought," said Britton, "and his master, Pucheu, is very frightened lest he suffer a similar fate."

"M. Pucheu, you are right to feel nervous; your name is high up on the list," Britton added.

Others named were M. Maneon, mayor of Paimpol in Brittany; Peter Knutzen, director general of the Danish state railways; Capt. Wodschou, Danish Nazi party leader, and Lensmann Hurlen of Volda, Norway. Hurlen, Britton said, had "distinguished himself by reporting to the Gestapo the escape of certain people to England."

BERMUDA LISTS DOCK LABOR IN FIRST WAR CALL

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 9.—It was officially announced today that the government has decided to ascertain the man power available for "carrying out essential war work" and plans to register men and women qualified to perform "certain special services."

"Because war needs demand that ships be loaded and unloaded with utmost speed," the statement added, "the government has found it necessary to require dockworkers to register immediately."

Every male British subject who worked as a dockworker in 1941 was ordered to sign up.

It is understood that doctors and nurses will be required to register next.

33 BRIDAL OUTFITS STOLEN.

Outfits for 33 brides and 40 bridesmaids and eight party dresses, all valued at $950, were stolen yesterday from an automobile at Liberty and Halsted streets. The theft was reported by Albert Ginsburg, salesman for a concern at 318 West Adams street.

It's His 45th

Gov. Dwight H. Green and his wife observed the governor's 45th birthday last night at a dinner with a few friends at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Today the governor will attend to some business in connection with the work of the state council of defense, after which he expects to return to Springfield.

ROYAL AIR FORCE FIELD "RAIDED" —BY FOUR BOYS

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The laxity of Britain's airdrome defense was emphasized today in a juvenile court when four boys were fined $2 each for stealing first aid kits from planes at a royal air force airfield which they had entered unobserved. The boys also damaged two planes as they climbed in and out of them.

The airdrome was the same from which two German airmen, who had escaped from a prison camp in November stole an RAF bomber and flew 200 miles before being forced down by lack of fuel. The field also was the scene of vandalism by seven boys last February. The boys set fire to a plane, burning it out. The air ministry is reported to have started an investigation of the latest case.

Discussing the lax defense scheme which allowed the four boys to "enter planes unobserved and damage them," the magistrate who fined them said, "It is a most serious state of affairs—something of national importance."

ECUADOR RUSHES U. S. OIL CAMP AID IN INDIAN ATTACK

QUITO, Ecuador, Jan. 9 (AP).—Guns and troops were sent by plane today to help defend the Shell oil camp near the town of Mera, in the wilderness 200 miles east of here, from attacks by 1,000 wild Jibaro Indians.

Word of the camp's plight was brought out by an oil company employé who flew here to get help. He said the Indians first attacked yesterday, killing three men, wounding several others, and doing some damage to oil installations.

There were reports that Indians also were attacking elsewhere in the same area, which is part of the territory Ecuador and Peru have been disputing.

YANKEE PLANES KNOCK AXIS OUT OF LIBYAN SKIES

Guard RAF as It Rips Foes' Supply Lines.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 9 (AP).—Guarded by American-built Kittyhawk fighters, royal air force bombers are dealing smashing blows to axis sea and land supply lines in the Mediterranean and North Africa, while British mobile columns are keeping Gen. Erwin Rommel's retreating forces under constant attack.

Outnumbered more than 5 to 1, the Kittyhawks were credited today with downing 7 axis planes and damaging others in their latest clash with more than 50 German and Italian craft in the area of Agedabia. These Curtiss models, an improvement over the famed Tomahawks, were manned by Australians.

General headquarters here announced that RAF bombers scored direct hits on coastal shipping bringing supplies from Tripoli, the chief axis North African port, to "beaches at various points on the Gulf of Sirte," as well as on transport columns on the coastal highway.

Axis Puts Up Stiff Fight.

Axis troops covering Rommel's withdrawal on the 70-mile stretch southwest from Agedabia to El Agheila, meanwhile, admittedly were putting up a stubborn fight. There were indications that the Nazi commander, his battered tank force perhaps strengthened by reënforcements from the west, might make a stand west of El Agheila.

[London military observers, on the other hand, thought Rommel probably would seek to fight a slow delaying action in the hope that constant axis air raids on the British base at Malta would smash its strength and thus crack the blockade of the axis supply lines from Italy. These sources saw Malta's fate perhaps decisive in the entire course of the winter's Mediterranean warfare. They stressed the importance of keeping its air fields intact to meet a likely aerial invasion.]

RAF Sets Ship Afire.

The RAF, elaborating on the general headquarters communique, located at least one of its bomber raids in the vicinity of Buerat El Hsun, approximately halfway between Tripoli and El Agheila, and said one ship was set afire.

Presence of the supply ships appeared to indicate Rommel might fight near El Agheila. The British apparently were trying an outflanking maneuver, for the headquarters communique spoke of British columns advancing "from the south," in addition to those pursuing the axis forces along the Agedabia-El Agheila road.

In the Halfaya [Hellfire] Pass area on the Egyptian border the British appeared to be employing the tactics which resulted in the capitulation of Bardia's holdout garrison—a joint bombardment by land artillery, naval guns, and RAF and "Free French" bombers. Today's communique was the first to mention the navy's participation in this action.

BRITISH CRUISER SUNK BY U-BOAT; CARRIED 450 MEN

U. S. Flyers Force Two Nazi Planes to Crash.

LONDON, Jan. 9 (AP).—The British cruiser Galatea, 5,220 tons, has been torpedoed and sunk by a U-boat, the admiralty announced tonight.

Melvin Potter.

The Galatea was one of two cruisers of the 5,220 ton Arethusa class and was completed in August, 1934. She carried a normal complement of 450 men.

Two German planes, tackled by two flyers of the American volunteer Eagle squadron, dived or crashed into the English channel today, the air ministry reported. One of them, a fighter, tried so hard to escape its attacker that it dived into the water without being hit.

Pilot Officer Eugene Melvin Potter, 21 years old, a native of St. Paul, whose father lives at Arlington Heights, Ill., and Robert Sommerville Sprague, 22, were en route home from a patrol over northern France when four German planes gave chase.

The Americans evaded the attackers, altho they were within a few feet of the water. One dragged a wingtip in the waves. Then the Americans took the initiative. After two Germans crashed, the others hurried back to France.

Bomb Nazi Base at Brest.

Numerous fires were left burning in the German-occupied naval base at Brest, France, after a strong RAF bombardment last night—the fourth consecutive night of attack on that uneasy haven of the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau.

British Using Captured Ship.

New York, Jan. 9 (AP).—Capture of the 6,288 ton German freighter Sturmfels by British warships in the Persian gulf was disclosed today by marine circles who said the British had renamed the vessel and were using her to carry supplies to Libya.

$100,000 Fire Sweeps Thru Ottawa, Ont., Business Area

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 9 (AP).—More than $100,000 damage was estimated to have been done by a fire which practically destroyed a business and apartment block near the downtown section early today. A fireman fell from a ladder and suffered back injuries and Fire Chief J. J. O'Kelly hurt his shoulder.

URGE STAGGERED WORK HOURS TO RELIEVE TRAFFIC

Transit Executives Meet with Aldermen.

Staggering of working hours so that Chicagoans will travel to and from their jobs at different times was offered yesterday as the most probable solution to the city's mass transportation problem—a problem certain to become more serious as tire rationing is reflected in fewer autos on the streets.

At a meeting of city council committees on traffic and transportation with representatives of the transportation systems, motor clubs, and Chicago Association of Commerce, called at the request of Mayor Kelly, several speakers advocated a rearrangement of working hours.

Peak Hours Are Problem.

B. J. Fallon, president of the Chicago Rapid Transit lines, said all the transportation systems have equipment enough for the mid-day hours, but that during the peak hours—7:30-9 a. m. and 5-6:30 p. m., the transportation problem is acute. New war plants will add to the jam, he said.

William R. McConchie, traffic engineer for the Chicago Surface lines, agreed with Fallon and said that if all the persons who have already stopped using their autos were to ride the street cars traffic on them would be doubled.

Example in Washington, D. C.

Benjamin Weintraub, president of the Chicago Motor Coach company, recommended staggering hours for industry, business, offices, and schools, and said a bad transportation problem in Washington, D. C., was relieved in this way. He said also that if all mass transportation methods could be speeded up even as little as 10 per cent, perhaps by cutting down the number of stops, this would be equivalent to adding 350 more vehicles.

His company has 35 new buses promised for delivery next month, but in the future bus deliveries will take at least 12 months, he said.

H. W. Rieger, executive secretary of the State Street council, said he favored staggered hours. A subcommittee was named to meet Tuesday with representatives of the transportation companies. It includes Ald. Francis Callahen [37th], chairman; William Cowhey [41st], Joseph Kacena Jr. [23d], Joseph Gillespie [29th], H. L. Brody [39th], Walter Orlikoski [35th], Harry Sain [27th], William Rowan [10th], Frank Keenan [49th], and John J. Duffy [19th].

Michael F. Mulcahy, local tire administrator, said last night that the eight tire rationing boards had issued 57 applications for tires and received 79 inquiries as to procedure during the day. Four certificates for five tires and two tubes were issued for passenger cars, and three certificates for six tires and three tubes for trucks.

WAR TO REDUCE STATE'S REVENUE 25 MILLION A YEAR

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9 (AP).—War rationing of automobiles and tires, administration leaders said today, may cut at least 25 million dollars from the state's revenue this year in gasoline and sales tax.

Finance Director George B. McKibben said a "very serious cut" is in prospect for motor fuel taxes and predicted a drastic reduction in allotments for highway building and improvements.

Nevertheless, he added, the state treasury "is in good fiscal shape" and there is little danger that the state's budget will be upset by the threatened reduction in taxes.

McKibbin saw no threat to payments on outstanding highway and relief bonds, which are paid from fuel tax collections.

The director said the state's general revenue fund has acquired a reserve of approximately 25 million dollars which will cushion any drastic financial blows to the state's corporate pocketbook.

Authority of 4 Bondsmen Revoked, Police Notified

Police Commissioner Allman yesterday notified district stations that the authority of four bondsmen had been revoked. He said he was informed of the action in a letter from Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of Municipal court. The bondsmen are Julius Benvenuti, Caesar J. Benvenuti, Joseph Arkin, and Irving Shraiberg.

HOW SENATORS VOTED ON FARM PRICE CONTROL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—Following is the vote by which the senate adopted today an amendment to the price control bill to give the secretary of agriculture a veto power over price ceilings on farm commodities:

FOR THE AMENDMENT—48.

DEMOCRATS—Bailey, Bankhead, Bilbo, Bulow, Bunker, Caraway, Clark [Idaho], Connally, Downey, Doxey, George, Hayden, Herring, Hill, Johnson [Colo.], Lee, McCarran, McFarland, McKellar, Murdock, Murray, O'Daniel, O'Mahoney, Overton, Rosier, Russell, Schwartz, Spencer, Thomas [Okla], Thomas [Utah], Van Nuys—31.

REPUBLICANS—Aiken, Brooks, Butler, Capper, Davis, Holman, Langer, McNary, Millikin, Nye, Reed, Shipstead, Thomas [Idaho], Tobey, Wiley, Willis—16.

PROGRESSIVE—La Follette—1.

AGAINST THE AMENDMENT—37.

DEMOCRATS—Barkley, Bone, Brown, Byrd, Chandler, Chavez, Clark [Mo.], Ellender, Gerry, Glass, Green, Guffey, Hughes, Kilgore, Lucas, Maloney, Maybank, Mead, Radcliffe, Reynolds, Truman, Tunnell, Tydings, Wagner, Wallgren, Walsh—26.

INDEPENDENT—Norris—1.

The following were announced as absent but favoring the amendment: Andrews, Stewart, Smathers, Wheeler, Smith, all Democrats.

TRUCKERS DENY U. S. HAS PLAN TO SEIZE VEHICLES

Government studies of the truck operating industry, mentioned in Washington dispatches yesterday, were explained by truck operators in Chicago last night as the direct opposite of a plan to commandeer the vehicles in the event of an emergency.

The survey was started last fall by the war department, acting thru state registration agencies. All truck operators were asked to list their vehicles, so that defense authorities might know where and what was available for use by the government "without commandeering."

One of the questions asked was "In case of an emergency would you hire or lease this vehicle to a federal agency?"

Most of the states, it was understood, still have collected only a small part of the information requested by the defense authorities.

LABOR INCLUDED ON BOARD RULING COMMUNICATIONS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 [Special].—Labor will be given a full place on the various committees of the defense communications board whose task is to plan the work of the nation's communications systems under war conditions, James L. Fly, DCB chairman, announced today.

As a result of a recent meeting with the labor advisory committee the DCB will invite representatives from labor to be members of seven committees handling the problems of aviation, cable, domestic broadcasting, international broadcasting, radio communications, telegraph, and telephone.

The board, Fly said, wants all the help it can get, whether from management or labor, and does not recognize any special group in developing the necessary program.

Assert Synthetic Plants Should Be Ready.

order, Henderson said that the conclusion that automobile production would have to stop was reluctantly reached by several government agencies a month ago when it became apparent that the wartime production of munitions and other supplies would require greater quantities of raw materials and more productive capacity than had first been estimated.

Feared Run on Dealers.

Asked why he had not given auto dealers advance warning of the impending freeze order, Henderson replied that to have done so would have defeated the very purpose of the order by causing a run on dealers' stocks with the result that the country would have been left without sufficient supplies of autos to meet its needs.

Henderson said his office's estimate of 450,000 new cars in dealers' stocks at the time the order went into effect was over optimistic and added that "there probably are no more than 300,000 cars in dealers' hands." He said this number, added to the 200,000 units the industry will be permitted to produce this month will make only half a million cars to be rationed among doctors, hospitals, police departments and other essential civilian needs.

Taft Challenges Legality.

Asked by Sen. Taft to justify the freezing order under the priority powers of the government, the witness said he thought that recent amendments to emergency powers granted such authority. He added that "anyway, no one has raised the question of the order's legality."

"I'm raising it right now," Senator Taft retorted. "I can see where you would have the right to say what persons were entitled to priorities to buy cars but I can't see any justification under the law for you to tell a business man that he can't sell his merchandise for a certain length of time."

"I've learned by experience not to argue legal points with you, senator," Henderson said, amid general laughter, "but I can assure you that our legal staff has passed upon the order."

Won't Talk of Used Cars.

Henderson refused to discuss the used car problem or to indicate in any way whether or not his office contemplated a freezing order on used cars.

Meantime, the Office of Production Management was expected to designate this week-end the personnel and functions of a joint labor-management advisory committee to assist in conversion of automobile plants into production solely of armaments. Between 5 and 6 billion dollars worth of arms are scheduled to be produced in the automobile factories this year.

Henderson assured the 44,000 motor dealers and their half a million employés that the administration is considering financial aid to those deprived of a livelihood by the elimination of new car sales for the duration of the war. He is preparing a ration order to be issued next week for the distribution of the new cars in dealers' hands and those still to be produced this month.

No Commandeering Now.

He announced at a press conference that many private car owners were volunteering to give their vehicles to the government. These offers were rejected, he said, because the administration doesn't plan to commandeer passenger cars. Last week, he mentioned commandeering as a "gloomy possibility for the future." The nation's truck owners, in a thoro survey, have been asked whether they would voluntarily part with thier machines at the government's request.

L. Glare Cargile, president of the National Automobile Dealers' association, appeared at the senate subcommittee conference with eight requests upon the government: [1] Permit delivery on all orders dated before Jan. 1; [2] if prices are fixed on the remaining new cars, that dealers receive handling and freight compensation; [3] same for used cars; [4] all cars and trucks, except those for military service, be purchased thru dealers; [5] the government pay full list prices; [6] the government pay dealers' insurance and storage costs; [7] the government pay retail prices on cars and trucks subject to rationing after July 1; [8] no restrictions be placed on sale of town cars, limousines, convertible coupes, convertible sedans and special trucks that government doesn't want.

OPM Issues Car, Rubber Orders.

Several orders were issued by the OPM during the day to facilitate this windup of America's automobile business. These included the following:

1. Purchases of new cars and trucks was permitted for the army, navy and several other governmental agencies and by prime contractors for the army and navy if the arms services certify the vehicles are necessary for defense construction.

2. Rubber was released to the motor companies for January passenger car and light truck production. This rubber is for such articles as fan belts and shock absorbers. The OPM had previously assured manufacturers they would receive tires and tubes for all cars they are permitted to build.

PICK RED CROSS TO HANDLE MAIL TO ENEMY, LANDS

Price Sets Up Rules to Guide Writers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—Byron Price, director of censorship, today laid down the regulations governing private letters mailed to foreign countries. The American Red Cross will handle all correspondence with enemy or enemy occupied areas.

An exception is letters to prisoners of war, which are to be handled under regulations to be established later.

Rules Listed in Brief.

The rules for correspondence mailed to foreign nations, except enemy territory, are:

"The name and full address of the sender must be placed both on the outside of the envelope and in the letter itself.

"Correspondence should be in English if possible; letters should be legible, clear, and brief. Avoid the use of abbreviations, nick names, phrases, or codes.

"If English is not used, the name of the language should be written in English on the face of the envelope.

"No mention should be made of defense matters, shipping, or weather conditions.

"Firms employed on munitions or other government work should not mention that fact in writing abroad.

Go-Betweens Barred.

"Firms and individuals should refuse to act as intermediaries or agents for the receipt and transmission of postal correspondence on behalf of persons in foreign countries.

"A member of the army corresponding with foreign countries will not give the name of his post, camp, or station, but should give as his address the army post office number of his unit in care of the postmaster at New York or San Francisco."

TIRE THEFT GANG AND 2 BUYERS OF LOOT SENTENCED

A gang of tire thieves and two men who bought their loot were sentenced to jail yesterday by Judge Jay Schiller in Municipal court. The judge told the defendants that in normal times they might have been placed on probation, but that now their crime was of greater seriousness.

Those sentenced are James Callo, 21 years old, 1125 South Wood street; John Modes, 17, of 2442 Harrison street, who got a year each in the county jail; Anthony Cinverella, 17, of 823 South Marshfield avenue, 90 days; Ralph Accidentale, 19, of 813 South Hermitage avenue, 60 days, and the receivers of the stolen property, Anthony Ranallo, 24, and Louis Guliano, 24, both of 918 South Hermitage avenue, who got three months each. Ranallo bought two stolen tires and tubes for $8 and Guliano bought three for $10. The tires had been stolen from a car owned by William A. Kearney, 343 Green Bay road.

LA GUARDIA PUT INTO ECLIPSE BY SHAKEUP OF OCD

J. M. Landis Named to Take Over Executive Duties.

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—James M. Landis, dean of the Harvard law school, today was named "executive" of the Office of Civilian Defense under a partial reorganization which put Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York City into eclipse as OCD director.

La Guardia has been under criticism for several weeks because he held the OCD job while maintaining his post as mayor. It was charged in congress that civilian defense was suffering because he was unable to give sufficient time to the OCD and in New York there were complaints he was failing to discharge his duties as mayor.

Move to Regain Rule Indicated.

Dissatisfaction with La Guardia's administration of the OCD brought a house vote yesterday to keep control of 100 million dollars of civilian defense funds out of his hands and gave control of the funds to Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson. It was said President Roosevelt issued the order appointing Landis in an effort to obtain congressional approval for returning the funds to OCD control.

The White House order was designed to save the face of La Guardia, who has a strong ally in Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, assistant director of OCD. The order said Landis will have the title of "executive" and that he and La Guardia would formulate the OCD policies in consultation.

It could not be learned whether Mrs. Roosevelt is to continue as assistant director of the unit.

Viewed as Full Time Job.

Landis, who was once chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission, announced in Boston he regarded his new post as a full time job and was leaving the Harvard law school to join the OCD at $10,000 a year. He said he will report for duty Monday morning in Washington and begin setting up the necessary organization to carry out OCD policies.

"I am delighted with the opportunity the President has given me to work with my old and cherished friend, Mayor La Guardia," Landis said. "My job is as described to carry into execution the policies of the OCD and see that they become effective."

Bridges Ruling Cited.

From Rep. Charles I. Faddis [D., Pa.], a ranking member of the house military committee, came the comment:

"I'm just wondering how much confidence the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars will have in a man who engineered the white washing of Harry Bridges," CIO labor leader who had been charged with communistic connections.

[Landis conducted the first of two deportation hearings given Bridges, a native of Australia, and recommended against the labor leader's deportation. The question presented was whether Bridges was a member of the communist party at the time the proceedings were instituted. Subsequent to the Landis decision a special examiner declared Bridges should be deported, but still later the board of immigration appeals reversed this decision, declaring Bridges since coming to the United States had not been a member of the communist party.]

"I still feel that it [civilian defense] is a military function," said Rep. Paul J. Kilday [D., Tex.].

La Guardia Tells Program.

La Guardia may continue membership on all federal boards on which OCD is represented and may continue to attend cabinet meetings. The mayor returned to Washington from New York this morning as the shakeup in the OCD was announced at the White House.

La Guardia said Landis will "take the details of office" off La Guardia's shoulders, enabling the latter to "devote more time to perfecting the organization thruout the county."

"Frankly," La Guardia said, "this plan meets the Washington situation because of the growth and the added activities of the Office of Civilian Defense, and will afford me more time in the field.

Capital observers predicted that La Guardia gradually will be pushed out of the OCD picture and Landis gradually will assume the full directorship.

A BRASS HAT'S DIG AT AMERICAN SEA DOG BOUNDS BACK

British General Advised to 'Give It a Rest.'

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 10 [Saturday].—Gen. Sir George Jeffreys, KCB, KCVO, CMB, Conservative member of parliament, who in the house of commons debate on Tuesday protested against British fighting men being put under the orders of foreigners, particularly "inexperienced" American admirals, was taken to task this morning by the Daily Express.

Advising the general to "give it a rest," the Express commented that he has "probably forgotten what the others of his rank were saying about the German army at the start of the war."

"The thing that would bring the Germans to defeat even faster than a shortage of oil, we were told, was the lack of experienced officers," the newspaper said. "Why, said the generals, hardly any of the Germans had served as brass hats in the last war. It was just that fact that made the Nazis so redoubtable."

Prints Sarcastic Report.

The Daily Mirror, under the heading, "Damme, Sir," and a photo of bemedalled Gen. Jeffreys, published a sarcastic report by its political correspondent. In it he stated that "the general made it clear that there are only two races in the world—British and the others—and the Americans are among the others."

"Jeffreys," the Mirror said, "heartily approved the appointment to the supreme command of Wavell [Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell]. He is British. But did the house realize that our sailors are now taking orders from an American?"

Then it quoted Jeffreys' own words: "I have a very poor opinion of American admirals, yet we expect our men to obey them."

Continuing, the correspondent wrote: "Greece? Well, what could you expect when the war office let the Greeks have the command? China? The general almost wept. What's the good of sending our fine weapons to the Chinese, who could not use them? You could almost hear the rattling of the general's medals when he demanded a pledge that wherever our men fight the supreme command must be British."

REFERRED TO HART.

The American to whom Gen. Jeffreys referred is Adm. Thomas C. Hart, who has been put in command of allied naval units in the southwestern Pacific. Jeffreys' decorations are KCB, knight commander of the bath; KCVO, knight commander of the royal Victorian order, and CMG, companion of the order of St. Michael and St. George.

PALMER MANSION TO BE CENTER OF RED CROSS WORK

The Potter Palmer residence at Lake Shore drive and Schiller street, the scene of many notable social events in former years, will become a Red Cross center, James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter, announced yesterday. Potter Palmer has donated its use for an indefinite period.

Mrs. James A. Cathcart, chairman of the volunteer special services committee, will appoint a committee to consider making the mansion a north side center for the volunteer production corps.

As general chairman of the war relief fund campaign, Mr. Forgan announced that requisitions for pledge cards indicated that more than one million Chicagoans will contribute to the present drive for funds. Nearly 750,000 pledge cards have been issued to business and industrial firms thruout the territory in the first week of the campaign.

ULSTER PREMIER IN LONDON; SEE U. S. CONNECTION

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Called hurriedly for consultations with British ministers, John M. Andrews, premier of Northern Ireland [Ulster], arrived here today but declined to make any statement.

Ulster's London office later revealed that Andrews "visited Whitehall [the British foreign office] in accordance with his practice of keeping in close touch with Northern Ireland's part in the war effort."

Andrews' visit caused renewed speculation regarding the possibility of the United States using Irish ports as naval bases.

U. S. TO ATTEMPT PRISONER TRADE WITH JAPANESE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—Sen. John Thomas [R., Idaho] said today Secretary of State Cordell Hull had informed him the state department would attempt to negotiate with Japan for the return of American citizens on the islands of Wake and Guam, now in enemy hands.

More than 600 Idaho residents were employed in defense work on the islands by the Morrison-Knudsen Construction company of Boise, and Thomas wrote Hull about their case.

"Arrangements are being made for the exchange of diplomatic missions," Hull wrote in reply. While an effort will be made to complete similar arrangements for the exchange of non-official Americans, no assurance can be given that it will be possible."

HEAVY INCOME TAXES PAID AT SOURCE LIKELY

Discuss Plans to Raise Billions Needed.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—Congressional leaders agreed after a conference with Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau today that a stiff income tax to be withheld at the source, together with drastic increases in existing corporate, excise and individual income tax rates, will be required to produce the additional revenue demanded by President Roosevelt in his 59 billion dollar budget for the next fiscal year.

Mr. Roosevelt requested the collection of 9 billion dollars in additional revenue during the fiscal year 1943, 7 billion dollars to come from new taxes and 2 billion from increases in the social security pay roll taxes.

Hit Collection Snag.

After the treasury conference today, Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the senate finance committee, revealed that it would be necessary to impose a total of 10 billion dollars in new taxes to collect 7 billion dollars in additional revenue during the next fiscal year, as provided by the President's budget. He explained that only part of the taxes on the incomes for the calendar year 1942 will be collected during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1943.

President Roosevelt's budget, however, is based upon actual collections of 7 billion dollars of new revenue during the next fiscal year. It was learned that Secretary Morgenthau directed the attention of the budget bureau to the fact that 7 billion dollars of new taxes would not produce 7 billion dollars during the first fiscal year and that the question thus raised was left unanswered.

The question is largely academic, according to congressional leaders, because there is little likelihood that congress will be able or willing to squeeze more than 7 billion dollars of new revenue from the pockets of the taxpayers.

Five Billion Boost Likely.

Many informed members expressed doubt that congress will add more than 5 billion dollars to the present tax load, which is estimated at 11 billion, 943 million dollars for the current fiscal year. The budget estimates that existing rates would bring in 16 billions, 487 million during the fiscal year 1943, and leave a deficit of 42 billion, 440 million dollars.

Altho Secretary Morgenthau did not commit himself to the so-called "withholding" tax at today's conference with congressional leaders, it was one of the many possibilities discussed.

Such a tax must be imposed, according to congressional leaders, if anything like the additional revenue demanded by the President is to be raised. Even a general manufacturers' excise or sales tax, which President Roosevelt opposes, would raise only 1½ billion dollars at 5 per cent, with food, clothing, and medicines exempted, according to expert estimates.

Gross Income Tax Proposed.

The experts estimated that a 5 per cent gross income tax, collected at the source, with no exemptions, would produce 3½ to 4 billion dollars. This is one of the plans under consideration, altho there has been no decision as to the rate that should be imposed.

Such a tax would be withheld by employers from the pay checks of employés. It would be withheld also from all dividend and interest checks and all other income payments at the source. There would be no exemptions.

A girl earning $15 a week would have 75 cents a week deducted from her pay check, while a man earning $1,000 a month would have $50 a month deducted. Taxes withheld at the source, however, would be deductible in computing net income for normal and surtax purposes the following year.

Another Collection Plan.

Another withholding tax plan that has received some consideration calls for a 15 per cent rate. Under this plan the personal exemptions of $750 a year for single and $1,500 a year for married persons would be allowed. Employers would take these exemptions into consideration when computing the tax liability of employés. This plan also calls for the elimination of the existing normal income tax of 4 per cent, but not the existing surtax rates. Experts estimate that it would produce about 5 billion dollars a year.

Altho Secretary Morgenthau did not suggest a general manufacturers' excise tax, the tentative schedules he offered for the purpose of exploration included drastic increases in existing miscellaneous excise taxes. These taxes, according to congressional sources, would put some manufacturers out of business. For example the tax on refrigerators would be increased from 10 per cent to 35 per cent.

Income Tax Boosts Studied.

Increases in the existing individual and corporation income tax rates also are under consideration. Under existing law the normal rate of net taxable income is 4 per cent and the surtax, on the same income, is graduated from 6 per cent on the first $2,000 to 77 per cent on all over $5,000,000. The normal corporation rate is 24 per cent.

Besides Chairman George, other congressional leaders at the treasury conference were Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee; Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], ranking minority member of the senate finance committee, and Rep. Allen T. Treadway [R., Mass.], ranking minority member of the ways and means committee. The bipartisan conferences are to be continued before a tax program is submitted to congress.

★ Friend of the Yanks ★

[The Friend of the Yanks department will attempt to answer draft and military service questions, both in the daily columns and personally if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the query.]

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

"What is the government doing with aliens from enemy countries adjudged too dangerous to be allowed to go free in the United States?"

This question, in a variety of forms, has been the subject of a dozen letters received by this department in the last few days. The following answer comes from the war department at Washington, D. C.

Power of Arrest Provided.

Under proclamations signed by President Roosevelt, the federal government now has the power summarily to arrest and detain any Japanese, German, or Italian above the age of 14 who is deemed dangerous to the public peace and safety of this nation by the attorney general or the secretary of war. The attorney general has jurisdiction over the continental United States, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin islands; the secretary of war over the various other possessions.

Already the federal bureau of investigation has rounded up several hundred such aliens. They now are being held in certain unnamed army camps, but three permanent internment camps are being built in the southwest for them and other such aliens. The first of these camps will be ready in the spring.

Aliens interned in these permanent camps will be housed in barracks similar to those provided for soldiers. They will be given the same clothing as that provided for soldiers, but dyed a different color and stripped of insignia. They will be fed the army's regular garrison ration, which is ample. They will be under constant guard by military police.

The procedure by which an alien enemy is interned follows:

After being taken into custody he appears before a civilian board, which hears the evidence. The aliens are permitted to testify if they so desire, and are permitted counsel and witnesses. After the hearing the board makes a recommendation on each case. It is upon this recommendation that the attorney general or the war department decides whether the alien should be released or interned.

QUESTIONS.

O. P. asks: "Can a soldier take out government life insurance at any time during his service, or must he do this within a certain time after he is enlisted?"

ANSWER: The application for government life insurance states that application for such insurance must be made within 120 days after entering the army. However, I understand that exceptions are being made in some instances for men over this time limit.

T. D. G. asks: "I have a four-tooth upper front bridge in my mouth, and only one tooth in my mouth without a filling. Will this keep me from being drafted or enlisting in the army?"

ANSWER: The examining physician of your local draft board or, in the event that you should desire to enlist, of the army recruiting station is the man to decide this question. He will determine whether you are fit or unfit for army service.

M. N. writes: "My son in the army writes to say that he now is a 'walkie-talkie' operator. What does he mean?"

ANSWER: In the army, a "walkie-talkie" is a light portable radio carried on a soldier's back by which remote units can maintain constant communication with other units and with their headquarters.

INDEPENDENT AIR ARM OPPOSED BY WAR DEPARTMENT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—The general staff has made it unmistakably plain to members of congress, Sen. Albert B. Chandler [D., Ky.] said today, that it is opposed to creation of a separate air force.

Moreover, Chandler told reporters, war department representatives have urged the senate military affairs committee to reverse a previous order for hearings this month on a proposal by Sen. Pat McCarran [D., Nev.] for the establishment of a department of aviation, which would have full charge of all wartime air activities.

Chandler said department representatives told him they believed this was no time for a discussion of the controversial issue in congress, adding that members of the general staff could not spare the time from their war duties which would be required for extensive hearings.

"I was one of those who urged that a hearing be held on the question, but with war on I believe we will have to bow to their judgment," Chandler said.

HOODLUM ASSAULTS GIRL.

Police last night sought a young hoodlum who assaulted Miss Eleanor Csarny, 19 years old, 5223 Hutchinson street, a clerk, as she walked in front of her home. Her lip was cut by a ring on her assailant's finger when he struck her in the face.

ACTS TO PERMIT PROBATIONERS TO ENLIST IN ARMY

Judge Dunne Calls Parley of Law Enforcers.

Chief Justice Robert Jerome Dunne of the Criminal court yesterday called a meeting of judges and law enforcement agencies on Jan. 20 to formulate a policy toward hundreds of first offenders and probationers who want to join the army. Under the present status a person convicted of a crime is not eligible for service.

In a letter setting the meeting for 2 o'clock on Jan. 20 in the Criminal court, the chief justice invited all county and municipal judges, State's Attorney Courtney, Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach, Rodney H. Brandon, state public welfare director; J. Albert Woll, United States attorney; Police Commissioner James P. Allman, Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Chicago Crime commission, and other enforcement officers. He urged that a uniform policy be adopted and suggested that an agency be organized to coöperate with the proper federal department.

20,000 Wardens to Be Elected.

Instructions for holding 20,000 elections next week to select civilian defense block wardens were mailed yesterday to temporary block organizers from headquarters of the Chicago Commission on National Defense.

Each family in a block is to be given one vote, and the organizers are to announce the time and place of the election.

"Each building, or in some cases a section of each building, will be asked to hold its own primary election to select a representative," the instructions said of densely populated blocks. "The representative will cast a designated vote of that particular section under the unit rule."

It also was held likely that in densely populated areas it might be necessary to have a building warden with a full complement of workers similar to those attached to the block wardens. Organizers in need of further instructions were urged to get in touch with their community chairmen.

Start Downstate Program.

Gov. Green, acting as head of the state council of defense with authority outside metropolitan Chicago, reorganized the civilian protection committee and put into effect a program for appointment of air raid wardens and observers in every Illinois community.

William F. Waugh of Chicago, former state commander of the American Legion, was appointed chairman of the civilian protection committee to succeed Rep. Bernice T. Van der Vries of Winnetka, who resigned. Homer G. Bradney, Jacksonville, was named vice chairman of the committee to have charge of the Springfield office.

Waugh called on American Legion members to take the lead in setting up the air raid warning and precautionary service. He and N. Curtis Cation, state Legion commander, sent letters to all Legion posts instructing them to appoint chief observers and air raid wardens in all communities.

Mayor Appeals to Editors.

Mayor Kelly met with 120 community and foreign newspaper editors at civilian defense headquarters, 23 North Wacker drive, and asked their coöperation in bringing about a successful civilian defense organization.

Chicago's first civilian defense ambulance, presented by the Midwest chapter of the British-American Ambulance service, will tour the loop next Monday. Mrs. Florence C. Barrete, director of the organization, said the organization's goal is to buy 300 ambulances for cities in most vulnerable positions. The program will cost $300,000, she said, and $60,000 has been raised.

BLAZE DESTROYS TWO BUILDINGS.

Brookfield, Mo., Jan. 9 (AP).—Two two-story buildings were destroyed by fire today in Brookfield's business district. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Granted a Divorce

Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch yesterday granted a divorce to Mrs. Gretchen Drown, 36 years old, of the Ambassador hotel, from Willard Drown Jr., sales manager for the Universal Oil Products company and a stepson of R. J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district. Mrs. Drown charged cruelty.

She testified that they were married March 21, 1936, and separated last Oct. 15, and that on the day of separation he threw a piece of soap which struck and blacked her eye. Then, she said, he urged her to go home to her people. Twice later she saw him, she said, and was slapped both times.

Attorney Benjamin B. Davis, representing Drown, and Thomas D. Healy, Mrs. Drown's counsel, announced that there had been a cash settlement of $5,000 and that she would get $300 monthly.

READY TO CUT 4 YEAR COURSE IN HIGH SCHOOL

Summer Sessions Would Speed Graduates.

If the war effort of the United States requires it, Chicago's high schools are prepared to graduate pupils in three years instead of four. This was announced last night by Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of Chicago schools.

"The machinery is already set up," he said. "Years ago we started to give boys and girls who were ambitious and in a hurry a chance to graduate in three years. To do it they have had to go to summer school as well as attend classes thru the regular school year.

"Hundreds of young people have been graduated under this system. This number can be greatly increased."

Plan Open to All.

Dr. Johnson said he believed all the city's high school pupils could attend the summer schools if they desired; that all the schools could be kept open if the attendance warranted.

He and the deans and assistant deans of the city's three junior colleges are to meet Tuesday to discuss ways to cut the time of the junior colleges' courses.

News dispatches from several cities indicated last night that educators generally were alert to the need of getting the youth ready for the armed services or war production by earlier graduation.

In New York an associate superintendent of schools, Frederic Ernst, said reorganization of high school courses would enable students to get thru in three and a half years. Some lowering of scholastic standards will be allowed, Ernst said.

Permit 5 Major Subjects.

Instead of being limited to four major subjects the New York youths will be permitted to take five if they can keep an average grade of 75. The present grade limit is 85. Courses in vocational work will be modified, with a view largely to preparing the students for work valuable to national defense. Special war work courses are to be offered for late afternoon and Saturday classes.

Superintendent Johnson said Chicago appeared to be much farther advanced with its program than New York.

It was announced last night in Atlanta, Ga., that high school and college students will be required under a war plan to go to school six days a week and forego summer vacations as a means of hastening the educational process.

Educators said the plan would be put in effect at once so that this year's seniors may be graduated May 1, at least a month earlier than usual. In the next academic year the graduation date will be in January, 1943, instead of June.

A Chicago institution of higher learning, the Illinois Institute of Technology, announced yesterday that by eliminating holidays, special weeks, and semester vacations, the graduating class will be thru May 14 instead of June 11.

At Berkeley, Cal., it was announced that all the 25,000 students of the University of California would be required after Jan. 19 to take some course related to the war effort. It was also made known that the board of regents is preparing to put the university on a 12 month basis, so graduates may be ready for service earlier.

BOY, 5, DIES WHEN HOME BURNS.

Howard Christensen, 5 years old, was suffocated yesterday when flames from an oil heater set afire the Christensen home at 607 Home avenue, Waukegan. No one else was at home when the fire occurred.

PLAN FEW DRAFT CLASS CHANGES, HERSHEY STATES

Warns Local Boards to Keep Old Rules.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, said today that he expected the nation's man power for military needs in the next several months to be taken from men between 21 and 37 years old, with those registering February 16 probably being put at the bottom of the draft lists.

Speaking at a National Press club luncheon, Hershey cautioned that local draft boards should not become hysterical or indiscriminately classify men for immediate service because the United States had entered the war.

He expressed the opinion draft boards would be more drastic in putting men in class 1A, but added present plans did not call for induction of men from other classifications unless they are reclassified as 1A. He said the time might be near when men classified as 1B, for slight physical defects, would be reclassified for active service.

Cautions About Classification.

Hershey cautioned local draft boards against throwing out of the window rules and regulations for classification of men which were adopted before this country went to war.

"We must still have deferments," he said. "It is not the purpose of selective service to disrupt the country's basic social unit, that is, the family. Our problem is how to permit individuals to stay on tasks which they can do better without setting up areas for evasion of military service."

The director said there is a real possibility of a labor shortage but it is not likely to occur in the next few months.

Decries High Pressure Recruiting.

He said he did not favor continuation of enlistments or "high pressure recruiting," but as a compromise would favor having local draft boards pass first upon those desiring to volunteer for military duty.

The army should not be overstocked with men who are temporarily unemployed, he said, and added that every effort should be made to determine whether a man's present employment is more essential to the victory program than military service.

Step Up Inductions.

Officials disclosed today that inductions into the army were being stepped up to double or triple the peacetime rate, and indications were that the immediate goal was a hard-hitting land force of four million men.

The army is accelerating the induction of present registrants, which include about 1,000,000 already classified as 1A, without waiting to draw from the 9,000,000 men between 20 and 44 inclusive who are expected to register Feb. 16.

Present strength has been placed at around 1,700,000 officers and men, and plans already under way would increase this to 2,000,000. Appropriations have been made to provide complete equipment for another million and critical equipment for a fourth million.

BATTLEY EXPLAINS STATEMENT.

Lieut. Col. Joseph F. Battley, chief of Undersecretary of War Patterson's liaison division, explained by phone from his Washington home last night that his Chicago remarks of Wednesday do not conflict with statements made in Washington yesterday by Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft chief.

The apparent conflicts between Battley's assertion that all the rules are out since the United States went to war, and Hershey's assertion that there must still be draft deferments and that every one won't be taken into service regardless of his job or his dependents, were explained by Col. Battley thus:

"I was speaking of occupational deferments to occupational advisers," he said. "The time when men were deferred because they are barbers or ballet dancers and because their loss might be a blow to the community is over. I was not talking of deferments because of dependents or minor physical ailments. The war comes before the community."

LAWMAKER RIPS 'OUTPOST' TALK IN BRITISH COMMONS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—Rep. Jennings Randolph [D., W. Va.] today took exception to remarks in the British house of commons yesterday expressing fear that Britain will become an American outpost in the war.

"I don't believe these statements are indicative of the real will of the British people," Randolph told the house of representatives. He referred to a statement by Laborite Richard Rapier Stokes, who said he hated to think of the military center of control "shifting to Washington" and that Britain might find herself reduced to the position of "America's Heligoland off the coast of Europe."

Randolph also referred to remarks by Edgar Louis Granville, Liberal, who said Britain might have to choose whether she shall be a "western outpost of totalitarian Europe or the eastern outpost of an American controlled civilization."

Australia to Put Third of Doctors in War Units

New York, Jan. 9 [Special].—The Australian army minister, Francis Forde, said today a third of Australia's physicians will be serving in the armed forces when the full mobilization plan for Australian military forces comes into operation, the Australian radio reported in a broadcast heard here today. Forde was quoted as saying that about 1,200 doctors were serving in the navy, the Australian imperial forces and the air force. He said another 1,200 would be needed for the army alone in Australia.

RAF FLYERS DROP U. S. LEAFLETS ON OCCUPIED FRANCE

American Help on Way, Message Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9. — The White House today announced that the United States has launched a propaganda offensive in Europe, with the help of the RAF, in which friends in conquered countries are to be heartened and the enemy frightened with word, "The Yanks are coming."

The first paper bombing was concentrated in occupied France. RAF pilots scattered 2,000,000 pamphlets calling upon the French to take heart because American help is on the way. Almost 1,380,000 pamphlets were dropped on Paris and the remainder over industrial Lille.

The pamphlets were labeled "U. S. leaflet No. 1," which indicated others are on the way. It is expected that some of the future releases will be dropped over Germany to inform the people of that nation of the mighty war effort this country is planning against the axis powers.

Announced by Early.

The propaganda bombardment was announced by White House Secretary Stephen T. Early in two terse sentences. They were:

"The royal air force has carried out its first mission for the United States. It was to distribute over occupied France 2,000,000 leaflets labeled 'U. S. leaflet No. 1.'"

Early said it could be assumed that other pamphlets will endeavor to cheer enslaved peoples of other occupied nations. In his message to congress this week President Roosevelt indicated that this government expects that the war against the axis powers will be aided by revolt of the citizens of occupied countries when they can get guns in their hands.

Pictures Statue of Liberty.

Early said that this first leaflet was decorated with a picture of the American flag in colors and of the statue of liberty, which was a gift from the French people to the American people.

Altho not making available text of the message contained, he said that the traditional French-American friendship was emphasized thruout. For those unhappy Frenchmen still living in the German-controled areas, the message offered them hope of united victory and their eventual liberation, he said.

"There was clear implication," Mr. Early added, "that a very different kind of message would be carried to the enemy in due time."

Extensive descriptive information of the magnitude of the American war effort was contained, with emphasis on the coördinated energies of the army, navy, industry, labor, and general citizenry.

Numerous quotations from addresses and declarations by President Roosevelt were given, with large extracts from a speech which Mr. Roosevelt made on May 20, 1934, in honor of the 100th anniversary of the death of Marquis de Lafayette.

TREASURE ISLAND LEASED BY NAVY AS REPAIR BASE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—The navy has leased Treasure Island, site of the Golden Gate exposition in San Francisco bay, for a base for fighting men and ships, it was learned today.

The island, reclaimed from the sea and estimated to have cost approximately 10 million dollars, has been turned over to the navy and work has started to make it a base for minor repairs to ships, refueling, for housing crews who will serve on ships being built in the San Francisco area, and for the organization of gun crews for armed merchantmen.

It was said the operations of Pan-American Air Lines, with its main Pacific terminal on the island, will not be hampered by the naval activity. The California legislature has been asked to transfer title of the island to the navy.

CLIPPERS GIVEN AUTHORITY TO STOP IN IRELAND

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 [Special].—The administration took steps to expedite passage of British and United States officials between this country and the United Kingdom today by authorizing Pan-American Airways Clippers to stop at Foynes, in southern Ireland.

British officials have been forced in recent months either to make the triangular trip by way of Lisbon or to travel in one of the bombers which fly directly from American factories to Britain.

The triangular trip via Lisbon has proved to be slow, and the problem of speeding up communications between the two countries was one of the topics of conversation between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Shown in California

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 9 [Special].—A butterfly which has female markings on one side of the body and male on the other has been added to exhibits in the California Academy of Sciences in Golden Gate park. The oddity is regarded as a trick of evolutionary processes and is known technically as a gonandromorph.

SOLDIERS TO GET CIVIL TRIAL ONLY IN MAJOR CASES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—Soldiers charged with civil offenses will be surrendered to civil authorities for trial only when the charge is extremely serious, the war department said today.

The announcement noted that it was department policy, under the articles of war, to decline in wartime any civil request for custody of men subject to military jurisdiction unless the offense was a felony which would disqualify the offender for military service.

Even in such cases the army will turn the offender over to civil authorities only when his commanding officer believes the available evidence is sufficient to establish a prima facie case.

Requests for civil custody of military personnel must be accompanied by copies of the charges or indictments, and summaries of the evidence on which they are based, the department said. In doubtful cases the commanding officer will forward the material to the war department for a decision.

THIRD OF FORCE QUELLS 2 FIRES BY 8 HOUR FIGHT

Nearly one-third of Chicago's fire fighting equipment and men worked for eight hours yesterday to put out two stubborn fires in the central southwest manufacturing district which caused a loss of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

One of the fires attacked the one and one-half story warehouse annex of the Herrmann Warehouse company, Inc., 3601 South Racine avenue. The annex is immediately south of the main building at 3623 Racine. The loss there was estimated at $225,000 by Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan.

The annex, was filled with meats, owned by the Loyal Packing company; baled cotton, matches, and about 30,000 gallons of paint in cans.

The other fire swept the second floor of the four story warehouse of the Twelfth Street store, at Halsted and Arthington streets, and did $30,000 damage. Solomon Erickson, 76 years old, 8511 South Bishop street, a watchman, was missing after the fire.

Patrolmen's Credit Union Assets Show Big Increase

The Chicago Patrolmen's Federal Credit union will hold its fourth annual meeting in the Central police building, 11th and State streets, Monday at 8 p. m., it was announced yesterday. Total assets of shareholders increased from $239,848 to $461,203 in 1941, according to Daniel M. Andrews, president.

CHICAGO NEARING HALF BILLION IN BOND PURCHASES

Pay Roll Deductions Help to Swell Total.

Chicago is marching toward the half billion dollar mark in purchase of defense bonds and stamps—and proposes to quicken its pace.

Purchases aggregated $448,223,957 Thursday night, the latest figure available, it was announced yesterday. This total includes $424,302,975 in bonds sold at the Federal Reserve bank, $23,812,569 in bonds and stamps at the postoffice, and $108,413 in bonds and stamps at Tribune Public Service offices.

Schools Map Campaign.

The board of education mapped plans yesterday to sell $5,000,000 worth of bonds and stamps in the city's 400 schools: 1—By sales to 18,000 teachers, estimated yield, $3,600,000. 2—Sale of 10 cent stamps each Friday to pupils, yield $40,000 weekly. 3—Sales in principals' offices to the general public, with members of Parent-Teacher associations and other organizations serving on sales committees.

James B. McCahey, board president, is chairman of the school system stamp committee.

Half a million employés of Chicago concerns are contributing a million dollars a week thru pay roll allotments for purchase of bonds and stamps, it was announced by Max Epstein, chairman of the industrial sales division of the treasury department's local defense savings staff.

Move to Push Sales.

This number, however, must be sharply increased, Epstein said, in response to a plea from Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

Officials met yesterday with 180 representatives of employers and mapped plans for voluntary pay roll deductions to buy bonds and stamps.

Here are two typical examples of plans to increase purchases: Employés of Maier & Co., meat packers have formed a series of stamp and bond buying clubs. Vincent Tracy, operator of the Stevens building restaurant, has presented employés with a stamp to start books.

Why Total Mounts.

These examples show why the total mounts:

Employés of the board of election commissioners sold $16,325 in bonds in two days.

The Societa Fior D'Italia purchased a $1,500 bond at a Tribune Public Service office.

Two unions entered the buying. The Web Pressmen's union purchased a $10,000 bond, the Fur and Leather Workers union, local No. 7, acquired one of $750 denomination.

The Chicago Stock exchange subscribed to its 1942 allotment of $50,000 in series G defense bonds, Arthur M. Betts, chairman of the board of governors, announced.

UNIONS PLEDGE 1,000 TRAINED NAVY RECRUITS

Chicago trade unions have organized a navy recruiting committee and pledged themselves to enlist 1,000 trained men in the mechanics division of the United States naval aviation service, Lieut. Carl G. Olson, senior officer of the naval flight selection board in Chicago, announced yesterday.

"It's time we began talking about offense instead of defense," Lieut. Olson said, "and we all know the best defense is a good offense.

"You men of Chicago's trades unions are making an invaluable contribution to our navy by launching this drive to recruit for the navy trained mechanics and artisans from your ranks."

Naval Enlistments Break Record After Jap Attack

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9.—The navy department today reported that all enlistment records were broken in the month following Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7. During the month 55,888 men enlisted in the navy and 18,000 men in the marine corps.

1942 Will Reward Fighters

AMERICA'S HELIGOLAND.

The debate in the house of commons on Thursday disclosed that at least a few of the members have discerned the place which the United States now occupies in the world. They told the same story which we attempted to tell a few days ago when we published a map of the world in color showing North America in the middle and England and Australia at the opposite ends. America, we said, is the strong bastion, guarded by the wide oceans. Britain and her principal colonies and dominions are the outposts.

European maps of the world generally show Europe at the center and the Pacific ocean at the open ends. Such maps were a fair representation of the political realities from the days of the explorers until our own generation, but a profound change has now occurred.

One member of parliament, Richard Stokes, a member of the Labor party, said he hated to think of the military center of control shifting to Washington. He said it gave him "a nasty feeling that we may find ourselves reduced to occupying the position of America's Heligoland off the coast of Europe."

Another member, Edward Louis Granville, a Liberal, said much the same thing in other words. He believed there was an eventual choice facing Britain—whether to become "a western outpost of totalitarian Europe or the eastern outpost of an American controled civilization."

Exactly so. The facts of geography are inexorable. Our defensive position is immensely stronger than Britain's and so, too, are our natural and man made resources. Britain formerly was mistress of the seas and, therefore, was the most powerful nation in the world. Her navy is no longer the conclusive weapon of war it formerly was, and her position, within 20 miles of the continent, makes her highly vulnerable to attack by any power possessed of a strong air force and bases along the western coast of Europe. It is doubtful if, unaided, she can defend herself. She cannot, unaided, defend her dominions and hold her colonies.

Except for what we may be able to do against the Japanese, Britain must lose her possessions in the western Pacific, including Australia. The Australians know this and are increasingly looking to us for salvation. The British might already have been successfully invaded except for American help, and such successes as the imperial forces have enjoyed in Africa owe much to the equipment which was sent to Egypt from this country.

Mr. Granville and Mr. Stokes apparently are not comforted by their reflections, but they deserve credit for the intelligence to recognize facts when they see them. If there is to be a partnership between the United States and Britain, we are, by every right, the controling partner. We can get along without them. They can't get along without us.

IT'S MEN WHO FIGHT.

Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear is becoming one of our favorite military authors. He has a facility for saying things that need to be said—in phrases that bite.

Witness his letter to the officers of the 2d army, warning them that equipment does not fight, but is only an instrument in the hands of men. With so much attention being given to the battle of production the civilian population also needs to be reminded that any weapon is only as good as the man who uses it.

"Man is the master machine in war," says Gen. Lear. "Equipment is not a substitute for character, spirit, dogged determination, dash, development of tactical skill, and the will to close with the enemy and destroy him."

Also, as the general says, there is no royal road to the development of these qualities. Before soldiers can make long marches day after day, carrying heavy packs, and go into battle at the end of the marches with physical stamina and the will to victory, they must make those marches scores of times on the training grounds.

Gen. Lear could have found no better text for his lesson than the exploits of the marines at Wake Island, a third account of which was made public simultaneously with his own remarks. If the marines are the best infantry the United States has today, as they may well be, it is largely because they have been less diluted with recruits than has the army. Courage alone was not enough to defend Wake as it was defended. That splendid action took training and discipline, qualities that come only the hard way on the drill field.

There has been a tendency thruout this war to criticize professional fighting men, military and naval, for failure to realize the power of new weapons and the effect of that power on their traditional methods of fighting. Much of that criticism is justified. This must not obscure the facts that men are still the most essential ingredient of warfare, that men do not change, and that in preparing them for battle it is the professional fighters who should shine, as many of them do.

Gen. Lear first received wide national notice thru the "yoo-hoo" incident, in what we may now look back on as the NYA days of the army. What the general says now is in the spirit of what he did then. He was about six months ahead of the procession.

PUBLIC HOUSING AT JOLIET.

When construction started on the ordnance plants near Joliet the Defense Homes corporation, a federal agency, also undertook the construction of 150 homes designed for employés in the plants.

The houses, of four and six rooms, are not pretentious if the total cost is given correctly at $750,000 for 150 houses, an average of $5,000 each. They are on an unpaved road, two miles from schools. The property is taxable and the residents are entitled to Joliet fire and police protection and school privileges.

Rents were first set at $69.50 a month for the six room and $56 for the four room house. When no tenants appeared rents were cut by $7. A $5,000 house can be bought under the FHA plan for about $41 a month, that sum including tax and insurance payments. The purchaser, of course, would have to make a $500 down payment, but he would be buying the place, not renting it.

Anyway, ordnance workers, earning an average of $37 a week, found the defense homes too rich for their purses. The Defense Homes corporation sent an examiner, H. B. Steele, to investigate. He comes forth with the novel recommendation that since lower rentals on privately owned houses in Joliet are what seem to be preventing the corporation from renting its houses, the thing to do is to have the private landlords raise their rents and quit competing so strenuously. City officials in Joliet dissent. They say private rentals in the city are already too high.

Just where this leaves a detached observer it is hard to say, but readers are warned not to apply themselves too strenuously to the problem lest they find themselves riding past the ordnance plants and thru a certain gate in Kankakee.

In no field has the New Deal been more fertile of expedients than in that of housing. We are still a long way from houses combining the low cost and high serviceability of such mass production products as the automobile, but government experimentation in the field has established that if that goal is ever reached it will be reached thru the experience and flexibility of private enterprise, not thru some plan launched in Washington. Joliet is just another straw on that stack of evidence.

SENSELESS HOARDING.

Sales of Chicago department stores for the week ended Jan. 3 were 24 per cent greater than in the same week last year. Business is being stimulated by the fear of shortages and higher prices and by the record distribution of salaries and wages which have not yet been affected by government plans to siphon off purchasing power.

To the back fence gossip about incipient shortages which produced runs on some kinds of goods in the last war there has been added the chatter of the radio commentators. One of the airways' babblers said last Sunday that the price of sugar was going up, and on Monday afternoon not a pound was to be had in one of Chicago's suburbs.

The day after an announcer had reported that the corset makers' supply of rubber might be cut off, the corset departments led all others in sales at leading stores. One lady, fearing that in a long war her true proportions would become known to the general public, was at a State street store as soon as it opened for business. She bought more than a hundred dollars' worth of foundation garments.

It would doubtless be futile to argue with the plump one who is hoarding corsets, but it may be worth while to point out that the sugar panic seems silly. The government's problem in recent years has been to keep the supply of sugar down, so that the planters in Cuba, Hawaii, the Philippines, and elsewhere could get a remunerative price for their product. Each producing area was given a quota and more than the quota could not be shipped to the United States except after paying a heavy penalty. Producers in the Americas and the West Indies in the past have been able to supply our needs and a large part of continental Europe's.

With the European market cut off, there must be more sugar in this hemisphere than we have any use for, despite the loss of our usual supply from the Philippines.

There has even been hoarding of flour altho we have such a large stock of wheat that our bread supply would not be deficient next year if every wheat farmer joined up with the marines to go Jap hunting.

PUBLIC AMBULANCES.

An expansion of County hospital and infirmary facilities has been recommended to the county board by Dr. Karl Meyer, medical director of the institutions. The practical consideration that the county budget is already $3,500,000 out of balance will undoubtedly oblige the commissioners to turn down the recommendations.

Dr. Meyer has, however, done a service by calling attention again to the almost total lack of public ambulances in Chicago. In this respect our city is half a century behind other metropolitan centers. A half dozen ambulances operated by the fire department are all we have.

People hurt on the streets of Chicago still ride to hospitals in taxicabs, police patrols, or on the improvised stretchers of the accident prevention squads. While first aid instruction of police has been somewhat improved, it falls far below the standards of trained ambulance crews. Some needless deaths occur each year because of unskilled handling of accident victims.

Except as highway police might use them in rural and suburban areas, the operating of ambulances is a city rather than a county function. From a practical standpoint, moreover, the city government conceivably can find the funds for such service, while the county is already overburdened beyond hope of regaining its solvency.

The cheapest and most efficient way to set up an ambulance service in Chicago would be to incorporate it in the fire department. The cars could be housed at fire stations and the drivers given lodging there and employed on the same double platoon system that the firemen work.

The ambulances must be spread over the city, not concentrated at the County hospital. The privately operated hospitals of Chicago would be glad to furnish medical attendants for them, but have always felt that it is not their function and is beyond their means to buy and operate the ambulances.

There is a fire station near almost every large hospital in the city. It would be a simple procedure for the ambulance operating out of a fire station to pick up an interne or resident physician at a nearby hospital whenever an accident call was received over the fire alarm system, and take the victim to whatever hospital the ambulance dispatcher at fire alarm headquarters designated.

SLOT MACHINES.

[Indianapolis News.]

The announcement that the federal collector of internal revenue will make public the record of tax payments made by slot machine owners presents some interesting possibilities. Indiana law forbids any type of slot machine that is operated on a basis of chance, whether it may pay winners in money or merchandise. Periodically a campaign against slot machines is undertaken in some parts of the state and state policemen have standing orders to confiscate these gambling devices whenever they are found. Recent rumors indicate that the machines are in operation again, where owners think it is safe to display them.

The federal government is not concerned with local or state law enforcement problems. Its only interest is in collecting the tax imposed on slot machines, whether they are legal or not. Operators know that if they get into trouble with the internal revenue department they may suffer severe penalties. So it is probable that they will pay the tax. After these transactions are completed and the record becomes public, Indiana law enforcement agencies can determine who owns the machines. If this evidence, taken from the federal files, is accepted by the courts it ought to be easy to convict every slot machine operator in Indiana.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

MR. PEPYS HAS A DULL WEEK.

10th Jan.—Now I come to the close of the first working week in the new year, which I have found a very thin time, and I agree with the young person who said to me with a groan, "Why do we have this kind of weather and a war, too?" Indeed, it was strange weather, with bright sunshine and moonshine to make things look pretty, while the cold pierced your bones, and the winds raved, and the snow got dusty.

There was nothing to do but go to the office and hurry home again. Even the bar at the club was empty of its champion sitters, who start preparing for dinner at 6 p. m. and end at 11 or 12, saying they have lost their appetites but want to sit a few more hours at a night club. So I had no fun at all except among my books, and began to wonder if the expression "total war" means total vacuum.

But I busied myself with odd jobs of neglected business, such as starting the Line Book for 1942, and cleaning out my filing cabinet, which was choked with ten years' deposits I never look at. I took material for a theatrical reference library to the archives on the 24th floor, and I kept the boys in the "morgue" on the jump filing things that may come in handy, and ran around asking, "Who wants a pictorial map of Chicago in 1836?" and found an editor who said he would have it framed for the newsroom. The fellow at the adjoining desk said, "Are you moving out?" and I told him, "No, digging in."

Now to buy a book to tell me what the income tax forms mean. I wonder can I charge off the cost of the book as a deduction?

DREAM RIVER.

(The Platte of Leelanau county, Mich.)

Petals of the wild-rose
Floating down the stream,
Floating as a child goes
Drifting in a dream,

Drifting with our rowboat,
Perfuming the oar,
Gliding to the slow note
Of thrushes from the shore:

This was in the warm days
Many years ago;
Now the bitter storm sways
Branches over snow,

Still the perfume lingers
In this winter room,
And I shall trail my fingers
Until the day of doom,

In that warm stream meandering
Between the banks of green,
When days were free for wandering
And you were summer's queen.

Tumbleweed.

A War-Winner: The Igloo House.

If you keep your eye peeled, either on the illustrated magazines or the landscape around defense [why not war?] industries, you will come across the latest wrinkle of domestic architecture—the Igloo or Melon House. They are said to grow like mushrooms in about seven hours.

Hubert G. Ripley, veteran architect and a bit of a satirist to boot, discusses the Igloo House in a recent bulletin of the Michigan Society of Architects, thus:

"Wallace Neff, famed Hollywood architect, designer of Pickfair, has taken the melon for his model. He probably got the idea at lunch when his spoon slipped on a half-honeydew and it flopped over on his plate. . . .

"In the Twin Igloo, a hexahedral balloon form was used to connect two spherical units. The illustration looks more like an enormous brassiere than a dwelling house."

COLD FOOT NOTES.

They're censoring the weather,
To mention it's taboo;
So please don't tell folks whether
It's cold enough for you.
The weather man's been seeking
To tell the news he knows,
But he's restrained from speaking
And limited to blows.
On pain of being censured
I simply have to tell,
This winter weather's—(censored)
And both my feet as well!

Uncle Louie.

I Saw America Wounded.

Grim lipped and silent, at bay behind her bulwarked shores, I saw her turn to forge an arsenal; I saw high chimneys flame unceasingly against the sky; night after night I saw the golden steel pour from her crucibles; day after day I heard her anvils ring; month after month I saw the tide of armaments increase;
And then, in God's good time, I heard her great command; I saw earth's greatest nation moving in its might, I saw her banners overspread the sea; in endless ranks, huge ships in battle line, the guns in monstrous rows, the cloud of fighters swarming overhead, the sleek black craft beneath, advancing proudly, moving steadily toward the west, resistless and overwhelming;
I saw the foe in craven flight; I saw the flag of freedom spread in peace in all the seven seas, and as the vision dimmed
I saw freemen upon their knees in thanks for liberty, loved more since lost awhile.

THE BUSY CHILD NEVER BECOMES A PROBLEM.

MOST of us remember childhood as an unusually happy period. We were busy, yes. In fact, the days were not long enough to accomplish all we had planned.

As lads, we went thru all the stages of the evolution of mankind. We dug caves, built houses in trees, turned naturalists until we knew every bird in the vicinity, gathered guns, molded bullets, and organized bands of brave frontiersmen to fight wild Indians.

Of course, we had things to do about the house. The woodbox had to be kept filled, the walks cleared of snow, and—when it came time to acquire a pony—the care of the animal was a personal responsibility. The coming of the Youth's Companion each week was looked forward to eagerly. There was a section devoted to woodcraft, another to nature study, while the tales of the Maine woods never lost their lure.

By and large, every youngster is a product of his environment. It is assumed that he has average intelligence and some one to go to with perplexing questions. Perhaps the relationship between parents and their progeny was closer years ago than it is today. Mother was the kindest person in the world, while father was looked upon as a wise and understanding governor.

After all, the general tone of the household is what counts. If it is permeated with calm and filled with even tempered people, the younger generation will not become lopsided. Victims of anxieties and complexes will not flourish in a home of happiness. But the woman who lavishes upon her daughter the most endearing terms one minute and slaps her the next is sure to encounter a bewildered child. Thus it is that a sense of insecurity ensues.

Just as dangerous a situation is presented by individuals who never allow their offspring to ask a myriad of questions; to speak when curiosity is aroused. Unfortunately, there may be a few who don't like the clatter of healthful play, and who hold their little ones in silent terror most of the time. Fear of punishment leads to deceit and evasion, particularly if the one who administers the discipline flies into a temper tantrum.

It should be clear that it is possible to develop neurotic tots in almost any badly managed family. The child and his parents are at cross purposes, and rows are frequent. In consequence, the youngster may become a bedwetter, assuming an attitude of indifference. The practice doesn't annoy him but—if it will bother father or mother—he is glad.

We can assist in such cases only by uncovering the basic conflict. Why the hostility? An investigation conducted calmly may disclose the reason. Many a boy or girl will create a disturbance merely to gain attention. Neglect is a form of starvation for companionship.

To be of help, the coöperation of parents must be obtained. In turn, they must agree that all faultfinding shall cease. The object is to correct past errors and not revive or nurse them. A remarkable change for the better will come if real affection is present.

There is no set formula about rearing children. But they must be convinced that they "belong" and that they are really wanted. In turn, they will yield loyalty, love, and obedience.

MANAGEMENT OF A FELON.

P. W. writes: What should be done for a felon?

REPLY.

The presence of a felon, or whitlow, means that bacteria have invaded the deeper tissues near the end of a finger. Sometimes the bone is involved. Prolonged soaking of the part in hot water usually precedes an incision for the release of pus.

A DEFICIENCY DISEASE.

K. L. P. writes: Is sprue incurable?

REPLY.

No. The malady will yield to skilled treatment—with a special diet and generous doses of calcium, liver, and all the vitamins. Occasionally anemia will need to be combated.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

LONELIEST BROTHER.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 31.—It has come to my knowledge that I have a brother known to the press as "the most lonesome soul east of the Mississippi." This is due to what this relation terms a definite shortage of mail. I wish to make it clear to you, your readers, and my brother that the circumstances are trivial compared with my own. He merely complains of a shortage of mail, while I find my quota consistently nothing. When I give that questioning look to the mail man, he often asks who I might know that can write.

Altho I am in the medical corps of the navy and find that writing letters on a heaving chest on a roaring sea is improbable, if not impossible, I have posted three letters in care of Davy Jones [by bottle]. Due possibly to the Christmas rush, or the survivors floating around because of torpedoed ships, my correspondence is probably swirling somewhere in the Atlantic. Let it be known, however, that they are on the way.

I have often heard it said that a sailor has a girl in every port, which necessarily means that he should never be lonely ashore. However, I hear that the girls in port are fast being monopolized by the United States army, which means that I am to become more lonesome as time goes on, if that is possible. My brother being far my superior in looks and conversation, I see no reason why he should be the lonesomest boy in the east. I shall certainly vie with him for the honors.

MY KINGDOM FOR A HORSE.

Glenview, Ill., Jan. 6.—The county board had a lot of nerve asking that horse racing be discontinued because of the slight war we are engaged in. Doesn't the board know that the purpose of horse racing is "to improve the breed," and that the Russians are still using cavalry horses? And also that the state cuts itself in for a slice of the betting "take." War or no war, there will be 165 days of racing next summer.

Millions of idle man hours can be utilized if the hours spent by thousands at the tracks were used in the war effort. Trains have to be kept running to the tracks; thousands of tons of hay, feed, etc., are used to keep the nags running. Printing, electric power, hundreds of employés, mutuel tickets, racing forms, programs, tout sheets, food, and items too numerous to mention are wasted to swell the money bags of the race track owners. And what about millions of gallons of gasoline, wear and tear on automobiles, wasting of tires, and rubber, and oil, just to take thousands to the race tracks? WARREN NORTHAM.

REQUISITIONING AUTOMOBILES.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—Instead of requisitioning private cars indiscriminately, as Mr. Henderson says may be necessary, why does not the government commandeer the automobiles of drunken and reckless drivers?

100 PER CENT AMERICAN.

MASTER ADAM, ESQ.

Chicago, Jan. 3.—I was interested in Alexander Prussing's letter today referring to the elimination of such titles as "mister" and "esquire." Here is what Benjamin Franklin had to say about "Titles—Meaningless or Otherwise":

"In old time it was no disrespect for men and women to be called by their own names. Adam was never called Master Adam; we never read of Noah Esquire, Lot Knight and Baronet, nor the Right Honorable Abraham, Viscount Mesopotamia, Baron of Canaan. No, no, they were plain men, honest country graziers, that took care of their families and their flocks. Moses was a great prophet and Aaron a priest of the Lord; but we never read of the Reverend Moses nor the Right Reverend Father in God, Aaron, by Divine Providence Lord Archbishop of Israel. Thou never sawest Madame Rebecca in the Bible, my Lady Rachel; nor Mary, though a princess of the blood, after the death of Joseph called the Princess Dowager of Nazareth. No, plain Rebecca, Rachel, Mary, or the Widow Mary, or the like. It was no incivility then to mention their naked names as they were expressed."

B. F. APPLECK.

ABOLISH AGRICULTURE DEPT.

Frankfort, Ind., Jan. 5.—A committee headed by Sen. Harry Byrd is now making a study to reduce nondefense expenditures. The first and best place to start is the department of agriculture, and suspend it for the duration of the war. Farmers do not want the department, and if we can be given the opportunity to show that we can do without it during wartime, I am sure that it can be suspended indefinitely.

Farmers should not be paid for being patriotic and that is what we are being forced to do under the AAA. We farmers do not want the department and will outpetition any measure to retain it. Let's put the personnel in the army and the money into defense.

OSCAR B. SMITH.

FROM THE RED CROSS.

Dowagiac, Mich., Jan. 5.—Thank you immensely for printing the Red Cross knitting instructions in last Sunday's paper. Such a service will not only be of invaluable aid to the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, but it enables small chapters such as ours is to get our work done faster and correctly, since our instructions do not come thru as quickly as those for the Chicago chapter.

MRS. R. I. CLARY, Chairman, Cass County Red Cross.

FILIPINOS DENOUNCE LAWLESSNESS.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—The Filipinos in Chicago and elsewhere are not in sympathy with the recent wave of unjustified violence against peaceful and friendly Japanese in our midst. They condemn this misguided revenge as dragging us down to a new low which the Japanese militarists, by similar acts, suddenly found themselves in.

It is the aim of the local Filipino leaders to assist our police department in the apprehension and conviction of these culprits. It is right that they must be brought before courts of justice if we are to retain the essence of the four freedoms to which our beloved President has rightfully dedicated our fortunes and our lives.

Let us keep our side in this fight clean and just. Democracy must represent Justice if it is at all worth the sacrifice of honest men and women. The killing of innocents is something which justice cannot condone.

NICOLAS T. RODRIGUEZ.

SAUCE FOR THE GANDER.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—In the hope of reviving, temporarily, the tired minds of ministers who have written to your column in objection to the anti-dry cartoon: Suppose we "nippers" were as anxious to reform as you ministers are and railroaded a bill thru congress forcing all of you to drink a quart of liquor daily? What would you think?

STERLING DAWSON.

PROPERTY TRANSFER.

Oak Park, Ill., Jan. 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband owned a small property in his name alone. About 10 months ago he made it in joint tenancy with me.

1. Will this transfer be legal if he should die now?

2. Would the property have to go thru probate?

3. They tell me that this transfer would be legal only after two years of date of record? A. H.

1. Yes, if the deeds were in proper form and properly executed.

2. See 1.

3. After two years the presumption that the transfer was made in contemplation of death would cease and consequently the transaction would be less likely to be subject to an inheritance tax, but this has nothing to do with the validity of the transaction. We are confident that you have misunderstood the advice that you received.

THE GUIDING STAR

TWO-WAY RADIO AUTHORIZED FOR SURFACE LINES

Equipment Will Be Used in Emergency Work.

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday authorized the Chicago Surface lines to spend $53,350 for a two-way radio system to direct the work of emergency crews and facilitate the clearing away of wreckage. The judge, who has jurisdiction over the street car and elevated lines reorganizations, acted on a petition presented by Attorney Jacob I. Grossman of the joint board of management of the surface lines.

The $53,350 will be expended as follows: 18 new passenger automobiles for traffic supervisors, $17,100; mobile radio units in the automobiles and in 14 electrical trucks and 17 wreck wagons, $22,210; fixed transmitter and receiving set, $5,170; antenna for fixed unit, $5,450, and associated equipment, $3,420. The fixed apparatus will be located in the surface lines offices in the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company building, 231 South La Salle street.

Sees Cut in Expenses.

Attorney Grossman explained that the radio system will be valuable in supervising the work of the emergency crews in unusual situations, help reduce operating expenses, increase the regularity of service, and will speed the clearing of traffic blockades.

Detroit was the first city to install such a sytem for street car lines and was followed by Brooklyn, N. Y.; Washington, D. C.; Cleveland, O.; St. Louis, Mo., and Spokane, Wash. The Chicago Surface lines applied to the Federal Communications commission for permission to use the radios, but no date has been set to begin operation.

Line to Sell Equipment.

Grossman said the money will be taken from the surface lines depreciation and reserve fund. To balance this withdrawal, the lines will sell 44 pieces of rolling stock and 350 car trucks [wheel sets].

Judge Igoe has fixed the valuation of the surface and elevated lines at $179,348,467 for reorganization purposes. Attorneys for the surface lines junior bondholders yesterday argued objections to this valuation, asserting their securities were not given proper consideration.

REPORT REVEALS TYPE OF POISON KILLING COUPLE

A toxicologist's report yesterday revealed that Nancy Wassman, divorcée, and Clair McArdle, St. Louis cement company executive, who were found dead Jan. 3 in the L'Aiglon restaurant, 22 East Ontario street, had swallowed more than 10 grains of a deadly poison.

The report was made by Dr. William D. McNally, coronor's toxicologist after an examination of the vital organs of the couple whose death was a climax to an illicit love affair between the divorcée and McArdle, a married man. Dr. McNally reported that he found 6.72 grains of poison in the body of McArdle, almost twice as much as was present in the woman. The poison was the same type as had been found earlier in the glasses from which the couple had drunk champagne with their pheasant dinner at the restaurant.

Charles Falkenberg of the coroner's office and police yesterday drilled into a deposit box in the Sheridan Beach hotel, 7301 Sheridan road, where Miss Wassman owned a beauty salon. The box contained $80 in $1 bills and a plate glass insurance policy for her shop.

HUFF AND PUFF DAY MARKED IN FURNITURE MART

Right in the middle of the annual show at the American Furniture Mart, 666 Lake Shore drive, and right in the middle of the noon lunch hour, all 18 elevators in the 31 story structure went haywire yesterday. Some 7,000 persons were in the building for the show, besides the hundreds who work there.

Tired exhibitors and buyers pounded the stairways until nearly 4 o'clock, when service was resumed after repairs to a transformer.

One of the casualties was Judge Leon Edelman of Municipal court, scheduled to give a radio talk on stern justice for auto thieves. Judge Edelman, who weighs 200 pounds and is 53 years old, puffed his way up to the 20th floor studios of WCFL and made his speech.

Electrical trouble also slowed up elevators and dimmed light yesterday in the Central police building, 11th and State streets. The trouble was repaired in about 45 minutes.

EX-POLICEMAN SEIZED IN THEFT OF CREDIT FUNDS

Former Policeman George J. Weber was brought back from Valparaiso, Ind., yesterday and jailed on charges of embezzlement of $5,000 from the Chicago Patrolmen's Federal Credit union, of which he was formerly vice president and assistant treasurer. He has been missing since shortly after the union's funds were found short in November. Weber was found hiding in a lakeside cottage near the Indiana city. He had been a policeman for 31 years. He was under $80,000 bond to the credit union.

Policeman Found Drinking in Tavern Is Suspended

Policeman Arthur Piper of the Austin station was suspended yesterday by Police Commissioner Allman pending a trial board hearing because he was found drinking in a tavern at 1843 Madison street Thursday night when he should have been on duty at the hockey game in the Chicago Stadium.

The Inquiring Camera Girl — BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION

WHERE ASKED.

Blum building, 624 South Michigan avenue.

THE ANSWERS.

I. J. Nussbaum, purchasing agent, 1020 North Kedzie avenue—The producers will feel sort of hard hit at first, and many of the consumers will be deprived of their means of livelihood, but there is a way out for them. The man who's really stuck is the dealer—big and little. He hasn't much hope of converting the business into something else.

Marian Stewart, paper cup saleswoman, 8118 Maryland avenue—Right now there will be many auto workers and employés of sales companies who will feel stranded temporarily, but if the time comes when driving a car will be a rare and expensive proposition the small truck lines and truck drivers will suffer.

Morton Hahn, printer's buyer, 1848 Humboldt boulevard—I feel capable of answering that question, because I just now finished reading an article in a Washington newspaper and agree with it 100 per cent. The 4 million auto workers and their cities will feel it first of all. They will be the direct sufferers—but for only a short time, I hope.

Josephine Dubin, secretary, 1455 North Oakley boulevard—There are just plenty of people and companies who are going to do a little suffering on account of it. And if it gets to the point where there won't be any cars, the suburbanites will feel the inconvenience most of all. Many of them depend on their cars for transportation.

Mrs. S. Burack, secretary, 5441 Kenmore avenue—As a physician's wife I'm included in the group who'll get priority orders, so it won't strike home on that score. But I think a huge number of people will be affected who, as yet, haven't taken it very seriously—those who depend so completely on delivery service.

Mrs. Lester Stone, housewife, 4811 North St. Louis avenue—There will probably be provisions made for many of the people who are directly affected by the ban, but I feel sorry for those individuals whose whole business is built around automobiles. It'll be a hardship and often impossible for them to use other forms of transportation.

COACH COMPANY CLOSES ITS CASE AT FARE HEARING

Attorneys for the Chicago Motor Coach company yesterday closed their case before the Illinois Commerce commission in the hearing in which the commission has ordered the company to show cause why it should not reduce its 10 cent fare. Lawyers for the commission and the city will begin cross-examination of company witnesses at 11 a. m. on Jan. 15.

The last exhibit introduced by Irvin Rooks, counsel for the company, was a report by George Keena, expert on used motor buses, who set the market value of the company's 508 buses at $5,152,343 as of last Oct. 10. Herbert Listman, vice president of the General Motors trucking division, said that government priorities are increasing prices for new and used buses and for operating parts.

The company contends that its properties are worth $10,000,000 and that its previous $450,000 annual earnings are decreasing. The city asserts that the properties are actually worth several million dollars less and that this should be a basis for rate reduction.

The hearing was before William E. Helander, assistant commissioner, and Howard West, an examiner for the commission.

TWO ARRESTED SEEKING SHORT CUT TO RICHES

Two young men, who said they wanted a short cut to riches, were seized by secret service agents yesterday and charged with violating the federal counterfeiting laws.

The two are Joseph Styga, alias Ryczek, of 1361 Potomac avenue, and Louis Brzuszcyk of 1341 Haddon avenue, both 17 years old. They were arrested in Styga's home while attempting to transfer the impression of a $5 bill to another piece of paper. They said they had written to a chemical company and had obtained chemicals to make the transfer.

Agents under Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, head of the secret service here, found a .38 caliber revolver and two tear gas guns in their possession. They were held to the grand jury in bonds of $1,000 by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

Philip Willkie Will Begin 4 Month Ensign's Course

LAUDED IN GIRL'S REJECTION NOTE, SUITOR ENDS LIFE

grabbed out to you for help. O, yes, I also was very much in love with you, but you got so you were like a lord and master to me. Yes, at times I was afraid of you—not the way you might think. I knew deep down inside sometime I would have to break loose. You didn't know all the people I went round with, because I was scared you wouldn't like them and tell me I couldn't go with them.

"Go with Some Other Girl."

"Bob, we are so different from each other. We could never hit it off now. You need to go with some girl who has the same fine ideas about life.

"Bob, I'm not in love with you any more.

"I haven't been sure for quite some time, but I am now. You aren't with me, either. I'm sure of that, just as I'm sure about myself. You have been hurt by me, just as I have by you. I have been hurt so bad that everything in me is dead. When you say something mean to me it doesn't even scratch the surface any more. I really and truly am sorry if I've insulted your friends. I didn't do it on purpose.

"There is no fight this time, is there? I wanted to tell you this when you would call, but I just couldn't do it that way. I can't see you or hear your voice. Maybe some time in years to come we will meet and see things in a different light.

"Swimming and dancing don't have much to do with this; not swimming any way. Dancing has very little to do with it, only that I did like it, but succeeded in forgetting it.

Explains About Boy Skaters.

"What used to get me mad was skating at 75th and the lake. Those fellows that I skated with were not my boy friends. They were friends that I've known ever since I have been in Chicago. But you would never understand anything like that. All you could ever imagine was that I had a crush on them and that was the reason I went there.

"There are some things I have been a sneak about, but I had to. It made me nervous to do it, too. Do you remember all those Christmas cards I mailed when we went to see Watson that day? With those cards was my blank as a war nurse. The training will take months if they take me.

"Mother started working for the army today—civil service, so if everything comes thru as I hope, everything will be different.

"Bob, I want you to answer this; just don't ignore it. You see I'll never forget you and I'm sure you won't forget me. We will always be friends. I know it. MARJORIE.

"P. S.—This letter is the only one I've ever written you that I'm asking you to destroy after you read it. Please do it for my sake—please."

Girl Under Physician's Care.

Late last night Miss Parsons was under a physician's care. An aunt, Mrs. Martha Jane Buck, with whom the girl, her brother and mother live, said that Marjorie and young Sorenson had seen each other about four nights ago. Attorney Miles G. Seeley as a friend of the family said that the two had visited together three or four times weekly and that, while they weren't engaged, they were "as near that as a couple of youngsters could be."

One of Marjorie's first requests, when told of her friend's death, was that all pictures of him be hidden.

VIENNA PRINCESS FACES DETENTION TILL END OF WAR

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 9 [Special].—Princess Stephanie Hohenlohe-Schillingsfurst, long credited with engaging in international intrigue, today faced interment for the duration of the war as a result of the local alien enemy hearing board's rejection of her appeal for freedom. A recommendation for her internment has been filed with Attorney General Francis Biddle.

Pending a ruling, the princess will remain in custody of the immigration service at Gloucester, N. J., where she has been held since Dec. 9. Federal operatives had trailed her across the country from San Francisco.

Now 45, the princess, born in Vienna, Austria, has had a colorful career since her marriage in 1914 to Prince François Hohenlohe-Waldenbourg-Schillingsfurst. The marriage was dissolved by divorce in 1920. She was reported to have engaged in numerous negotiations as a confidential agent, and in 1933 was accused in France of being a German spy.

Bowen of Herrin to Seek 25th District House Seat

GEORGE KLUPAR WILL BE NAMED AS RELIEF HEAD

Succeeds Leo Lyons, Leaving Feb. 1.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that he will name George J. Klupar acting commissioner of the Chicago Relief administration. Leo M. Lyons, who has been administrator since 1936, has notified the mayor that he is resigning Feb. 1 to accept the post of executive director of St. Luke's hospital.

Klupar the mayor said, was recommended for the post by Lyons. He has been Lyons' administrative assistant. Mayor Kelly said he will ask the city council to confirm the appointment.

Started as Clerk.

Klupar has been with the commission since 1933, when he started work as a clerk. In 1934 he was made manager of a district office and in 1935 was office organizer of the CRA in charge of all district office managers.

In 1937 Klupar was made director of the business service of the CRA and in 1941 named administrative assistant.

Klupar is 39 years old and was educated at Quigley seminary, West Point preparatory school at Baltimore, Md., and De Paul university. He was a member of the army air corps from 1921 to 1924. He lives with his wife and two children at 1646 North Merrimac avenue.

Lyons Praises Cooperation.

"The mayor and the city council should be commended for the manner in which they gave me a free hand in the administration of the relief problem in Chicago," Lyons said last night.

Lyons has not severed connections with the CRA, but will do so before Feb. 1, he said.

AMATEUR RADIO SETS SILENCED BY FEDERAL ORDER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—Immediate cessation of all amateur radio operation was ordered today by the Federal Communications commission. The commission, acting at the request of the Defense Communications board, explained that "national defense considerations require such complete cessation."

On Dec. 8 the commission suspended all amateur activities except those authorized by the Defense Communications board upon recommendation of federal, state, or local officials in connection with defense.

There are about 65,000 amateur radio operators in this country. Approximately 1,000 have been operating under special authorizations.

KROPP GETS COVETED NAVY FLAG

Every one of us at Kropp Forge is justly proud of the signal honor bestowed upon us by the United States Navy.

For our several years of conscientious effort, we have been awarded the navy ordnance flag and a simple, blue pennant upon which is a large white letter "E" that stands for Excellence.

Truly, we have ample cause to be proud for this award has been but rarely made to suppliers of materials that go into armaments.

Soon these pennants will be seen fluttering in the breeze on our plant flag pole to serve as a constant reminder not only of work well done but of the big job we have ahead.

PLENTY OF GAS AT PRESENT FOR CHICAGO HOMES

Supplies for Industries Also Are Ample.

Chicago housewives who were beginning to wonder yesterday if they would have to haul out their old coal stoves can go right on cooking with gas—at least temporarily.

"There is no shortage of gas at present, either for cooking or for industrial use," J. A. Cunningham, vice president of the People's Gas Light and Coke company, said.

Earlier in the day OPM in a statement from Washington had declared consumers of natural gas in Illinois and eight other midwest states would have to cut their gas consumption as much as possible to make gas available for war industries.

Shortage Is Serious.

The shortage of natural gas, the statement said, was serious in these areas, especially in the larger cities, including Chicago. OPM called on consumers to use gas appliances sparingly, to cut off heat in all empty rooms and to cut down on the use of gas ranges and water heaters.

Twenty executives of midwest natural gas companies met yesterday with officials of OPM at the Palmer House and adopted a flexible plan to meet any threatened shortages.

The gas executives agreed that as the war program is speeded up in industry the need for natural gas will increase, but now, they said, their companies can fill all present contracts. The shortage, if there is any, is potential, rather than immediate, the executives declared.

Survey to Be Made.

1. A canvass by each gas company of all industrial consumers who hold so-called "interruptable" contracts to determine whether, in the event of a shortage, these companies have on hand a sufficient supply of an alternate fuel. The "interruptable" contracts provide for the use of alternate fuel.

2. An educational program to be launched by the gas companies to teach the public and industry the need for voluntary conservation of gas.

Most of Winnetka's 2,800 families who were gasless during the subzero weather cooked at home last night for the first time in several days. Officials of the North Shore Gas company in the suburb promised yesterday that all of the 2,800 homes would have the gas turned on by today.

MOVES TO FREE 4 IN SPRINGFIELD HATCH ACT CASE

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9 [Special].—Lawrence V. Meloy, in charge of prosecutions, today moved to dismiss Hatch act charges against four state highway employés. Meloy made his motion on grounds of lack of evidence. Examiner James W. Erwin said the motion probably will be sustained.

Fourteen other defendants, charged with engaging in political activities while being paid in part by federal funds, admit political activity, but defense attorneys said they will call witnesses to establish the exact classification of the state workers.

The defense contention that the charges are inapplicable is made on the theory that the Hatch act does not apply to maintenance men, since federal funds are used only for new road construction.

The four against whom charges may be dropped are E. R. Clemmons, R. S. Cooke, L. J. Callamore, and T. H. F. Norris. All are in the Springfield district office of the highway department.

ENVOY ASSERTS DENMARK WILL BE FREE AGAIN

Denmark again will be free and work in harmony with the other Scandinavian countries when the allies have triumphed in the war, Henrik de Kauffmann, minister from Denmark to the United States, said here yesterday. He spoke before the Chicago chapter of the American-Scandinavian Foundation in the Arts club, 400 North Michigan avenue. When Germany invaded Denmark Mr. De Kauffmann announced in Washington that he was acting for an independent nation. He said yesterday that this is still his position. He was introduced by Reimund Baumann, consul general of Denmark in Chicago.

RODEO-CIRCUS ARRIVES JAN. 18 FOR 8 DAY STAY

Daredevils, champion cowboys, cowgirls, trick riders, and high divers will feature a combined rodeo, circus, and thrill show, starting an eight day stay Jan. 18 in the International amphitheater. Cowpunchers will compete for $10,000 in prize money in bronco riding, bull dogging, wild cow milking, and steer wrestling. Other acts include the famous Graham family of riders, Bee Kyle, high diver who leaps from a 90 foot platform into a flaming pool of oil, and Ted "Superman" Menches, who leaps a speeding auto over a bus.

Illinois, Indiana Groups to Get Safety Awards

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, announced yesterday that achievement certificates for safety effort will be awarded to civic groups in Illinois and Indiana. The certificates will be given to service clubs, chambers of commerce, and associations that devote at least two of its meetings during the year to safety and which obtain signatures of all members on "good driving" pledge cards.

Gin Wedding

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Margery McBeath Cooksey in court yesterday.

A round of night clubbing that ended in a forced gin wedding in Missouri the next day was described yesterday in Superior court before Judge Joseph Sabath by a bride of two months. She seeks to have the marriage annulled. Judge Sabath took the case under advisement after a denunciation of lax Missouri marriage laws.

The bride is Mrs. Margery McBeath Cooksey, 22 years old, who said she had known John Cooksey, 33, an engineer for the Pressed Steel Car company, for three months when she went out with him the night of Nov. 19, 1941. They visited the theater, she said, and a number of night clubs and finally, feeling the effects of liquor, she asked to be taken home.

She awoke about 8 a. m., she said, to find herself in an auto moving swiftly along the highway and to be told by Cooksey that they were on their way to Davenport, Ia., to get married. They were unable to get a license in Iowa, she said, and continued to a little town in Missouri, where a justice of the peace issued the license and married them.

Mrs. Cooksey, who lives at 8214 Laflin street, said Cooksey then drove her back to Chicago and kept her in a south side hotel for eight days, keeping her with him by threats of bodily injury to her or her family until she slipped away.

POLITICAL UNION OF DEMOCRACIES TERMED URGENT

Immediate political consolidation of the democracies was advocated yesterday by Dr. E. W. Balduf, national director of Federal Union, Inc., before the business and professional men's division of the local Federal Union council, at a luncheon at 185 North Wabash avenue.

Dr. Balduf said the inter-allied war council now being formed in Washington between the United States and Great Britain was a "stop-gap" measure, and an alliance without unified control.

Dr. Balduf envisioned the setting up of an intergovernmental congress, in which he said the United States would hold the balance of power since the nonself-governing units of the British empire would not be voting members.

Should this be brought about, "we could win the peace, as well as the war," he said.

DISMISS 9 MORE STATE WORKERS AS POLITICIANS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9 (AP).—The state civil service commission today announced the dismissal of nine more state hospital employés after hearings on charge of undue political activity. Five employés were ordered reinstated.

Those discharged were Fran James Hart, James Hall, John Daffara, and Elmer C. Clutter, all residents of Elgin and attendants at the Elgin State hospital, and David F. McGraw of Amboy, special laborer; Hattie L. Cleary of Dixon, attendant, and Harry Covert of Dixon, head farmer, the latter three employés of the Dixon State hospital.

Reinstated were Theodore Gaede and Ruth A. Kay of Elgin, attendants at the Elgin State hospital, and Esther J. Murray, Mary C. Turner, and Richard Hoban of Dixon, attendants and head farmer at the Dixon State hospital.

FOUND IN SNOW WITH HIS HANDS AND LEGS FROZEN

Henry Schmeiser, who has lived alone for years in a small cottage near Long Grove, four miles west of Lake Zurich, was in the hospital in Waukegan last night in serious condition with frozen hands and legs. He is 76 years old. Schmeiser was found near the door of a neighbor, Ralph Dickinson, about 1,000 feet from his own home, unconscious in the snow. Partially revived, he said he had fallen in his home and had crawled the distance in the 8 below zero weather to his neighbor's door. The Dickinson dog was responsible for his discovery.

Supper to Open Prints' Exhibit at Art Institute

BY JUDITH CASS.

LIMOUSINES will be drawing up before the Art Institute of Chicago long after the regular closing hour next Wednesday, for that evening is reserved for one of the institute's gala previews. When Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster heard that an exhibit of gifts made to the institute between 1921 and 1941 by the Print and Drawing club was due to open on Thursday, they made arrangements to entertain at a preview the night before. The Brewsters' guests will have the novel experience of having supper in gallery 12 of the institute's print department.

The supper will start at 10 o'clock. Among those invited are Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Marx, Robert J. Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, Miss Naomi Donnelley, Thomas E. Donnelley, Russell Tyson, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill II.

The Brewsters' supper is the first ever given at the institute to open such an exhibit. The 70 prints to be displayed cover a period ranging from the 15th century to the present. At the same time the institute will open a display of drawings by Gene Frances [Mrs. Francis McComas of California]. The exhibits will be open to the public from Thursday thru Feb. 15.

Capacity Crowd to Attend Mayfair Room's Opening.

Not even the proverbial shoehorn could help the managers of the Blackstone hotel to squeeze another guest into its new Mayfair room for tonight's opening. The room was designed to accommodate 200 guests, but reservations for the opening rolled in with such promptness that tonight's guest list will far exceed that number.

The white marble walls of the room have been paneled in rich plum brocade to match the plum carpeting. The décor is essentially modern, but the room has retained the Blackstone's aristocratic atmosphere as well as the original crystal chandeliers made in Paris years ago for the old Mayfair room. Sixteenth century murals carry out the chartreuse, plum, and white theme, and the windows are hung with striped chartreuse and white satin curtains. A widely known orchestra will play within the white plaster bandshell, and a noted chanteuse will be featured.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morris will have Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Priebe, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Emig as their guests tonight. Richard Hackett will entertain a group of friends, and so will the Abner Stillwells, Mrs. Jones Jarratt, Paul Chapman, the Roy Flannerys, Carleton Elmes, the Arthur Bamfords, Gilbert Keebler, and Mrs. Gordon Thorne.

Over 200 Reservations for Arts Club's Dinner.

More than 200 have made reservations for the Arts club's first Sunday dinner and program this year, to be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Following dinner Enya Gonzalez, Philippine soprano, will give her first Chicago recital.

Reservations have been made by Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Stock, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Durand Smith, Charles Kilgore, Miss Katherine Wolcott, John C. Donnelley, Mrs. Lee Buswell, Mrs. Hubert Burnham, Mme. Raymond Imbault-Huart, Mrs. Frank R. Fuller, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. Otho Ball, Mrs. Mellen C. Martin, and John Palmer, among others.

John R. Winterbotham, president of the Tavern club, will have the club's special guests—Vera Zorina, Mr. and Mrs. William Gaxton, Irene Bordoni, and Victor Moore—at his table tomorrow at a Tallyho breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Partridge have reservations for a party of 24, and also entertaining will be Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schwab and Lessing Rosenthal.

Frederick Marcus Farwell Wedding in South Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Albert Alling of Chicago are in New Orleans, La., today for the marriage of Miss Dorothy Charbonnet to Mrs. Alling's son, Frederick Marcus Farwell of New York and Chicago. The ceremony will take place in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dennison Rogers Charbonnet of New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin F. Selfridge of Winnetka will give a small tea tomorrow for their week-end guest, Dr. William E. Weld, president of Wells college. Dr. Weld is coming to Chicago in the interests of the college's 75th anniversary building fund, of which Mrs. Selfridge is area chairman. Girls interested in Wells are being invited to attend the tea with their parents.

The Cliff Dwellers will hear a program of Heniot Levy's compositions tonight. The composer will take part on the program, which will be preceded by refreshments from the punch bowl at 6:30 o'clock and by dinner at 7. Mr. and Mrs. Levy will be among the guests, and among those with parties will be R. Vale Faro, Charles S. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Percival H. Truman, Arthur Woltersdorf, Rossiter G. Cole, and Norman Parker.

Mrs. Smith Sends Copies of Her Book to Britain.

One hundred copies of "The House in a Tree" are en route to England, where the book's author, Fredrika Shumway Smith [Mrs. Solomon A. Smith], is sending them for distribution by the English Speaking union and the British War Relief, represented by Mrs. Julian Soames. Mrs. Smith's first book is a collection of juvenile verses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Conant Davis [Ruth Holmes] are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter on Wednesday in the Presbyterian hospital. The baby, who has been named Ann, is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zachary Taylor Davis and Dr. and Mrs. Edward M. Holmes. Her stepbrother and stepsister are Eric and Margot Lambart.

Becomes Bride in Home Ceremony

The former Miss Patricia Freer, who became the bride of John C. Cushing last night in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Freer of Hinsdale.

For her marriage last night to John C. Cushing, Miss Patricia Freer wore the old ivory satin and rosepointe lace wedding gown of her aunt, the late Mrs. Charles Howe. The ceremony took place at 8:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Freer of Hinsdale. With the heirloom gown the bride wore the pearls given to her by her grandmother, the late Mrs. Lemuel H. Greer. The bridal bouquet was of white camellias and orchids.

Mrs. Walter Briggs Jr. of Sandwich, Ill., who was married in the same gown that her sister wore last night, was matron or honor. Their younger sister, Sue, was maid of honor. Both attendants wore changeable blue paper taffeta gowns and carried violets and sweetheart roses.

Thomas Geraghty Jr. served as best man, and William Garvey Jr. and Edmund J. Doering II. ushered. Mr. Cushing, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal B. Cushing of Wheaton, will not take his bride on a wedding trip for the time being. Until he is called to service they will be at home on the near north side.

Women in War Work . . . . By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department will report on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women who wish to take part in these activities.]

Be patient. There is something you can do to help win the war, but it takes time to set up the organizations that will direct women's efforts, and it takes more time to register and classify every applicant. Consequently it may be days or weeks before each volunteer is assigned to the task for which she is best fitted. It isn't bad management that is making the war and relief organizations slow in functioning on the huge scale that is necessary, but the newness of our state of war.

This is the advice and information every woman in a key position with one of the organizations asks us to pass on to our readers. The response to this new department is so tremendous that the editor also must beg the indulgence of those who are asking for answers to their letters. It is heartening, however, and well worth many extra hours of labor, to see how splendidly women are coming to the fore in this critical time and how anxious they are to be of real use.

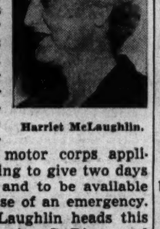
Many women have asked how to become blood donors to the army and navy. These volunteers should write to the blood plasma department, the Red Cross, 616 South Michigan avenue, Chicago, attention of Joseph H. King. It will be 10 days or two weeks before the Red Cross will start recruiting these donors, but registrations may be made by mail now.

Numerous others have inquired about becoming nurses' aids. These women, if they are between the ages of 18 and 50, with high school educations, may apply for training at room 306, the Red Cross headquarters. The aids serve without pay and each must give a minimum of 150 hours each year during the emergency. For women over 50 the Red Cross recommends sewing, knitting, making surgical dressings, and helping in the packing room at the headquarters. The surgical dressings production room at the South Michigan avenue headquarters is closed for alterations, so all production corps volunteers are asked to report to their neighborhood units or to the loop workroom at 115 North Wabash avenue.

Older women can work, too, at the Service Men's center, 176 West Washington street, as hostesses. Mrs. Sartelle Brooks is chairman of this service. Girls between 17 and 25 who wish to dance with the soldiers, sailors, and marines at the center should apply to Miss Kay Nelson, and trained recreational workers should register with Ralph Nelson, program director at the center.

At a meeting yesterday in the Hotel Sherman of the Cook County council of the American Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Joseph Bernhard, national defense chairman, asked for more volunteers to sell defense stamps. As fast as she has more saleswomen, additional booths will be opened. Next week the auxiliary will man a booth in the Palmer House instead of at the Stevens, where the booth is this week. The Legion auxiliary members also are selling stamps in the Illinois Central, Union, and North Shore stations, the city hall, and Sears-Roebuck's loop store.

There is no ambulance corps in the Red Cross, but there is a volunteer motor corps open to United States citizens between the ages of 20 and 50, who are licensed drivers. The members must supply their own automobiles and gasoline and pay for their insurance. Uniforms are obligatory and they are not sold at bargain prices! A motor corps applicant must be willing to give two days a week, at least, and to be available at all times in case of an emergency. Miss Harriet McLaughlin heads this service, but Mrs. Alan C. Dixon and Miss Marie Swift are serving for her now while Miss McLaughlin directs the women's division of the War Fund drive.



Harriet McLaughlin.

The new comfort kits that will be sent to sailors by Bundles for Blue-jackets are to be miniature ditty bags, 6 by 10 inches. They will be made of navy blue canvas with white lettering and drawstrings. Mrs. John P. Cohane, general chairman of the organization, reports that scarves are an urgent need of the sailors. The official size of a scarf is 11 by 48 inches, and it should be knitted of 2 ply navy Shetland wool. John T. Wheeler, a member of the men's committee, gave the furniture for the Bundles for Bluejackets headquarters at 333 North Michigan avenue, which is a beehive of industry these days. Volunteers to assist in this organization are needed and should apply at the headquarters, or by telephone, Franklin 7720.

Tuesday afternoon is the time set for the first of hundreds of applicants for reinstatement as registered nurses to take oral examinations. The Chicago office of the department of registration and education at 600 South Michigan avenue is the place. The reinstatement of these nurses is to replace those called for war duty.

Three hundred trained volunteers by June 1 is the goal of the woman's board of Travelers' Aid, which is starting to marshal a force of women to work in railroad terminals helping service men as they pass thru Chicago. Since last summer Travelers' Aid has had information booths for sevice men in the Union and La Salle street stations, and by May 1 similar booths will be placed in all Chicago stations.

The volunteers must be between 25 and 45 years old and have college degrees or specialized business training. Each volunteer will be asked to give at least seven hours a week, and each will be required to take a four day training course. The course will be held on Jan. 16, 17, 19, and 20.

Chicagoans interested in volunteering are asked to telephone Mrs. Anieta Tidball at the Travelers' Aid office, 608 South Dearborn street, Harrison 6563. During the summer the volunteer corps will take over the travel service duties, relieving the Travelers' Aid social workers for more stringent war duties.

Bernice Caldwell, chief stewardess for United Air Lines, recently knitted a sweater for an RAF pilot. Now all the stewardesses are doing it. Socks, sweaters, and scarves were packed off to England's recruits and now to Uncle Sam's service men. Since the war calls for more flying than ever, the hostesses have solved the problem of lapses in production by knitting in relays. A stewardess leaving for New York turns over her needles and yarn to another stewardess off duty and then picks up the work again on her return.

Bernice Caldwell.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ellsworth Osborne of Beverly Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Geneva, to John Stager Shirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Shirk of Lancaster, Pa. Miss Osborne is a junior at the University of Chicago. Her fiancé, a graduate of Mercersburg, Pa., and of Princeton university, at present is an aviation cadet in the United States naval reserve, taking his training at an air station.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bricher of St. Charles announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Jane, to Lyman Hamilton Grover of Evanston. Mr. Grover is the son of the late Mrs. Lyman H. Grover and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Wolfe of Evanston. Miss Bricher was graduated last year from the Northwestern university school of nursing. Her fiancé, who was graduated in June from Northwestern university, has enlisted in the United States navy air corps, and will go on duty within the next few weeks.

Auxiliary to Give Party.

A mothers and daughters party will be given by the A. L. Sachar auxiliary of B'nai B'rith lodge at 8 o'clock Monday night in the Hamilton hotel.

Good Morning!

We'll do something different this morning. We'll have a guest critic. He is Attorney John P. Snigg of Springfield—and he wrote me a letter—which is the criticism.

It arrived just after I had returned to the office from seeing "They Died With Their Boots On," and was mildly ranting about the picture's lack of direct approach and the way script writers have of making great men appear ridiculous . . . Errol Flynn, I thought, made a handsome Custer and at times looked the spit'n image of the fearless soldier as often pictured, and Olivia de Havilland was charming, tho a bit overweight, and there was some magnificent scenery well photographed. BUT—well—WAS it all history—and I didn't think so! Then came the mail and Mr. Snigg to the rescue. . . .

I may say that I indulged in a bit of research re his statements, and believe that the gentleman knows whereof he speaks. As his letter was not marked "confidential," I'm sure he won't mind its being used—and feel that both fans AND producers should find it interesting. Here it is:

"Dear Miss Tinée:

"Before you write your criticism of the picture, 'They Died With Their Boots On,' may I venture a few suggestions? This was an excellent horse opera, but rotten history. Unfortunately many people get their history from the movies, and for some of this there was no excuse. The real true life of George Armstrong Custer was so packed with thrills that they needed only to depict the truth to make it a real thriller. As it is, I think the picture should be renamed, and called 'They Massacred Custer Again.' Once on the Little Big Horn and once on the screen.

"Custer's people were poor; they certainly could not afford to fit him out in the light opera costume in which he appeared at West Point in the film. He knew Elizabeth Bacon back in Monroe, Mich., never met her at the Point. He certainly knew that the little girl in pigtails, swinging on the gate, was the daughter of Judge Bacon, for every one knew where the judge lived in that small town.

"Custer's drinking bout was pure unadulterated bunk. Elizabeth Bacon saw him intoxicated in Monroe once, reproved him for it, and he never drank again, certainly not during a campaign. They were married during the Civil war, not afterward. Custer was promoted from first lieutenant to brigadier general, not from second lieutenant. The most glaring historical error was the showing of doddering old Gen. Scott as being in command of the federal forces during the Gettysburg campaign.

"You will recall that shortly after the outbreak of hostilities Scott was replaced on account of advanced age. Jeb Stuart's forces were not engaged in the battle of Gettysburg. Mrs. Custer did not bid her husband farewell at Fort Lincoln, she rode out with him one day's journey, said goodby, and rode back with the paymaster after he paid the troops. About the only thing in the whole picture that was correct was the fact that Custer liked onions, horses, and dogs.

"The whole thought that runs thru the Little Big Horn campaign, that Custer was committing suicide in order to produce a dying declaration, is all out of line with the man's career and philosophy of life. Some years before he had said that with the 7th cavalry he could whip all the Indians on the plains. He believed that, and that took him to his glorious death.

"I still cling to the hope that directors, in producing a picture with a historic background, will make it, at least approximately, correct.

"Very truly yours,
"JOHN P. SNIGG."

Stage Notes

Two closings tonight end the local careers of a play and a musical. "Native Son" moves out of the Studebaker theater after a run of nine weeks, and "The Student Prince" leaves after a two and one-half week stay at the Grand Opera house. The Studebaker will be relighted on the 25th with a new musical comedy, "They Can't Get You Down," and the Grand on Monday night with the successful "Pal Joey."

Thora Clarke will be featured as Lady Isabel in a presentation of "East Lynne" by James Hargis Connelly at his Playshop in the Kimball building tomorrow night. The play will be repeated the following Saturday and Sunday nights.

Mark Reed's "Yes, My Darling Daughter" will be offered by the Institute players tonight, Sunday, and Monday at the Jewish People's institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard.

Lectures Today

Art.

The story is told of Duncan Hines, the gourmet whose books on food have made the nation conscious of every crossroads hamburger shack. He was invited to dinner at an enthusiast's house and of it is reported to have said, "If the oysters had been as cold as the soup, the soup as warm as the wine, the wine as old as the chicken and the chicken as young as the hostess, it would have been a good dinner." It reminds us of an interview we had with Mr. Hines when he was on the distant side of fame, his book, Adventures in Good Eating, just off the press. Asked what he could cook, he said modestly, "Just coffee, but it is an art." His wife then made some.

Brownlee Haydon, editor of the University of Chicago Round Table, just back from a brief trip to Canada, tells of the solicitude of the Canadian censors. A girl whose husband is with the Canadian forces in England received a batch of letters at once, all slashed to shreds, but the censor inserted helpful explanation. Where the date had been expurgated, he wrote beside the gaping strip, "Day." In other places he inserted a "the" or "and." But the most delicate addition came where the husband wrote he had seen a piece of Coalport [china] his wife might like. "I will send it if I can," he wrote. "Maybe I should send some to Mary." To this the censor added a comma and the word, "too."

Tusk, Tusk!

An item in the news that four tons of hide from Ringling's 11 poisoned elephants are being tanned into luggage elicits the comment from R. C. that since they made trunks out of the hides, it would be nice to know what they made from the trunks. More comment: "Will Ringling now pack a trunk or pachyderm?" and "This will give the elephants a new valise on life." We spare you the others.

Remembrance of Things Past.

Maps.

America's interest in a world beyond its confines, developed suddenly on Sunday, Dec. 7, has exhausted the map and globe supply of the nation. The full edition of the Hammond self-revising atlas, published Nov. 15, was sold out the first week after Pearl Harbor. By Christmas even the display maps from the office walls of Rand McNally had been removed and sold in that firm's biggest business since its 1864 founding. A normal 12 months' supply of a map of Oceania was sold in one day. Before the war had been under way a week, the United States Coast and Geodetic survey had to order all retailers to withdraw government maps of the Philippines from sale. The stated reason: to assure a supply for the defense forces.

Nodding Acquaintance with a Ledge.

A lady who says she inadvertently dropped asleep on West Madison street around 2 a. m. the other dawn asks our help. She says she removed her new teeth [$240], laid them on a building ledge and dozed briefly. Later she noticed an empty taste in her mouth, tried futilely to retrace her steps to the ledge. She writes in pathetic truth that they are of no use to the one who found them and make her much more attractive.

Comprehensible Confusion.

Feminine Touch.

The war has caused both Western Union and Postal Telegraph to use girls as messengers. We hasten to chronicle the vision of the glamorous, golden-haired Postal girl in blue uniform, skirt, and boots with a gardenia in her hair. "Is that real?" she was asked. "No," she came back quickly. "Blackout jewelry. It shines at night."

Ageless Argument.

Our Inquiring Camera Girl found herself unable, for obvious and politic reasons, to use the submitted question, "Do you think husbands should wash dishes or their wives?"

Wedding Soon

MISS BARBARA JANE FORD.

Miss Barbara Jane Ford's engagement to Waldso Rodman Turner has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallatin Ford of Chicago and Aurora, Ill. Ensign Turner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldso Turner of Detroit, Mich. The wedding is planned for Feb. 7 in Aurora. Miss Ford was graduated from Wellesley college and attended the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. Ensign Turner was graduated from Lehigh university.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

The women who forego the use of perfumed colognes in cold weather, substituting a lotion that is designed to combat dryness, usually bewail the lack of scent such preparations have. They'll be happy to know that manufacturers, the obliging little fellows, have their cases under consideration. One of them, as a matter of fact, has done a good job of making a lotion that combines the charms of a perfumed cologne and a dry skin soother.

This is a creamy kind of liquid achieved after considerable experimenting to get the two in one combination. It has all the refreshing tricks of eau de cologne, plus fragrance, and all the soothing tricks of a body lotion, minus stickiness.

It comes in three perfumes, all of them nice. One is apple blossom, which is enormously popular with women who like a light, airy scent that is cleanly sweet smelling. The others are gardenia and honeysuckle, both a trifle more languorous and both dear to the feminine heart.

And it's a most adequate skin softener and protective, we find. Good stuff to rub into the flaky, frozen skin these days of intense cold. Used consistently it helps to prevent chapping; used generously if you've been unfortunate enough to have your skin pretty well wrecked by the wind, it restores it to supple softness in double quick time.

Add to this the fact that it isn't an expensive product and you must agree with us that it's something of a find. ELEANOR NANGLE.

An Artist Tells Us a Way to Relax: Sketch!

Several hundred Chicagoans agree with Dudley Crafts Watson, membership lecturer at the Art Institute, that sketching is fun and relaxing—even for amateurs.

"If you learn to draw the human head and body, you can draw anything," Mr. Watson told the 100 women and a scattering of men who attended the open house session yesterday in Fullerton hall at the institute. "Our real problem is to teach you to see rather than to draw."

"This is called a class for novices, but 11 members exhibited last year," he encouraged. "The first time you'll be afraid to draw a straight line—which is really the hardest thing to do—and the third time youll be totally sunk. Then get mad. By the sixth session you'll be asking, 'What kind of a frame do you think would look best on this?'"

Mr. Watson started the sketching class for institute members 14 years ago. It was the first of its kind in the country and later he opened similar ones at Carnegie institute in Washington, D. C., and the Milwaukee institute. The class on Monday from 6 to 8 p. m. attracts from 300 to 400 persons, half of them men. More than 500 children from 4½ to 16 years old fill the scholarship sketch class on Saturday morning.

George Buehr, prominent Chicago artist, dropped in on the classes 12 years ago and soon became associate lecturer. He assumes complete charge now.

Most of the sketchers come for relaxation and take it up as a hobby. A few become professional. Yesterday two models, a boy and a girl, posed from 2 to 10 minutes in various positions during the two hour class. Recordings of classic and popular music helped to set the mood.

"Some work for 60 hours, some 600 hours, depending on their genius, before they achieve anything satisfying," said Mr. Watson. "But I believe with Mark Twain that genius is 20 per cent inspiration, 80 per cent perspiration. Invariably beginners make their figures exactly like their own, regardless of the shape of the model. Just proves that artists express themselves," he laughed.

As a special treat, Edmund Giesbert, portrait painter and instructor at the University of Chicago and the institute, demonstrated for the sketchers.

"With all due regard to the male sex, I always prefer a woman's figure," he said as he chose the girl model and proceeded with his sketch. "The most important thing you learn from sketching is to see the world in a big way. You actually see that if you add one thing to another, you cannot get the whole thing. You must get the whole thing first and then add the little things," he explained as he drew the figure in dramatic strokes and added the face and ballet costume.

Returning to the platform, Mr Watson remarked: "I was amused by the lady who turned her sketch of the ballet dancer into Mr. Giesbert. But I noticed she forgot to take off the skirt."

"It must be the romance in their hearts," observed Mr. Watson. "Or maybe it's the music. There's one in 2-4 time and there's another in 3-4 time."

"Pursuit of a Parcel"

By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull

INSTALMENT VI.

A PROMISE.

"Well, I thank you, Holt, for acting so forcefully," said Philip Merridew with ironic faintness to his clerk. Then, rather more strongly, "But the papers, man—the papers on my desk——"

"The papers in the Tweedle case, sir?"

"No, Holt—not the papers in the Tweedle case. The papers in the Tweedle case may go to blazes and burn there forever, for all I care. The papers on my table, man—the papers on my table!"

Emanuel concentrated earnestly.

"Well, the table itself was a good deal damaged, sir. You were, if I may say so, unconscious, and portions of the ceiling continued to fall. As soon as I had dragged you to the doorway—my daughter's friend has always assured us that a doorway was likely to afford some protection in case of a house being wrecked—I returned to the table and hastily gathered up everything I could see or reach. I must explain that the table was more or less submerged by rubble, and had also been, so to speak, telescoped by the force of the explosion. The contents of the drawers will, I trust, be mainly intact."

"What did you save, man—what did you save?"

"The Tweedle papers—"

"Blast the Tweedle papers! What else?"

"Well, sir, you must bear in mind that owing to the presence of such a large quantity of dust and rubble, my powers of selection were very much handicapped. Bits of the ceiling were coming down all the time, and wardens who had come to our assistance were shouting to me to come away. When I reached the street I found that I had unnecessarily burdened myself with your blotting pad, inkstand, and calendar. There was also the framed photograph of Miss Della—"

"Nothing else?" said Philip Merridew.

"There was a package done up in brown paper addressed to Antony Rossiter, Esq."

"Ah!" said Mr. Merridew. He seemed to relax, and closed his eyes.

Presently he opened them again. He was smiling a little.

"Rather a noble fellow, aren't you, Holt?"

"O, no, sir."

"I'm glad you saved Della's photograph," said Philip Merridew, still with that faint smile.

* * * * *

Emanuel Holt came home with a serious face. He was not as worried as he had been, on account of having seen Mr. Merridew and having received instructions from him which did in a way lift some part of the responsibility from his shoulders. And then Mr. Merridew had been so very kind—"Rather a noble fellow, aren't you, Holt?" Well, now, just think of Mr. Merridew saying that! It made you feel quite hot about the collar. But it would be something to tell Rosie. Rosie would be pleased.

The Holts lived in a street of small yellow brick houses which, for some reason long forgotten, had been called Adelaide terrace. It was not an old enough street to have been named after Queen Adelaide of dim but pious memory. Perhaps the builder's wife had been called Adelaide. Nobody knew, and certainly nobody cared. The houses were semidetached and all exactly alike. Two steps up to the door and you were in the hall, with the stairs going up in front of you. There were three floors, and two rooms on each—sitting room and kitchen on the ground floor, bedroom and lavatory up the stairs, and two attics above. The front rooms looked to the street, and the back rooms to a very small yard.

Emanuel hung up his hat and coat in the hall and went thru to the kitchen, where Mrs. Holt was frying herrings for tea. Twenty years they had been married, but he had never stopped having just that queer pleasurable feeling of anticipation as he walked down the passage and put out his hand to open the door. Perhaps it was because he was secretly a very romantic person. Perhaps it was because Rosie was so comfortable to come home to. Rain or shine, wet or dry, up or down, there she always was when he came home, and if things hadn't gone just right—well, Rosie was comfortable. There was no other word for it.

He opened the door, and there she was, firm and comely, with an apron over her dark red dress, and her cheeks as red as the stuff. Twenty years ago Rosie Adams had been a village beauty—cheeks like apple blossoms, hair and eyes as black as sloes, and a waist as slim as you please. The hair and the eyes were as black as ever, but the apple blow pink was now apple red, and the waist no longer slim.

She turned round with the frying pan in her hand.

"You're early, ducks." And then, as he came over and kissed her, "Cold, too, aren't you? More like January than October. We won't wait for Doris—I can keep her's hot. You just sit right down and have your tea."

"I didn't feel it till I came in here." He pulled a chair to the warmth and sat down.

Mrs. Holt began to make the tea. With the kettle in her hand, she said: "Did you see him?"

"Yes, I saw him."

"Well, that's something. Did they say how he was at all?"

"I'm afraid he's very bad," said Emanuel slowly.

Mrs. Holt set the teapot and a dish of herrings on the table and sat down.

"Pull up your chair, ducks. You'll feel better when you've got some tea inside you. If he was all that bad, they wouldn't have let you in to see him."

Emanuel pulled in his chair.

"I don't know, Rosie—they might. You see, they might think it didn't matter. And they told me I mustn't stay. I think really they only let me in because he was going on so, and they thought perhaps it would quiet him down. They as good as told me that—said I was to tell him everything was all right and not to worry, and then come away quick.

"But I said to them, 'If you'd worked for Mr. Merridew for 20 years like I have, you'd know better than to think he'd be put off that way. He'll be satisfied with the truth and not one word short of it, and if he isn't satisfied he won't rest.' And I didn't like to ask them what they thought of him, but I got hold of the nurse when I was coming out, and from what she said I'm afraid he's very bad, but she did allow that there was always a chance."

"And so there is," said Mrs. Holt briskly, "and Mr. Merridew's the last one not to take it. And did you get all the business off your mind?"

"Well, I did and I didn't. It's a great responsibility, you know, and all come at once. Mr. Girding taken with a stroke last month—and of course you may say he's been nothing but a figurehead for years, but as long as he was on view, well, there he was, and I shouldn't have felt quite so responsible. But there—he's out of it. And now Peterson and Mr. Merridew as well."

Mrs. Holt poured out his tea, put in a lump of sugar, and pushed it over to him.

"Well, you've seen Mr. Merridew, ducks."

"Yes."

He began to tell her about seeing Mr. Merridew. He always told Rosie everything, and she always listened in the same comfortable way, not saying very much, but if there was anything unpleasant, she'd somehow take the edge off it, and if there was anything pleasant, it seemed to get pleasanter as he told it.

The telling took quite a time, because he had to attend to the herrings. Herringbones require a good deal of attention. When he came to telling her how Mr. Merridew had said, "You're rather a noble fellow," she got up and gave him a hug, and he very nearly choked.

"And so you are, ducks!"

"O, no—" he choked again. "I'm not. I didn't do anything at all—it was just his kindness."

He drank, and mopped his eyes.

"Well, there's one thing I'm glad about. Those papers in the Tweedle case—you know the state they're in—well, he didn't care about them a bit. 'Blast the Tweedle papers!'—that's what he said, and a great relief it was to me to hear him. No, the thing he was in a taking about was that parcel for Mr. Rossiter. It's something special, it seems, and it's to be given him by hand—and the trouble is nobody seems to know quite where he is."

Mrs. Holt poised a piece of herring midway to her mouth.

"Not Mr. Merridew?"

"Well, it seems not."

"Not Miss Delia? O, come, ducks—you'll find Miss Delia will know where he is."

Tuna a la king in noodle ring is good. That's what the recipe contest judges decided after trying this recipe sent in by Mrs. J. H. Crichton, 816 Simpson street, Evanston.

[Serves Six to Eight.]

1 9-ounce can tuna, flaked
1 can celery soup
1 cup milk
1 small can button mushrooms
1 tablespoon minced pimiento
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
1 tablespoon butter or other fat
Salt, pepper

Heat tuna in butter or oil. Add concentrated soup thinned with milk. Add other ingredients and heat. Pour into noodle ring.

Noodle Ring: Cook 1 pound noodles and drain. Add 1 cup grated cheese, ½ cup milk, 1 beaten egg, ½ tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, and salt and pepper to taste. Fill greased ring mold, place in a pan of hot water, and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for half an hour. Unmold.

So good that you want to sit down and eat it right out of the bowl is the honorable mention sour cream horseradish sauce. Viola Ebinger, 3547 Adams street, Chicago, sent it in.

Sour Cream Horseradish Sauce.

1 cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
¼ cup prepared horseradish
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Blend ingredients in order given. Chill thoroly and serve as relish with meats.

Mrs. G. W. Pagel, 31 Carpenter street, Fond du Lac, Wis., wins an honorable mention for her Potatoes Supreme which she serves for church luncheons and suppers. These potatoes are more satisfactory than scalloped potatoes for such affairs, she thinks, particularly because they save oven space for other foods. They may be kept hot for several hours with no loss of flavor.

Potatoes Supreme.
[Serves eight.]

¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
¾ cup celery
2 tablespoons finely cut onion
½ cup cream
1 cup milk
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
5 cups sliced cold boiled potatoes [cooked in jackets]

Melt butter in a heavy saucepan, add flour [cooking editor's note: We like a little less flour—¼ cup], celery cut into small pieces, and onion. Cook 1 minute. Add cream, milk, and seasonings. Cook 2 minutes longer. Add potatoes and heat thoroly.

Rena Shugert Taylor of 304 Wayne street, Dowagiac, Mich., is another honorable mention cook. This is her sweet salad dressing which she uses on fruit combinations.

Sweet Salad Dressing.

Yolks of 4 eggs
1 cup confectioners' sugar
½ teaspoon salt
Juice of 2 lemons

Beat egg yolks until very light, then gradually beat in sugar. Add salt. Beat until sugar is thoroly dissolved. Then add juice of lemons. Keep in a cool place.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Jo Ann Kucera, 952 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, Ill., wins the $5 prize today for a favorite recipe. Her method of flattering a couple of cans of baked beans into "a magnificent dish" is a practical idea for any cook who has to prepare a meal in a hurry.

Send your own favorite recipe to Recipe Contest, Chicago Tribune, and let us consider it for a prize.

Apple and Bacon Baked Beans.

2 cans baked beans
1 apple, grated
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 2-inch piece salt pork
4 slices bacon, cooked

Pour contents of one can of baked beans into bean pot or baking dish, sprinkle with half the grated apple and half of the butter and brown sugar, which have been mixed together. Repeat this process with the remaining beans. Bury salt pork in the beans and crumble cooked bacon over all. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 minutes.

College Club to Entertain Mrs. Flora W. Seymour

The Chicago College club will entertain at dinner tonight for Mrs. Flora Warren Seymour. After dinner Mrs. Seymour will speak on "The Indian Agents of the Old Frontier," which is the title of her 13th book, recently published. Mr. and Mrs. William R. T. Ewen Jr., Miss Ethel Preston, and Miss Elsie Schobinger will be host and hostesses.

Flattering Winter Frock

MISS' LONG TORSO DRESS.

Fall fashions proved the flattery of the long torso design, so this early winter model does the fashion in a new way. Beautifully simple for all informal social occasions, and equally suitable for office and school wear, this Puritan-plain dress in either crêpe or woolen is one you'll like.

Style No. 3256 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material for collarless version; 3½ yards of 39 inch with ¼ yard of contrasting for collar.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY.

Association of Ideas Test.

A long established bank gives an employment test to women applicants for clerical jobs to determine their quickness and accuracy in associating ideas. The test is similar to the one appearing below. The two columns contain contradictory statements. Can you match them up, write the corresponding numbers in the second column . . . and do it in three minutes?

| | |
|---|---|
| [1] One good turn deserves another. | [ ] A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. |
| [2] Too many cooks spoil the broth. | [ ] Virtue is its own reward. |
| [3] Quick as a wink. | [ ] Love is blind. |
| [4] Nothing ventured nothing gained. | [ ] Birds of a feather flock together. |
| [5] Out of sight out of mind. | [ ] Slower than molasses in January. |
| [6] He who hesitates is lost. | [ ] Knowledge is power. |
| [7] Opposites attract. | [ ] All or nothing. |
| [8] Ignorance is bliss. | [ ] Many hands make light work. |
| [9] A half loaf is better than none. | [ ] Look before you leap. |
| [10] Love is the coldest of critics. | [ ] Absence makes the heart grow fonder. |

Fame.

Local girl makes good: The voices of two out of town visitors were awed to a whisper. They had experienced such a thrill! They had been on a tour of a department store and they rode in the elevator once run by Dorothy Lamour!

Christmas Finale.

One last holiday tale, and then the Christmas stories—like the music box Santa Claus and the tree ornaments—will be wrapped in tissue and put away on the shelf until another December.

The Junior Association of Commerce had a Christmas luncheon at which gifts were exchanged. The tall, blond, and handsome hero of an office force [from whence comes the story] received a pipe at the luncheon. As he smokes only cigarets, he circulated among the members, trying to trade or sell his gift. Finally he approached, unknowingly, the donor of the pipe. The transaction was quickly withdrawn! . . . But the pay-off came with five pounds of tobacco, contributed by his associates. So, now, our tall, blond, and handsome hero smokes a pipe! And his name is not Sandy MacDougal.

So It Seems.

"Here are all kinds of employers wanting all sorts of servants, and all sorts of servants wanting all kinds of employers, and they never seem to come together." —Charles Dickens.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

By WYNN

Saturday, Jan. 10.

A rough day this for people who let little things bother them; but we're different, eh? We take the long look, we realize that if we don't yield to temptings that urge too much talk and promises we'll be better off in the long run.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead is one of give and get from others, a mutual year, if this is your birthday. Must coöperate. Develop originality for profits; take up new lines, outgrow past, move on. Danger: May 13-28; and Oct. 9-17.

Tomorrow.

Make future plans—but early; routine the evening.

Do you want an individual interpretation of your own personal date? Send 10c for 1942 horoscope to Wynn, Tribune astrologer, 286 Fifth avenue, New York, N. Y.

St. Mary's Notre Dame Club Sponsoring Benefit

In the interest of the centennial building fund of St. Mary's college at Notre Dame, Ind., the St. Mary's Notre Dame club will give a benefit bridge luncheon and fashion show today at the Drake hotel for members and guests. Mrs. Frank J. Gillespie heads the committee on arrangements.

Fashion-Right 'Beanie'

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

Every casual costume requires a "beanie," for it is the most popular fad of the moment. "Beanies" are worn with all types of ensembles, and even are worn under the huge, gay, peasant kerchiefs. Only a few minutes are required to knit or crochet one of these coy caps. Instructions include directions for both a knitted and a crocheted "beanie," done in simple stitches.

For instructions in knitting and crocheting the "beanie," No. 868, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Conscientious Mother Often in a 'Dither'

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

If the shoe fits, put it on. But if it doesn't, don't!

When it comes to this shoe business, we who try to do some observing and some advising about the guiding of children, notice that there usually are three kinds of mothers, those who don't put any shoes on, those who put on many pairs, and those who wear only one pair at a time. The first two are extremists, of a sort, and the last are moderates.

The first one reads or hears of this or that theory or method of rearing children, and either because she is indifferent or extremely set in her ways, she doesn't even consider them or try them on. With her we have little concern or sympathy. We'll reserve that for her children.

The second is just the opposite. She is eager and conscientious to a fault. She takes everything to herself. When she reads of the mother who neglects the physical care of her children she thinks, "Perhaps that's me," and puts the shoe on, straining every nerve to give more attention to her children's bodies.

When she reads of the mother who sacrifices the spiritual to the physical, she suspects herself of that fault, and puts that shoe on, too. When she reads of the mother who is too indulgent she thinks, "Perhaps I'm that," and puts that shoe on while she tightens up on the discipline in the family. When she hears of the evils of suppressing children she sees herself as an ill-advised tyrant and imagines that shoe fits, also.

So, in the intensity of her desire to do her best by the children, and partly because of her inexperience, she is in a state of constant turmoil, thinking herself guilty in turn of every fault a mother can have.

But this conscientious mother has to get on some kind of a working basis. She can't walk with so many pairs of shoes on, nor spend all her time trying them on. She must have some knowledge of herself, neither too rosy a view nor too gloomy a one. She must be able to say, "Does this fit me? If it does I'll change. If it doesn't I'll continue as I've been going and try to correct something else that I know is a fault. Let me see, do I really overindulge the children, or do I only give them the freedom and things that it is perfectly reasonable for them to have? Do I expect too much of them or just enough to develop them?" And so on.

As you read and study and hear discussions, be quite honest with yourself. Then, if the shoe fits, put it on. But in considering it, remember that one good touchstone is that of sound common sense.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. George Shufeldt Hamilton of Oak Park announce the marriage on Dec. 26 of their daughter, Helen, to John Robert Bross. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. A. Bross, and Frederick Jr. were here from New York for the ceremony. The former Miss Hamilton was graduated from Bryn Mawr college, and Mr. Bross received his degree from Columbia university. Instead of finishing his thesis for his doctorate at Columbia, he expects to be doing psychology work in the army.

From Three Rivers, Mich., comes word of the marriage on Jan. 7 of Dean Judd Troyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Judd of Three Rivers, to William Price Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flagg Taylor of Oak Park. After a short stay in Chicago, they will live in Three Rivers, where Mr. Taylor is in business.

Mrs. Melville A. Hill of Paxton avenue announces the marriage of her daughter, Mary, to T. Lane Carter, son of Mrs. Helen Hyde Carter. The wedding took place on Jan. 3 in St. Paul's chapel.

Smart New Daytime Dress

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Bands of contrasting colored crepe material combine and accent the simplicity of this new daytime dress. The simply gathered skirt with a double band hem resembles an apron. A smooth tailored shirtwaist blouse top also features color contrast in the short sleeves and the yoke. Similar dresses with the same band trim or color contrast will be found in a Chicago shop.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 9.—Henry Koster, who directed most of the Deanna Durbin pictures under producer Joe Pasternak, has finally been made a producer-director by Universal. His first picture under the new status will be "Boy Meets Baby," a comedy by Jacques Thery and Regis Ginoux, with Bob Cummings as the star. . . . Metro, which rarely goes in for westerns, has scheduled a superwhooper. It's "The Ox Train," from an original by Jesse Lasky Jr. It concerns ox wagon freighting between St. Louis and Omaha just after the Civil war, and Van Heflin, who began on Broadway in high society comedies, will have the lead. It's a well deserved break for Heflin.

• • •

Society note: Since studios went on their own daylight saving time ahead of any congressional action, our glamor babes have been punching the clock at unearthly hours. Olivia de Havilland was driving to Warners' the other dawn, trying to get into the makeup department by 6 a. m. in order to resume a lead in "In This Our Life." She ran out of gas.

So the lovely Olivia stood alongside the road and held out her thumb for a ride. Pretty soon a woman in a jalopy hauled up and took Miss De Havilland aboard. There were crates of eggs in the back of the jalopy; obviously, Olivia's benefactor was an egg woman.

In response to a question Miss De Havilland said she was going to the Warner studio. In response to the next obvious question she said yes, she was an actress.

"Funny, but I don't place you," said the egg woman.

"I'm Olivia de Havilland," said Olivia de Havilland.

"O, yes, now I know," said the egg woman. And, with simple dignity, she introduced herself:

"I'm the second cousin of the duchess of Windsor. I come from Baltimore."

In Rob Wagner's script Gene Lockhart has a 1942 version of "The Mikado" which is at least as timely as "The Red Mikado" of "Pins and Needles" fame. In part of it the maids from school become two men, Kurusu and Nomura, who chant:

Two little men, two Japs are we,
Sly as a crafty Jap can be,
Filled to the brim with ghoulish glee,
Two little Japs are we.

Nobody's safe, for we care for none!
War is a joke that's just begun.
Two little Japs are we.

Two little men who, slick and wary,
Planned a delay quite temporary,
Aiding our party military,
Two little Saps—ARE WE!

Fortunes change in the movies. Gene Tierney, well born New England girl who became a film star, has often bought cigarets from Mary Scott, cigaret girl in the town's costliest night joint. Now Mary is playing a society girl in Gene's film, "Rings for Her Fingers," and Gene is playing a humble salesgirl. At one point it becomes necessary for Miss Scott to slap Miss Tierney. When this scene reached the camera Mary said, "Gosh, I hated to do it. She was always so sweet to me when I was a cigaret girl."

Woolies, Soft, Thin and Warm, Fill Sport Shop

BY REA SEEGER.

The softest, smoothest, warmest woolies are now piled in timely supplies in one of Chicago's famous shops for sports clothes. This doesn't mean you have to be a sportswoman to appreciate or wear such winter weather resistant finds either . . . only the reasonable urge to keep warm during a cold snap is needed. If you are fussy, you'll like the white items, incredibly fine nonscratch wool with a world renowned label. These are featured in shorts and "longies," shirts with long sleeves and sleeveless vests. They are featherweight, but despite this much wanted quality they'll protect against any subzero spell.

Other woolies include the flesh tinted stuff, a bit thicker than the white and less expensive, too. Old fashioned long sleeved shirts have a row of buttons at the side of the chest and your choice of longs or shorts. Such cozy duets provide the necessary heating units for any shivering shopper, especially for the ladies who must be out of doors every day.

A pale beige tone is another idea in soft, thin woolen underlayers, featured in one piece and the two-piece combines of shirts and shorts.

If you take your winter sports seriously, or if you are packing for an escape to more wintry regions, the flaming red flannels should be of first buying importance. An underlayer of good old flannel under ski suits, toboggan, or skating costumes takes the chill out of these winter sports.

These red flannels are the regulation models, cut all in one piece, with long sleeves and all the shapeless streamline, but once on the body, the most penetrating breezes fail to cool the enthusiasm of the winter sports fan.

The Housewife

Kitchen toweling in the January linen sales is so gay, colorful and attractive that it's being used for curtains, table runners, and place mats, and for chair seats, as well as for wiping dishes. If you have breakfast in the dinette or in the kitchen make your table bright and cheery with flowered place mats and runner made of the toweling, and get enough for curtains, too. You'll find all sorts of patterns from fruit and blossom designs to variegated stripes.

'Blind Date' Often Is Gate to Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

The "blind date" may just turn out to be some one who later matters. So, you young people had better not act as if you were performing an onerous duty by filling the rôle.

"Jackson" tells of a girl on a blind date who now means everything to his future hopes. The night he took her out, he didn't treat her as well as he should have. He thought he was crazy about another girl, so she got his attention. His blind date was as nice as could be. When he met her later at a party, again she was nice and friendly, just as if she had been treated right that night.

The other girl has turned out to be not what she seemed, and there's been more than a hankering for the company of the "blind date." But Jackson feels his treatment of her that one night would earn him a flat turndown were he to make an effort now to date her. To date her again is what he'd like to do. But how to go about it? He's shy, he tells.

Shy and sensitive. Your letter indicates the sensitiveness, or you wouldn't be so self-accusatory about that blind date behavior. Perhaps you exaggerate what really happened then, as shy, sensitive persons are inclined to do.

What to do now, Jackson? Barge right in with the nicest invitation you have available. If you get a turndown, that's just too bad. She may have an engagement. Try a second time, with an equally nice bid. A second turndown should be accepted as final. But if she accepts at any time, send her a nice corsage.

Your Handwriting

BY SHIRLEY SPENCER.

In the writing of Hans Lange I find gentleness. You can always tell when this trait is present by the delicate way the pen is placed on the paper. The strokes are even and unhurried, light, and formed without effort.

You may be sure that altho Mr. Lange goes quietly and unobtrusively about a task that he persists until it is done. It is apparent that Mr. Lange, while moving modestly in the background, is getting results by passive means.

He is sensitive and modest, kindly and conscientious.

Getting the Skin Dry Is Key to Cure of Acne

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"If you can get the skin dry, 9 times out of 10 acne will disappear," a physician is quoted as saying.

Certainly 9 out of 10 cases under our observation are linked to oily skin, and almost always in company with oily hair. Some of the better salons preach the doctrine that both hair and scalp must be treated simultaneously to achieve acne relief.

Naturally this means more frequent shampooing. When oily hair and oily skin exist, there's no point in waiting the traditional two week period for the shampoo. The hair may be washed every week, twice a week, three times a week, and should be. No harm can come from the use of soap and water, barrels of water on the hair. It's the drying carefully that must be observed and the complete rinsing to get rid of every soap particle.

The connection between the cultivation of a dryer skin and acne relief is supported by the fact that with adolescence and the increased activity of the oil glands, the great increase in sufferers is noted.

Before local attention is given, or immediately with it is better, the diet needs study. Eating heavily of starches, fats, and sweets tends to accelerate oiliness. So rich, greasy foodstuffs should be eliminated as the first step. Then go in for repeated daily face washings with soap and water, water rinsings and, finally, cold ablutions.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

Some players have the idea that a close double of an opposing bid is unduly aggressive. Under certain circumstances they are right—it is. Under other circumstances, however, a double is by all odds the most conservative course, in that it guards against a possible sacrifice action by partner.

The bidding:

| West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 heart | Pass | 2 diamonds | 2 spades |
| Pass | Pass | 3 hearts | Pass |
| Pass | 3 spades | 4 hearts | Pass |
| Pass | 4 spades | Double | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

Let it be understood that I am not placing any laurel wreaths on East. His four heart bid was an inexcusable stretch, particularly since he already had conveyed an accurate picture of his hand by two previous bids and could now well afford to pass for his partner's decision. Be that as it may, East's bid had the virtue of creating a beautiful opportunity for his side. That this opportunity developed, however, was due solely to South's lack of enterprise in permitting the four heart bid to get past him. As South later explained, he was afraid that his heart queen would be trapped and that he would take only his three top tricks, possibly not even two spade tricks if North had undue length in the suit. What South overlooked, however, was that North already had shown a disposition to defend.

Obviously, North did not have a good hand, since he had failed to bid over South's two spades, but equally obviously he had a defensive spade hand. Witness his three spade bid when the opponents were about to stop at three hearts. Had East held as big a hand as his three and four heart bids seemed to indicate he would have jumped to four hearts over two spades. Thus, his actual bidding could be taken as proof that he himself was in some doubt as to the success of a four heart contract. Surely South, with his honor holding, could afford to share that doubt and express it by means of a double. When South tamely passed to the four hearts, North could not be severely criticized for persisting to four spades. The vulnerability was equal, and if the opponents were to make their contract [which certainly seemed likely from North's hand] a 500 point penalty would be a good sacrifice. In the final reckoning South lost precisely that amount, but not as a sacrifice, because the four heart contract would have been impossible of fulfillment.

POLICY RACKET'S WHOLESALE BAIL SYSTEM BARED

Lump Sums Sent Daily by Big Bosses.

Evidence that underlings in Chicago's policy racket were bailed out of jail with money that came in daily lump sums direct from the bosses of the ring, was obtained yesterday by First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley.

While the witnesses who gave this evidence were telling their stories, the grand jury continued its investigation of the racket which the Chicago Crime commission estimates has an annual income of 10 million dollars. The commission has declared that Chicago should follow the example of Detroit, where a similar ring has been broken up and the leaders, including a former mayor of the city, sent to prison.

Detroit Boss Seized Here.

Police recalled a close connection between the former Detroit racket and the one that operated in Chicago until the beginning of the current investigation. They showed records that Everett I. Watson, colored, a former railroad porter who became czar of the Detroit ring, was arrested here on the charge for which he recently was sent to prison. Watson was seized in the home of James C. Martin, colored, 155 South 15th avenue, Maywood, who is reputed to be one of Chicago's biggest policy operators. Seized with Watson was his wife, Irene. She was wearing a mink coat valued at several thousand dollars.

It was reported during the day that Edward M. Sneed, colored, a county commissioner and Democratic committeeman of the 3d ward, was to be called before the grand jury. He was expected to be asked about the handling of political favors on the south side.

Bondsman Tells Story.

Robert Marcus, professional bondsman, and Attorney C. H. Tavernier, colored, who has admitted he represented many of the policy ringleaders, were the witnesses from whom the state's attorney's office obtained important admissions.

The bondsman said he met the colored lawyer about three years ago in court. They made an agreement, he said, that Marcus would become general bondsman for all those arrested in connection with the policy racket.

Marcus said he agreed to act for $5 a head in ordinary cases, but that he would do it for a fee of $4 a head in cases where the groups arrested were 10 or more. The bondsman admitted he got his fees in lump sums from Tavernier and that the lawyer had to obtain them from those who employed him.

Tavernier admitted this arrangement had been made. He said he himself was paid $5 a head for those he defended. He said the policy wheel in each police district which had the biggest play, by agreement among the operators, paid the bond and lawyers' fee for each day.

Four Districts Involved.

There are three police districts on the south side—the 3d, 4th, and 5th—in which policy flourished for years, and one on the west side—the 27th.

Asked from whom he got the money he paid out, Tavernier said he didn't know. "The money is sent to me," he said, "and I get my order from a voice—a voice over the telephone. I—I don't know whose it is."

In the south side "policy belt," it was stated that practically every wheel is dead and little policy being played. All the big operators were said to have "taken a duck out of town."

It was reported at the Criminal Courts building that 15 of the biggest operators held a meeting last Monday at which they decided to halt all operations until the grand jury completes its investigation.

May Never Operate Again.

"I don't know anything about the meeting and the reported decision, but they may never resume operations again," said Crowley.

Charges against Frank [Chew Tobacco] Ryan and James Calligan were dismissed yesterday when police admitted they broke down a door at 10 North Clark street when arresting them and seizing alleged gambling paraphernalia. Judge Oscar Caplan discharged the men on a motion to suppress the evidence, but refused to give them back their goods, which they said included a revolver.

A gambling charge against Dago Lawrence Mangano was also dismissed in Racket court when it was shown he has been indicted and must face the Criminal court.

5 ON PARK POLICE FORCE ADVANCE, 1 TO LIEUTENANT

It's Lieut. John B. Oglesby of the park police now. Oglesby, a sergeant for several years, was promoted yesterday in an order issued by Chief Roger J. Shanahan of the park force. He goes from the south to the west district.

Chief Shananan in the same order also promoted four patrolmen to sergeants. They are Walter J. Balcom, William L. Cosefeld, Rovert V. Keleher, and Gerald Wood.

Sergt. Balcom goes to the north district, Sergt. Cosefeld moves to the west, Sergt. Wood changes to the north, and Sergt. Keleher remains at the police training school.

Hearing Set on Clemency Plea for 'Knifey' Sawicki

The state board of pardons and paroles will hold a hearing in Springfield Tuesday on the appeal for clemency for Bernard [Knifey] Sawicki, who is under sentence to be electrocuted Jan. 17 for the murder of Park Policeman Charles Speaker. Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach and his assistant, Morton E. Anderson, will make the plea. They will be opposed by Richard Devine, an assistant state's attorney.

SLUGGING VICTIM IS QUIZZED AFTER CHANGING STORY

Refuses to Identify His Assailant Again.

A slugging victim was taken into custody by state's attorney's police in the courtroom of Judge John Haas yesterday after he refused to identify his assailant, altho he had done so several times recently. After long questioning he was sent home and ordered to appear in court for the next hearing Monday.

He is Irving Shack, 26 years old, a driver for the Bloom Tobacco company, who was beaten with a blackjack last July while making deliveries on the west side. At that time he identified Victor Comforte, an investigator for the Illinois Phonograph Owners, Inc., a juke box owners' association, as his assailant and charged him with assault with a deadly weapon. As a result of the accusation Comforte was discharged by the association.

Enters Not Guilty Plea.

Yesterday Comforte came to court with his attorney, State Senator Abe Marovitz. The latter announced his client is planning to join the army air corps, entered a not guilty plea for Comforte, and waived a jury.

Then Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford called Shack as a court's witness. Shack was asked if he had not identified Comforte as his assailant in statements taken in the state's attorney's office July 7 and in testimony before the grand jury July 9. Shack admitted he had and then was asked if he could identify him now.

"I wouldn't swear to it," Shack replied.

"You identified him to the police and caused him to be indicted," said Crawford. "Why were you so positive of your identification then? What's changed your mind?

"Well," was the reply, "a few months ago I seen a fellow downtown who looked just like him, and now I'm not sure."

First Hint of Uncertainty.

"Have you ever told me before this morning you were not sure of your identification?"

"No, I didn't."

"Has any one promised you a job or money to change your identification?"

"No, sir!" Shack shouted.

Comforte, who is 25 years old and lives at 1339 Grenshaw street, was dismissed from his job with the juke box owners' association after Capt. Dan Gilbert presented evidence to the officials of Comforte's labor record. In 1939 he was dismissed as an organizer for the Motor Vehicle and Accessories Salesmen's union, local No. 21979. A year earlier he had been blocked by Gilbert in attempting to force workers in garages to join the union.

WOMAN'S DEATH PROBE ENDS WITH SUICIDE VERDICT

A coroner's jury yesterday wrote an official end to the mystery connected with the death of Mrs. Ruth Limbach, 19 years old, who was found dead Thursday in her room at 3206 Maypole avenue. A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned.

Ben Smolsky.

Mrs. Limbach, a waitress, wrapped a towel about her head and inhaled gas. An unidentified man who called to see her fled when the landlady opened the young woman's door and discovered she was dead.

Ben Smolsky, 30 years old, 1911 South Christiana avenue, told the police that he was a friend of Mrs. Limbach, but that he had not seen her since Wednesday and did not know who it was that called after her death.

FINISHES '37 JAIL TERM, FACES NEW MEDICAL CHARGE

"Doc" Elmer L. Spencer yesterday completed a 30 day jail sentence imposed in 1937 and appeared before Acting County Judge Russell W. Keeney to discuss payment of a $150 fine, levied at the same time, and also to talk over making bond on a current charge of violating the medical practice act.

Judge Keeney ordered him held when the state's attorney's office, thru Roman Stachnik, an assistant, objected to the security.

Spencer was recognized by Mrs. Charlotte Hermes, investigator for the state department of registration and education, when he was arrested last month. She remembered that he had appealed the 1937 conviction on a charge of practicing medicine without a license and failed to pay the fine or serve his sentence when he lost.

LOUIS FLOORS BAER 3 TIMES; WINS IN FIRST

HOPPE BEATS LOOKABAUGH, 50-29, IN WORLD CUE MEET

WILLIE RUNS OUT IN 25 INNINGS; CHAMACO WINS

Rubin Defeated in 2d Match, 50-46.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Willie Hoppe is in town to defend his world's three cushion billiards championship. If there was any question of secrecy about the old gentleman's presence or his intention of retaining the title, he dispelled it last night by winning the first match of the 1942 tournament, 50 to 29, from Earle Lookabaugh of Chicago.

A near capacity crowd of 1,000 watched the 54 year old New Yorker play one of the best games of his career in the terrace casino of the Morrison hotel. He averaged two points an inning, his 25 inning exit for the evening coming within two innings of equaling the world's record of 23, first set by Johny Layton in 1930 and equaled by Jay Bozeman in 1940. The night's business consumed only 52 minutes of actual playing time, as pleasingly rapid a cue argument as Chicagoans have seen in years.

Joe Chamaco and Arthur Rubin, reputedly two of the swiftest players in the league, belied their mutual reputation by rassling 62 innings in the second match of the night, before José won, 50 to 46. Joe led at the intermission which wasn't attained until the 32d inning, by a score of 25 to 23. Chamaco had a high run of four, while Rubin collected his zenith count in the 14th inning, a five.

Cue Ball Rule Altered.

The Hoppe-Lookabaugh match was the first ever to be played under the new rule, which permits a player optional choice of cue balls. That rule, incidentally, was amended late yesterday afternoon at a special meeting of all the players. The adjustment revolved around the fact that the following player must use as a cue ball on his first shot of an inning the "still" ball, that is, the one which had not been used by his opponent in his preceding turn. Each player, following this initial shot, has a choice of either ball, on condition that he use it for the duration of the inning.

For instance, if Hoppe used the spot ball for his first ball to open an inning, and then elected to shoot the white ball for the remainder of the inning, Lookabaugh was forced to use the white ball for his next opening shot. Thereafter, beginning with his second shot, Earle could elect to play either for the rest of the inning.

High runs for the evening were six for each man, Willie retorting with same in the 23d, after Earle had pulled up within 13 points of knocking off a neat six in his side of the 22d. Hoppe was two over 2s—as the golfers would say—by accumulating a 26 to 10 advantage at the intermission in the 12th inning.

Has Just Nine Scoreless Innings.

The champion, whose victory last night gave him a record of 37 triumphs in 38 world title matches [he won 20 straight in 1940 and was up to 33 last year, when Welker Cochran beat him] had only nine scoreless innings in the argument. For him, he fell off the pace a mite in the second half, but soon remedied that by running 6-4-1 in the last three innings. His mastery of the gentler shots, in which the balls barely revolve, was never more in evidence.

Lookabaugh, in spite of his 29 points, gave a quite creditable effort, for, under the old rules, many a cueist would have been glad to get 29 points in 25 innings. There is little doubt but what the new rules has speeded up play, but the amendment of yesterday, forcing a player on his first shot to use the ball his opponent did not use, preserves to a great degree the safety motif. Last night, Hoppe used the option of either ball on the second shot six times, while Lookabaugh elected it seven times.

Two Matches Today.

The tournament, which runs thru the night of Jan. 23, will continue this afternoon. Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, 1931 champion, will meet Welker Cochran of San Francisco, thrice titleholder, in the first match, beginning at 2 p. m., after which Jake Schaefer of Cleveland, runnerup to Hoppe the last two years, will argue with Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, twice a former champion. No matches will be played on Saturday nights, nor on any Sunday, during the tournament.

In the Wake of the News

THE war with Japan cost the Chicago table tennis team, which competed in the recent National Intercity tournament, its nonplaying captain, . . . He was Yoshio Fushimi, a Japanese, who resigned his post the day after the attack on Pearl Harbor. . . . Yoshio also was a squad director for the Illinois Table Tennis association. . . . Altho he has kept no records, Mort Shaw, who is totalisator boss for such tracks as Arlington and Washington Parks, believes that when the 1942 racing season is over he will have supervised the counting of a billion dollars. . . . Mort is too old for the draft, but he might be of use in Washington, where billion dollar transactions are daily incidents. . . . Lowell Jackson, 1941 world match game title bowling challenger and a member of the Hermann Undertakers team of St. Louis, arrived in Chicago for the Ray Schalk holiday sweepstakes on a train that was two hours late. . . . Lowell had time to bowl just two of the four games scheduled, then dashed back to New Orleans. . . . His team, the defending champions, did not repeat. . . . Football fans still are chuckling over the beating the scalpers suffered at the Sugar bowl game. . . . Tickets that had a face value of $4.50 were offered for $1, or what have you, outside the gates of Tulane stadium. . . . Gen. Richard Sutherland of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff in the Philippines is a brother-in-law of Manager Bucky Harris of the Senators. . . .

Billy Werber is called the major leagues' slickest insurance salesman. . . . While playing third for the Cincinnati Reds in an exhibition game with the Senators last spring, Bill took a throw from the outfield too late to tag Rick Ferrell, who slid into the bag with a triple. . . . Before the inning was over, which left Rick stranded on third, Bill had sold him a sizable policy. . . . Jim Figg of England, the world's first recognized heavyweight champion, was an expert swordsman before he began fighting with his fists. . . . Joe Beggs, the Reds pitcher, has been working out daily and is seven pounds below the 182 he carried last summer. . . . The Indians probably will establish some kind of a record when they open the 1942 season with five left handers on their staff. . . . The list includes Al Milnar, Al Smith, Lovill Dean, Harry Eisenstat, and Joe Krakauskas.

No Unknown Soldier Now.

Tonight on a lonely snow-swept street
A soldier and I happened to meet,
I stood to one side as he struggled by,
Battling the drifts almost shoulder high;
His suitcase was heavy, that much I could see,
But I looked at him and he grinned at me.
So I said "hello," for why shouldn't I greet
A soldier I met on a storm-swept street?

I didn't know him, he didn't know me,
But that needn't matter for all I could see,
So I stopped and we talked and he seemed right glad,
And told of the furlough home he'd just had;
Then we dropped in a place for a bite to eat,
He seemed so pleased with the little treat.
Then he went his way and I went mine.
I can still see those honest, young grateful eyes shine.

An "Unknown" Soldier in times like these Should be an unheard of thing, so please
Remember just this: they're fighting your fight,
So to hold them as strangers would hardly be right;
They've given up home and friends and laughter
To do their bit for the ones to come after.
So the next lonely soldier you happen to meet,

—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

Wisconsin at Iowa.
Indiana at Minnesota.
Alumni at Loyola.
West Texas State vs. De Paul, Chicago stadium.
Bradley vs. Duquesne, Chicago stadium.
Butler vs. Marquette, Milwaukee auditorium.
Milwaukee Teachers vs. Carroll, Milwaukee Auditorium.

The four way tie for the lead in the Big Ten conference basketball race will be subject to alterations tonight with five games involving every team in the conference. The unbeaten leaders are Northwestern, Iowa, Illinois, and Purdue.

Local action will be centered on the Midway, where Chicago's twice defeated quintet will face Northwestern's surprising Wildcats, whose victories over Indiana and Minnesota make them an early season threat. Purdue, which rolled up 100 points in its first two games, will entertain Ohio State in Lafayette. Other games on the night's schedule include Illinois at Michigan, Wisconsin at Iowa, and Indiana at Minnesota.

Maroons Can Be Troublesome.

Northwestern is a heavy favorite over its old south side rival, but the Maroons have always been troublesome for the Wildcats, especially on the Midway. Only by considerable effort was the Purple able to produce a 41 to 36 victory in the Chicago fieldhouse last year.

However, the Wildcats possess much more punch than they did a year ago, thanks to the presence of Otto Graham, star sophomore forward who leads the conference scorers with 36 points. With the exception of Graham, all of the players in Northwestern's starting lineup participated in last year's game against the Maroons.

N. U. Has Scoring Power.

Northwestern's powerful attack is built around a trio consisting of Graham, Capt. Henry Clason, forward, and Russ Wendland, guard. These three have scored 84 of Northwestern's 99 points in two conference games. Altho they have not figured prominently in the scoring, much credit for the Wildcats' early season success is due to two ex-football players, Don Clawson and Don Kruger, center and guard, respectively, who have turned in a strong defensive game.

Against the marksmanship of Graham and his powerful mates, Chicago will pit the consistency of Jack Fons and the chance of improvement in making long shots on the part of the four other starters, of whom two are sophomores. Of the 11 baskets scored by Fons' teammates in the Iowa game, six were on shots from well out, but the percentage in proportion to attempts was low.

Ohio State, led by Dick Fisher who placed third in Big Ten scoring last year, will offer a stiff test for Purdue's notable defensive record. The Boilermakers have held two conference opponents to a total of 37 points this season.

They Have an Offensive, Too.

It is unlikely, however, that the offensive minded Boilermakers will rely on defensive tactics to decide the issue. Coach Ward Lambert has fashioned another of his typical fast breaking teams, which has scored 100 points in two games. The Boilermakers are paced by Capt. Don Blanken and Forrest Sprowl, who share high

LANKY TEXANS TO BATTLE DE PAUL QUINTET TONIGHT

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The West Texas State basketball squad, which could match its height against the Amarillo city hall if it were assembled player atop player, came to town yesterday to meet De Paul university in one of tonight's games in the Stadium. In the other engagement of the double header, Bradley will play Duquesne.

Bill Wendt, who has charge of De Paul's basketball squad, took one glance at the Blue Demons' adversaries and shuddered. The Chicago team's first job tonight will be to try to get up high enough to touch the ball at all. Getting it into the basket will be an afterthought.

Bradley Beat 'Em.

The West Texas State team has won 13 out of 14 games this season—but that one defeat furnishes De Paul with a ray of hope. Bradley whipped the southwesterners last Monday—which at least proved that the trick could be done.

The Duquesne and Bradley engagement promises to be as fast as the other half of the program. The easterners have won all eight of their games to date, but seven of those were at home—and Coach Chick Davies expressed considerable apprehension about how the boys will go during their tour. The team is composed entirely of juniors and sophomores.

Robertson Is Pleased.

Coach A. J. Robertson, well pleased with the way the Bradley quintet performed against West Texas State, believes that the youngsters are in shape for another first class performance tonight. Since dropping their opening game to Iowa State, which had already played several times, they have won seven games and lost only to Denver.

Two Farragut Athletes Seek Silver Skates; Deadline Near

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Don Schilline and Ted Pacanowski, Farragut High's fleet half backs in the Public School league football campaign last fall, have started to flash their speed in another sport—ice skating. Farragut's followers cheered the ball carriers during the successful central section season and they are confident Schilline and Pacanowski will finish among the leaders in the Silver Skates Derbies on Garfield park's lagoon next Saturday and Sunday.

The skating coach at Farragut is no stranger to Schilline and Pacanowski. He is George Von Bremer, who also has transferred his coaching activities from the football field to the ice rink. Von Bremer, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, has been directing the Farragut football, ice skating, and wrestling squads for the last four years. He formerly coached at Tilden Tech, handling the skating team and assisting Charles Harvey in football.

Wins Two Events.

Von Bremer believes Schilline will develop into one of the nation's outstanding speed skaters. Schilline already has been tested in national competition, racing twice in the United States meet in the intermediate division. Schilline has won two championships this season, capturing the class AA ½ mile title in the Illinois state carnival in Glen Ellyn last Sunday and the men's senior event in the American Legion Derby last Wednesday night.

"Schilline is an excellent athlete and one of the finest boys I have handled in my coaching career," Von Bremer said. "He has performed remarkably well on my football, skating, and wrestling teams. I think Schilline and other members of the Farragut squad will give a good account of themselves in the Silver Skates Derbies."

Other Farragut Skaters.

Other Farragut representatives in the Derbies will be Bob Vrtis in the juvenile division, who won two trophies in midget races last winter, and Howard Breda, who has entered the intermediate class. The girls' division entrants will include Dorothy Oul in the seniors and Helen Kastner in the intermediate.

Skaters are urged to rush in their entries. The lists will be closed at midnight tomorrow.

High school and other skaters in the Chicago district will continue their preparations for the Derbies by competing today in the annual skating meet under the auspices of the board of education on Lincoln park's lagoons. The events for boys and men will be held on the north pond near Fullerton avenue and the girls' races will take place on the south lagoon.

JOE WINDS UP 20TH DEFENSE OF TITLE IN 2:56

19,000 Attend Naval Relief Show.

Fight Decisions

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

At New York—Joe Louis, heavyweight champion, knocked out Buddy Baer [1], title; Frankie Zezima beat Art Tedesco [4]; Dom Fiantini and Diogenes Leon, drew [6]; Holman Williams beat José Basora [6]; Ernie Vigh beat Coley Welch [8]; Gene Pinter beat Augie Arellano [6].

New York, Jan. 9—Two minutes and fifty-six seconds after Buddy Baer charged from his corner tonight in Madison Square Garden, seeking the heavyweight championship of the world, the streaked lightning and thunderous power of Joe Louis' fists stretched the challenger helpless on the floor.

Three times in those thrill jammed seconds Louis smashed at Bear with the homicidal fury that had felled Max Schmeling in a round. Twice Baer struggled blindly to his feet at the count of nine. And at the count of 10 after the third knockdown, the battered challenger, still willing to continue, vainly attempted to haul himself erect, clutching blindly at the ropes in Louis' corner.

Referee Completes Count.

Referee Frank Fullam completed his count, then stepped between Louis and his helpless opponent, signaling the knockout in 2 minutes and 56 seconds.

Madison Square Garden was bedlam. A vast roar swept from wall to wall and reverberated from the steel beams as the champion moved irresistibly to the attack as certainly as darkness follows daylight. Those at ringside climbed on their chairs. Finally, when Louis stepped back from his beaten foe, his hand raised in victory, all joined in tumultuous applause for the man who now has defended his championship 20 times and is regarded as invincible.

Altho official figures on attendance will not be released until tomorrow, the estimated crowd was 19,000 and estimated gross receipts were $180,000. Louis donated his entire 40 per cent share and Baer gave up 2½ per cent of his cut to the Naval Relief society. Promoter Mike Jacobs served without charge so that his earnings also could be given to the fund.

Fifth Quickest Knockout.

It was the fifth fastest knockout ever scored in a heavyweight championship bout and Louis was a principal in four of them. In addition to tonight's achievement the Brown Bomber floored Jack Roper in 2:20 of the first round and John Henry Lewis in 2:29 of the first in 1939, and sent Max Schmeling spinning to the canvas in 2:04 of the first round in 1938.

The most rapid was the conquest of Schmeling. Runnerup to this record was the 2:09 Tommy Burns needed to knock out Bill Squires in 1908. Burns became champion after Jim Jeffries' retirement in 1904.

Louis' title was in pawn for a round but the Bomber's fists were more than adequate protection against forfeit.

It Was No Contest.

Literally, Baer never had a chance to win. He could no more stem the momentum of Joe's drive than one can command the inrushing tide to retreat. Baer's first blind rush, powered by 250 pounds, swept the champion to the ropes. Baer penned Louis for a second but he did not hurt nor bother him. Thereafter, Buddy tried vainly to seek cover from the hurricane of blows, striking ineffectually, and grabbing for the bronzed shoulders of his slighter rival.

One minute passed. Then, the champion, stepping forward one step, struck with a short right. It landed true on the challenger's chin. Buddy crumbled to the floor, then rose to one knee, and finally stood erect at the ninth second of the count. Louis moved in and struck again. Once more this pile driving right, flashing almost faster than the eye could see, whipped to Baer's jaw. This time Baer's legs buckled and he tumbled headlong as a tree weaves and topples from the woodman's ax.

Then Came the Finish.

Instinct and determination urged Buddy to his feet, but no longer was there any question of the outcome. Louis attacked for the last time. As Baer backed away, with his right hand dangling at his side, his left ineffectually covering his jaw, the champion swung a left hook. It exploded on Baer's chin and, as Buddy fell, Louis caught him with a right cross.

Baer spun around and hit the floor on his back. He rolled completely over and blindly pawed for the ropes as he was counted out.

Thruout the interminable ceremonies that preceded the championship battle, the principals stood in their corners. Baer gazed nonchalantly at the blazing spotlight outlining an American flag while the national anthem was sung. In his corner, Louis

HAWKS BRING UP KENNY STEWART FOR WINGS' GAME

Kansas City Center May Add Scoring Punch.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawk management, which perhaps would rather give its élite patronage good hockey instead of riots of the dangerous variety that have characterized the Hawks' last two home engagements, yesterday ordered Kenny Stewart, scoring star of the Hawk farm in Kansas City, to fly to Chicago and prepare for tomorrow night's engagement with the Detroit Red Wings.

Stewart, at the time he was ordered to Chicago, was leading the American association with 13 goals and 17 assists. Phil Hergesheimer, with the Hawks for two seasons and a half, was sent to Kansas City as a part of the transaction.

Formerly a Defenseman.

Stewart has been a center since joining the Hawk training squad last fall and played at that position exclusively in Kansas City, tho he had been a defenseman during his four years with the Lethbridge Maple Leafs, last year's junior amateur champs. Stewart is 26 years old, weighs 175, and is 6 feet tall.

Altho generally rated a mediocre hockey team, the Wings usually play their best against the Hawks and on this precedent rest the hopes of an interesting match tomorrow night provided the officials on the ice can prevail upon the athletes to play hockey.

Whether by design or thru negligence, discipline in the National league recently has reached new lows, and without backing from the league the officials on the ice have been powerless to restrain brawling. Even those who like an occasional good scrap on the ice have expressed themselves as a bit weary with the disorder that apparently has become standard in recent weeks.

Chicago Frowns on Hoodlums.

The front office is alarmed at the trend the game is taking. In Chicago it has been found that hoodlumism isn't necessary to make the turnstiles click. While Earl Seibert, Red Hamill, and other Hawks have been able to more than take care of themselves, there has been no effort here to relax discipline to enable the players to settle old personal grudges without fear of official fines or suspensions.

According to those well versed in hockey showmanship, the players rarely are asked to start fights to smoke up interest in hockey. The process is more subtle than that, it was explained. All that is necessary is for the league president to put on his blinkers and whitewash all rowdy acts. Given a free reign the players will take care of the fireworks without any scenario or script.

It is not believed, however, that Jack Adams, manager of the Red Wings, will have the crust to egg on Jimmy Orlando tomorrow night. Remembering Seibert, Orlando might take a punch at Adams for suggesting that Orlando play another encore to his deflated "bad man" act.

LILLIS ORDERED TO PAY $10,000 IN AUTO DEATHS

Elkhart, Ind., Jan. 9 (AP).—A Circuit court jury has awarded a $10,000 judgment against Paul B. Lillis, captain of Notre Dame's 1941 football team, for the estate of a South Bend couple killed in an automobile collision last Feb. 21.

George B. Summers, purchasing agent for the Bendix products division of the Bendix Aviation corporation, and Mrs. Summers were killed. The judgment was granted Mrs. Summers' estate yesterday, but the jury declined to grant damages against four other defendants.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Doubt Not, $13.00 straight, $5.50 place, $3.60 show; High One, $6.70 place, $3.90 show; Aboyne, $3.10 show.

DOUBT NOT, showing smart improvement over his recent efforts, was sent to the front early and gamely withstood a long drive. HIGH ONE broke slow, was taken very wide all the way, and finished fast in the middle of the track. ABOYNE came thru on inside, finished very fast. DAILY DELIVERY had speed for half a mile then tired. ZACATINE is sure to improve.

SEVENTH RACE—Purse $1,000. Four year olds and up. Mile and a sixteenth. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 4:47. Off at 4:48. Winner, b. g., 6, by Time Maker or Espino-Deena Shee, by Durbar II. Owner, C. A. O'Neil Jr. Trainer, C. J. Edwards. Time, 1:45.

Cooper Gets 69; Hogan Trails with 70.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 9 (AP).—Horton Smith, displaying his old time magic on the greens, knocked four strokes off par to take the lead at the end of the first round of the annual $10,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament today. The Pinehurst, N. C., professional shot a 68 after collecting six birdies on the par 72 Hillcrest course.

One stroke back of Smith were Harry Cooper of Minneapolis; Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., and Chet Beer of Los Angeles.

Benny Hogan of Hershey, Pa., saw his chances for a tie or the lead go awry on the difficult 18th when his approach was short and rolled back down the steep incline. The leading money winner of 1941 settled for a 70, tied with Lawson Little of San Francisco, Johnny Revolta of Chicago, and Willie Goggin of White Plains, N. Y.

Gt. Lakes Five to Open Home Stand Tonight

The Great Lakes Naval Training station's basketball team, with a record of 11 victories in 13 starts against some of the strongest collegiate competition in the middle west, will open a three game home stand tonight.

Tonight's game with Wheaton college will formally open Great Lakes' new gymnasium, construction of which was completed earlier this week. The gymnasium, to be dedicated by Great Lakes officials headed by Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district, will seat 5,000. By alternating companies permitted to attend the basketball games, Great Lakes athletic officials expect that a major portion of the men now in training at the station will see at least one of the next three games.

Face N. U. Wednesday.

Following Wheaton college into the new gymnasium will be Camp Grant, which will pit its record of seven straight victories without a defeat against the Bluejackets on Monday, after which Northwestern will invade the station on Wednesday for what Great Lakes considers its big game of a big schedule.

The sailors returned yesterday from a tour thru Indiana and Michigan, during which they defeated Indiana Central, Butler, Western Kentucky Normal, and Calvin college and lost to Michigan State in six nights of competition. Great Lakes' only previous defeat had been dealt by Ohio State, 38 to 32. Michigan State's victory was by a 32 to 30 margin.

In the 13 games the Bluejacket quintet has played it has piled up 659 points against a total by all opponents of 513. The team has averaged just a fraction under 52 points per game.

May Play Chanute Field.

Lieut. J. Russell Cook, athletic officer and basketball coach, said Great Lakes hopes to schedule Chanute Field, another powerful service team.

Air Corps Takes Michigan Track Captain Jan. 15

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 9 [Special].—Alfred [Bud] Piel, captain of the Michigan track team, today received orders to report to the Chicago Naval Air Corps station Jan. 15 for induction. A senior sprinter from Indianapolis, Piel enlisted in the air corps in the V5 group early in the fall in the hope of obtaining deferment so he could compete this year.

ALLEN DEMANDS SPORT SHOWDOWN WITH OKLAHOMA

Kansas Coach Says Rivals Pay Prep Players.

Lawrence, Kas., Jan. 9 (AP).—A new cloud of dust formed tonight on Dr. F. C. [Phog] Allen's warpath against Oklahoma university.

The veteran University of Kansas coach accused Oklahoma with "getting away with murder for years" and called for a showdown with L. E. Haskell, Sooner athletic director.

"About 10 football stars of Wichita's North High school are heading for Norman by car tonight," Dr. Allen said. "

"Who's Paying for It?"

"I charge that their expenses are being paid by Oklahoma and the main reason for the trip is for their evaluation by Haskell. I know for sure Haskell was in Wichita two weeks ago—and it wasn't just to visit his brother.

"I would like to know how Haskell gets away with such things—how he can do it in face of Big Six regulations.

"As for the case of [Gerald] Tucker—I am thru with it—but I can't see how the lad can be permitted to play the last semester of his senior year. His participation in five nonconference games certainly should count as competition."

Cite Case of Tucker.

Tucker, who enrolled at Kansas State and left for Oklahoma after nine weeks, has been okayed by Kansas State for Oklahoma athletic participation at the end of the current semester. This action, prescribed by the conference code, came after rulings by the faculty representatives upon Allen's request.

In a letter to Dr. H. H. King of Kansas State, Big Six eligibility chairman, the Kansas coach wrote: "Perhaps a hearing which would air some of the conference situations might be a healthy experience. It might be well for an investigation committee to audit the expenditures of certain schools in the Big Six."

Foresters' Ice Skating Meet Carded Today

The Catholic Order of Foresters will hold its annual ice skating championship races on the Garfield park lagoon today at 2 p. m. Two sets of events are scheduled, one for defending champions and the other for men and boys of the Illinois Skating association.

More than 800 skaters are entered in the races, which will vary in distance from 220 yard dashes to two mile events.

Jerry Fahrenbach is juvenile champion and John Coffey midget title holder in the Forester tourney. The Illinois skating events will bring such stars as Vic Ronchetti, Bob Heckenbach, Steve Gadus, and a host of other speed kings into action. The list of events:

Foresters: Men's 220 yards, 1 mile; intermediate boys' 440 yards and 1 mile; junior boys' 880 yards; juvenile boys' 220 yards; midget boys' 220 yards. Illinois association: Men's 220, ¾ mile, and 1 mile; intermediate 220 and 1 mile, junior ½ mile, juvenile 220, and midget 220 yards.

The Tri-State championships tomorrow afternoon in Lord's park, Elgin, will draw 800 entries from Missouri, Wisconsin, and Illinois. Bud Handlan of St. Louis, holder of the Missouri and Illinois indoor titles and Chet Saroka of Kenosha, Wis., will try to beat Defending Champion Vic Ronchetti of Chicago.

IRISH FOOTBALL SQUAD ELIGIBLE IN NEW DRAFT

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 9 [Special].—Lowering of the conscription age limit to 20 years has made every graduating Notre Dame football player and 34 returning players eligible for the draft. Many of the players, however, have joined the campus ROTC unit and will not be subject to call until graduation.

Almost all the seniors plan to follow the example of Steve Juzwik, half back, who recenty enlisted in the Naval Reserve. Matt Bolger, 22 years old, and Larry Sullivan, 22, are the oldest of the returning players. The others, according to age, are:

21 YEARS OLD—Tom Brock, Dick Creevy, Charles Ellefson, Captain-Elect George Murphy, Bob Neff, John Peasenelli, Bob Riordan, Lou Rymkus, Ed Tessaro, Bob Walsh, Harry Wright, and Wally Ziemba. Ziemba already has been rejected because of damaged cartilage in both knees.

20 YEARS OLD—Pete Ashbaugh, Norm [Jack] Barry, Angelo Bertelli, Bob Dove, Bill Earley, Owen [Dippy] Evans, Tony Girolami, John Lanahan, Tom Miller, Dick O'Brien, Jack Warner, and Bob Webb.

MAROONS BEAT PURDUE—IN A GYMNASTIC MEET

The University of Chicago's gymnastic team opened its season yesterday in Bartlett gymnasium by whipping Purdue in an informal meet, 520.6 to 440.69. Interest in the meet was centered about the race for individual honors between Chicago's twin national champions, Earl and Courtney Shanken, who hold the intercollegiate long horse and intercollegiate all-around titles respectively.

Earl Shanken captured three firsts and one second to beat Courtney, who took one first and four seconds. Earl's point total was 191.4 and his brother's 184.6, more than half of Chicago's team aggregate. Walter Pozer was high man for Purdue with 120 points.

BUDWEISERS WIN CITY'S BOWLING TEAM TOURNEY

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The Budweisers with 3,165 and the Kobick Hardwares with 3,073 won the major and handicap championships in the city bowling tournament team competition which ended last night in Bensinger's Adams-Wabash center. The title gave the Budweisers $80 prize money, the first of 18 awards in the major section in which 55 teams participated. The Kobicks won the $200 first prize in their section in which 1,621 teams competed. A total of 540 prizes totaling $7,862 were offered in the handicap section. Teams shooting 2,762 totals and up will share in the prize money.

Two teams rolled into places among the leaders in the major division last night. As might have been anticipated one of them was the Joseph L. Gills, the Budweisers' No. 1 rivals. The Gills fired 3,071 and took second place, which earned them $70. The Pabst Blue Ribbons of the Classic league took fourth place on a 2,976 total.

Evidence of the Budweiser-Gill rivalry is seen in the Windy City league, where they are tied for the lead and in the Randolph league, where on Thursday night they fired against each other and the Gills got 3,285 and won two games as the Buds were shooting 3,257.

Doubles and singles competition in the city tournament will start today and continue thru Feb. 8, with all shooting to be done on week-ends.

Scores of the teams that placed among the leaders last night:

| PABSTS [2,976]. | | | | GILLS [3,071]. | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Freitag | 231 | 195 | 107 | Marc'h | 213 | 190 | 206 |
| Sinke | 214 | 198 | 222 | Lippe | 213 | 190 | 181 |
| Fuller | 223 | 186 | 176 | Freitag | 187 | 235 | 236 |
| Keegan | 194 | 194 | 212 | Strouse | 210 | 173 | 198 |
| Sowa | 204 | 168 | 194 | Carlson | 203 | 242 | 200 |
| | 1066 | 939 | 971 | | 1026 | 1029 | 1016 |

Budweisers, 3,165; Joseph L. Gills, 3,071; Schlitz [Classic], 3,008; Pabst [Classic], 2,976; Chapin & Gore, 2,965; Bireley's Beverages, 2,952; Vogue Tap Room, 2,942.

Winners in handicap division:

Kobick Hardware, 3,073; Six Acres [Chicago Heights], 3,063; Genell's Gems, 3,040; Angle Inn, 3,031; Monarch Encores [Windy City], 3,018; Bell and Howell Inspection, 3,014; West Penn Tavern, 3,012; Bruno's Modern Inn, 3,002.

The 25th or silver anniversary tournament of the Chicago Women's Bowling association will open at noon today at Queen recreation, 6236 South Ashland avenue, with the first of 648 teams, 949 two woman teams and 1,902 singles in competition.

All except a few teams will shoot during the nine day period ending Jan. 18, the tournament having taken over three floors in the south side recreation center. A few teams are scheduled for the week-end of Jan. 24 and 25.

Most of the teams in the Congress league, recognized as the nation's outstanding women's circuit, will bowl Wednesday. This group includes the world Champion Rovick Bowling shoes five. The defending city champions, the Double Colas, will bowl next Saturday.

BLOUIR VICTOR IN MADISON A. C. AMATEUR BOUT

Pete Blouir, Madison Athletic club heavyweight, scored a second round technical knockout over Arnold Winters when the Illinois A. C. fighter was accidentally fouled in an amateur bout in the Madison arena last night. Altho Blouir opened a cut on Winters' eye with his elbow, Referee Jimmy Lavelle awarded the decision to the Madison representative. Other results:

Milton Little, Union park, beat Glen List, Danville [3], 135.

point honors with 22 points each. Other keymen on the Purdue quintet are Al Menke, sophomore center, and the veteran guard, John Tierney, whose performance has been largely responsible for Purdue's excellent defensive record.

Illinois, which scored a smashing 55 to 40 victory over Wisconsin in the opening game of the season, will seek its second straight against Michigan's twice defeated five in Ann Arbor. The high scoring Illini quintet has been strengthened this year by a quartet of capable sophomores, Andy Phillip, Gene Vance, Ken Menke, and Ed Parker, who have fought their way to starting positions.

Coach Benny Oosterbaan probably will start three sophomores for Michigan, one of whom, Ralph Gibert, will get the call over Capt. Bill Cartmill at forward. Cartmill suffered an injured ankle in the Purdue game.

Iowa Battles Wisconsin.

Iowa will defend its joint hold on first place when it faces Wisconsin in Iowa City. The Badgers' hopes of winning their second consecutive Big Ten championship were rudely jolted by successive defeats by Illinois and Indiana. The Hawkeyes got away to a flying start with victories over Chicago and Michigan.

Balanced scoring and a rugged defense has been responsible for Iowa's successful start. Leading scorers are Tom Chapman with 20 points, Milt Kuhl with 19, and Vic Siegel with 18. The Iowa defense reached its peak when Michigan was held to five field goals in the second half and Chicago scored only three in the second period.

Gophers Host to Hoosiers.

Indiana and Minnesota, who have both felt the sting of Northwestern's revitalized Wildcats, will meet in Minneapolis. The Hoosiers recovered from their defeat by the Wildcats to upset Wisconsin last Monday night, while on the same evening the Gophers were sustaining their first loss of the year at the hands of the Purple, 49 to 38. Both Indiana and Minnesota possess whirlwind attacks and tonight's game should result in a free scoring affair.

GOLF OFFICIALS WON'T TALK ON TOURNEY PLANS

New York, Jan. 9 [Special].—United States Golf association officials tonight refused to say what action they will take concerning this year's championships at the annual meeting tomorrow.

It is generally believed that the tournament schedule will be dropped for the duration of the war as in 1917 and 1918, but no word will be forthcoming until the meeting itself, it was announced. Participating in all-day conferences today were:

Duke Slater, Barney Ross to Address Boys Today

Duke Slater, former Iowa football star, and Barney Ross, former world lightweight and welterweight champion, will address 670 boys at the Illinois State Training School for Boys today in St. Charles, Ill.

STATE AT WHEATON.

East Lansing, Mich., Jan. 9 [Special].—Michigan State's wrestling squad will open the season tomorrow when they meet Wheaton college at Wheaton.

TWO BARANOWSKI EFFORTS BRING ONE LEO VICTORY

Juniors Lose, but Seniors Whip St. Philip.

Henry [Babe] Baranowski, Leo High's football and basketball star, was a busy athlete last night. He attempted to lead the Leo junior and senior quintets, defending champions in the Catholic league, to victories in their opening double header, but succeeded only in the senior contest.

The Leo juniors lost to St. Philip, 22 to 21, but the Lions took the second half of the program in Leo gymnasium, 52 to 18.

The Babe Is Consistent.

Baranowski scored two baskets and one free throw in each game. Jim O'Halloran, forward, was the leading scorer in the senior triumph with seven baskets and one free throw. The Leo juniors were held scoreless in the second period and they trailed, 15 to 7, at the end of the first half.

St. Ignatius and Fenwick won two other league senior games. St. Ignatius won from St. Mel, 35 to 17, and Fenwick triumphed over De Paul, 30 to 23.

De La Salle Wins.

De La Salle, St. Rita and Loyola won the three other senior contests. De La Salle won from Mount Carmel, 35 to 28; St. Rita whipped St. George, 38 to 33, and Loyola won from Weber, 44 to 38. Lineups:

Louis Flattens Buddy Baer in First Round

seemed more nervous than on any night since his return fight with Schmeling. He jiggled from one foot to the other and flexed his arms.

Louis stood with head bowed as he listened to the referee's instructions. Then the bell clanged and Baer charged across the ring. From then on the champion had command.

Joe Wastes a Lot of Work.

While Louis had trained more than a month and had sparred 64 rounds in his Greenwood lake camp, he weighed 206¾ pounds, the top weight of his career. Baer weighed 250 pounds, 12½ pounds more than when the men met in Washington, D. C., last May. In that bout Buddy was disqualified when his seconds refused to leave the ring at the start of the seventh round. They claimed Louis, whom Buddy previously had knocked out of the ring, had committed a foul by striking Baer after the bell ended the sixth round.

Tonight Louis ended all dispute. Buddy was the seventh man to face Louis twice. And tonight, as in each of these preceding battles, Louis turned in a superior fight.

Says Joe's Bigger and Better.

While this fight had been arranged before the attack on Hawaii, it served tonight for a patriotic rally. Park avenue and Harlem mingled at the ringside. The thousands heard greetings read by Wendell Willkie from the navy and, before the bout began, all united in an ovation to Louis in praise of his generosity and sportsmanship.

And when Louis stepped down from the ring, still champion of the world, the renewed applause was an accolade for the career of the world's greatest fighter.

Baer, shaking hands with Wendell Willkie in his dressing room afterward, ruefully reasoned that "it begins to look as if Father Time will have to be in Joe's corner if he's ever going to be beaten." He pointed out that Joe's added weight did the champion a lot of good.

"He should have put the weight on long ago. He hits much harder," said Buddy.

Louis, too, thought the added weight helped him, that he was "punchin' harder and movin' faster."

"But it's jes' another lucky night," he wound up.

ARMY AND NAVY BOXERS ENTER GOLDEN GLOVES

The first entries from the army and navy were received yesterday for competition in the 15th annual Golden Gloves tournament. They were sent by John F. Merkel, private at Camp Grant, and Dale Masak of Navy pier. Both will compete as novices.

These inexperienced fighters, as well as open class contestants, will appear in preliminary trials in St. Sabina and Loyola university gymnasiums. South side tryouts will be held at St. Sabina Jan. 26, 27, and 28, while north side eliminations will be offered at Loyola Jan. 28, 29, and 30. Survivors will qualify for novice and open division championships in the Coliseum Feb. 12. The eight open standard bearers will advance to the Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium Feb. 23, 24, and 25.

Masak, who is only 17 years old and whose home is in Detroit, included a letter with his entry. In addition to the signature, the message contained the famous letter V, signifying victory.

MORTON'S RALLY BEATS NEW TRIER; FIFTH STRAIGHT

Oak Park Wins from Evanston, 40-26.

Morton High, state champion, scored its fifth consecutive victory in the Suburban league last night, defeating New Trier's heavyweight basketball squad, 60 to 36. Chuck Cuda and Ray Leitner starred for the champions, Cuda scoring seven field goals and Leitner contributing six baskets and six free throws. New Trier led, 24 to 23, at the end of the first half.

Oak Park used 17 players in conquering Evanston, 40 to 26, in Oak Park's gymnasium. Forward Giroux was the leading scorer, with five baskets and five free throws. Proviso eked out a 38 to 37 victory over Highland Park in another league heavyweight game. Lineups:

1941 TAX RATE FOR CHICAGO TO REACH NEW PEAK

Indicated Levy Is $9.90 Per $100 Valuation.

A 1941 property tax rate of at least $9.90 for each $100 of assessed valuation—the highest, by far, in the history of Chicago—was indicated last night when the county board of appeals slashed $32,806,379 from Assessor John S. Clark's personal property figure. The previous high rate of $9.52 was set in 1936 and equaled in 1940.

The 1941 personal property assessment for the entire county, as revised downward by Emmett Whealan and Paul Drymalski, the appeals board members, is $516,248,083. Clark's figure was $549,054,462. The revised estimate is $60,872,898 less, or 10.5 per cent, than the similar figure for 1940, which was $577,120,981.

Rate Depends on Valuations.

The revised personalty assessments [assessment values are 37 per cent of full values] are the ones used in computing the tax rate. A decrease in property valuations automatically raises the tax rate if governmental appropriations remain the same, tax experts explained.

Several months ago the Civic Federation estimated that increased funds already appropriated and now being expended by local governments would increase the 1941 tax rate to $9.69. The drop of $60,872,898 in the personal property assessment would then tend to raise the rate about 29 cents to $9.98, tax experts indicate. But Clark expects to raise the real estate assessment some $17,500,000, which may cut the rate down to about $9.90.

City, Country Reductions.

The following tabulation classifies the personalty reductions by city and country townships. There are 30 country townships and 8 city townships—Hyde Park, Jefferson, Lake, Lake View, North, Rogers Park, West and South [which includes the loop district].

| Town- ships. | Assessor's Valua- tion. | Board of Appeals valuation. | Board of Appeals reduction. |
| Country | 68,977,617 | 67,329,411 | 1,648,206 |

The reductions in 1941 personal property valuations as compared to 1940 are accounted for generally by three factors. One of these is a slice of 18 millions in valuations of public utilities as the result of a recent Illinois Supreme court ruling exempting underground conduits from taxation. This case involved the Commonwealth Edison company, but applies to all utilities.

The second factor is the exempting from assessment of 24 millions representing stock shares of companies incorporated outside Illinois but owning tangible property in the state. Another recent Supreme court decision exempts such shares. The third factor has been the large increase in the number of taxpayers filing schedules voluntarily and thus escaping a 50 per cent penalty for failure to file.

WARNS TRAFFIC TOLL MAY RISE WITH POOR TIRES

The National Safety council warned yesterday that an increase in the nation's traffic accident rate may result from the use of inferior automobiles, thin tires, bicycles, horse drawn buggies, and blackouts.

"Since the curtailment of new tires and automobiles was announced, there seems to be a growing belief that accidents will drop," said Sidney J. Williams, the council's director of public safety. "That theory isn't likely to work out. Motorists driving older cars may be unable to keep them in good condition because of a lack of essential parts and they may use tires beyond the point of safety."

Frank O. Bora, 56 years old, 3310 South Leavitt street, died yesterday of injuries suffered Jan. 6 at 35th street and Archer avenue where he was struck by a truck driven by Donovan Murphy, 28, of 4209 South Albany avenue.

Bernard McQuillan, 441 South Clark street, who was struck Thursday by a taxicab at Sherman and Harrison streets, died early today in County hospital of his injuries. He was 64. The driver is William Zwetow, 37, of 3350 West 19th street.

William O. Perkins, 56, of 8150 Ellis avenue, a printer employed by THE TRIBUNE, and his wife, Grace, 54, were injured when their automobile collided with another car at 80th street and Kenwood avenue. George Vassair, 1502 East 73d place, driver of the other car, escaped injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins are in the Jackson Park hospital, both suffering from facial lacerations and knee injuries.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 25 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 16 were killed in Chicago, where 568 were injured in the same period.

Boy, 15, Shot in Thigh While Playing with Gun

George Sutherland, son of Mrs. George F. Sutherland, 5706 Blackstone avenue, was in Billings hospital last night recovering from a .22 caliber bullet wound in the right thigh. The boy, who is 15, said he was playing with a gun belonging to Don Everett, also 15, in the Everett home at 5455 Hyde Park boulevard, when he was shot. The Everett youth is the son of Prof. Harry F. Everett of the mathematics department at the University of Chicago.

Special Primary Is Called in State Senate Vacancy

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9 (AP).—Gov. Green today called a special primary for April 14 in the 36th senatorial district to nominate candidates for the state senate seat of Sen. A. Otis Arnold of Quincy, who died Sept. 11.

Flames Cause $25,000 Loss in Furniture Plant

Fire that was apparently started in the paint shop destroyed most of the 40x100 foot, one story factory building of the Holmquist-Swanson company, makers of juvenile furniture, at 4536 Thomas street early today. Damage was estimated at $25,000 or more by Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan. A five alarm was sounded when it appeared the flames might spread to nearby defense materials plants. However, the fire was under control in about an hour. Fireman William Springer was slightly injured.

Revoke Order to Close CCC Camp in State Park

A request by Walter Rosenfield, state director of public works, to countermand the order closing a civilian conservation corps camp at Chain of Lakes State park, near Fox Lake, was granted yesterday by CCC officials in Washington. The camp originally had been scheduled to close Jan. 15. Rosenfield said that most of the men in the camp are veterans of the first World war and that their work was essential to the upkeep of a 4,500 acre recreational area.

Countess de Perigny.

New York, Jan. 9 [Special].—The Countess de Perigny, the former Margaret Thaw of Pittsburgh, Pa., died today at her home, Kongoni Farm, Naivasha, Kenya Colony, British East Africa, according to word received here. She was born on Jan. 3, 1877, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Copley Thaw and a granddaughter of Josiah Copley, Pennsylvania newspaper editor. She was married to George Lauder Carnegie, a nephew of Andrew Carnegie, in 1898, and on Nov. 12, 1923, was married to Count Roger de Perigny, in Paris.

Miss Mary Sweeney

Miss Mary Sweeney, born at 18th and Clark streets 79 years ago, died yesterday in the home in which she had lived for 74 years, 2538 Normal avenue. It was this home that, undamaged in the great fire of 1871, was thrown open by her father, Timothy, to neighbors until they could find domiciles or rebuild. A brother of Miss Sweeney, Mathew, died a month ago and another, Timothy, was taken to Mercy hospital two days ago. Funeral services will be held Monday morning in All Saints' Catholic church.

Mrs. Cecilia Taylor.

Funeral services for Mrs. Cecilia Taylor, 1016 Grove avenue, Waukegan, who died Thursday, will be held Monday afternoon in Christ Episcopal church, Waukegan. Mrs. Taylor was the wife of William A. Taylor, retired farmer and merchant. She was 72 years old. She is survived by a brother, William Thommessen of Kenosha, and two sisters, Catherine Thommessen of Waukegan, and Mrs. Gertrude McClure of Gurnee.

Albert F. Bridges.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 1 p. m. for Albert Franklin Bridges, well known wholesale grocer who died Thursday night after a short illness. He was 60 years old. Mr. Bridges was born in Carbondale, Ill., and came to Chicago in 1893. His widow, one daughter, and four sons survive. The services will be held at 1460 Sherman avenue, Evanston. He lived at 1015 Oak street, Winnetka.

Frederic W. Rhinelander.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 9 (AP).—Frederic William Rhinelander, 82 years old, prominent in New York and Newport society, died today at his home here. A brother of the late Bishop Philip M. Rhinelander and the late Thomas Newbold Rhinelander, he was graduated from Harvard in 1882.

EDWARD PROBST, ARCHITECT, FOR 50 YEARS, DEAD

Many Major Buildings Designed by His Firm.

Edward Probst, for 50 years a Chicago architect, died yesterday in his home, 1037 Forest avenue, River Forest, after a long illness. He was 71 years old.

Mr. Probst was born in Chicago and began his career as an architect in 1893. Eight years later he joined D. H. Burnham & Co., which then was operated by Burnham, Ernest R. Graham, Edward C. Shankland, and Charles B. Atwood.

Last Original Firm Member.

Mr. Probst remained until his death with that firm, which subsequently became known as Graham, Anderson, Probst, and White and was one of the oldest and largest architectural organizations in the country.

Mr. Probst was the last of the original members to survive. The firm will be carried on by his sons, Edward E. and Marvin G. Probst.

Among the major buildings for which Graham, Anderson, Probst, and White were architects were the Merchandise mart, the Field building, the Union station, the Postoffice building, the Pittsfield building, and the Marshall Field & Co. buildings in State street.

Busy on Puerto Rico Base.

In addition, they were architects for the Pennsylvania railroad station in Philadelphia and the Cleveland, O., Terminal group. At the time of Mr. Probst's death the firm was engaged with the 4¾ million dollar Borinquen army air base in Puerto Rico.

Surviving Mr. Probst are his widow, Mrs. Clara S. Probst, and his two sons. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the residence. Burial will be in Acacia Park cemetery.

PIGEON EXODUS EVOKES TEARS AT STATEHOUSE

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9 (AP)—Tears flowed for an hour in the statehouse today when 200 pigeons and starlings were driven out after taking refuge in the capitol dome during the cold wave.

Statehouse employés have been walking gingerly about the rotunda underneath the circling birds for a week. Charles D. Malloy, the building superintendent, got tired today of assigning a special crew to mop up after the invaders.

Fumigating candles and sulphur were burned in the dome and soon the fumes spread thru most of the building. Some state workers left the building and others carried on with tears streaming down their cheeks. Malloy said most of the birds were driven out thru a window.

Three Firemen Killed Fighting St. Paul Blaze

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 9 (AP).—Three firemen were overcome by smoke and died today while fighting a blaze in a two story structure adjoining the St. Paul Athletic club. The victims were District Chief Frank Minogue; Capt. Tom Kell, and Fireman Russell Hunt. The burned building was used for an office furniture display. Damage was estimated at $35,000.

JOHN E. BRENNAN, HEAD OF GRAIN COMMISSION HOUSE, IS DEAD AT 61

John E. Brennan.

John E. Brennan, a member of the city civil service commission and head of the grain commission house bearing his name, died yesterday in his home at 1128 North Shore avenue. He was born in Chicago 61 years ago and had been a member of the Chicago Board of Trade since 1907, serving as director from 1931 to 1940 and being named first vice president in 1940. Surviving are his widow, Catherine Moore Brennan; two sons, John E. Brennan Jr. and Robert J. Brennan, both serving in the navy, and two daughters, Mrs. John Craddock and Miss Catherine Brennan. Services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Monday in St. Ignatius church.

FLYING STUDENT, HAZED ON SOLO, DROWNS IN POOL

Sarasota, Fla., Jan. 9 (AP).—State's Attorney Clyde Wilson said today that Alfred Lloyd, 19 years old, RAF cadet, drowned Sunday at Carlstrom field when fellow students ducked him in a swimming pool while hazing him after he had made his first solo flight.

Wilson said Lloyd's death was entirely accidental and that he had left further investigation in the hands of military authorities. John Paul Riddle, operator of the school, said military authorities were making an investigation.

"It was all in fun, and Lloyd was not thrown into the pool against his wishes," Wilson said. He said Lloyd apparently suffered an attack of cramps because of the cold water and drowned.

100 Residents of Flats Driven Out by Flames

A woman was injured and 100 other Negro residents fled into the cold last night as the result of a fire in the 27 apartment building at 5527-29 South Michigan avenue. Twenty-five babies were removed from the building by their parents and given shelter in a nearby tavern and a theater at 108 East 55th street. Mamie Hamilton had both legs fractured when she jumped from a third floor window.

BOOST REFINED SUGAR CEILINGS 1-5c PER POUND

Retail Price Effects to Be Delayed.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—Refiners were authorized today to increase the price of refined sugar 20 cents a hundred pounds. Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced that wholesale prices were being adjusted proportionately, but declared the action "should have no immediate effect upon the price of refined sugar at retail."

"Retailers are now selling supplies which they acquired at lower prices," Henderson said, adding that he thought retailers could "be depended upon to delay any price increase until their present stocks on hand are exhausted, and they must pay higher wholesale prices for replacement supplies."

[Another Washington dispatch yesterday said that government authorities were considering rationing of sugar to all consumers to halt what was described as an unwarranted hoarding epidemic. Officials have declared that sugar supplies are ample for all needs and will continue to be sufficient, but that excessive buying by consumers in some areas has created temporary local shortages.]

Raw Sugar Was Raised.

Other official sources said that that when the increase was passed on to the public, it should not amount to more than one cent on five pounds of sugar.

Adjustment of the refined price ceiling was necessary, Henderson said, because it is intended to compensate in part for a recent 24 cent increase in the ceiling price on raw cane sugar. This raised the raw price to $3.74 a hundred, New York basis.

Wholesalers, under the revised schedule, may choose between two levels in selecting their maximum basic prices. They may take the highest price at which they sold similar grades in the period Oct. 6 to 11, 1941, or the period Dec. 1 and 6, 1941. To the maximum basic price thus chosen, the wholesaler may add any actual increase in net purchase cost of sugar bought after that date. Before making any sales at prices reflecting higher net purchase costs, however, he must dispose of his entire inventory of lower cost sugars.

Ceilings Vary with Type.

For fine granulated sugar processed by United States cane refineries, 5.45 cents a pound, F. O. B. refinery.

For beet sugar manufactured in continental United States, 5.35 cents a pound, F. O. B. seaboard cane sugar refinery.

For partially or completely processed mainland cane sugar, 5.35 cents a pound, F. O. B. seaboard cane refinery nearest the delivery point.

For raw cane sugar, domestic or imported, for direct consumption, 4.60 cents a pound, United States mainland shipping point, including all taxes and duty.

Limitations Being Revised.

It was announced also that the Office of Production Management was working on a revised sugar limitation order, which is expected to supersede the present order about Feb. 1.

The new order will be similar to the original one, except that it will permit deliveries of sugar to commercial and industrial users in any period of 1942, only in the amount used by the receiver in the corresponding period of 1941. The original order based monthly deliveries in 1942 on deliveries for the corresponding month in 1940.

A. E. Bowman, chief of the sugar section of OPM's food supply branch, said the revised order is contemplated in order to compensate for population shifts to defense areas since 1940, and for businesses which were started or were expanded since 1940.

Plan Big Moline Tank Arsenal; Try to Protect Farm Tool Labor

New Factory Plans

Moline, Ill., Jan. 9 [Special].—The quad-city industrial area, in peacetime a center of farm implement manufacture, is expected to be transformed soon into a tank arsenal, with International Harvester company plants taking a leading rôle, it was learned today.

The war department was reported negotiating for purchase of a large plant at Bettendorf, Ia., near Davenport, from the Bettendorf company, railway equipment maker. The structure would be used to assemble tanks manufactured by International Harvester with the aid of other factories in the quad-cities of Rock Island, Moline, and East Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Ia.

Conversion Being Rushed.

Swift conversion of farm implement factories in the quad-city area is being pushed by the industry, the Office of Production Management, and the army.

The army needs a tremendous expansion in tank construction facilities to fulfill President Roosevelt's goal of 120,000 tanks by the end of 1943. Also, employment must be provided thousands of workers in the industry who are being thrown out of their jobs by the recent OPM order curtailing production to an average of 83 per cent of new farm equipment made in 1940.

Negotiations between International Harvester and the army ordnance department for a tank contract are reported near completion.

Capacity of Industry.

The farm implement industry's capacity for war production, assuming its normal output was cut 50 per cent below 1939 levels, was estimated recently in dollar value at 231 millions by Walter H. Wheeler Jr., deputy director of the OPM contract distribution division. He indicated that the facilities were suited for conversion to tank construction. What portion of the capacity is in the quad-city area was not specified.

Farm equipment companies which have plants in the area include Deere & Co. and Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement company in Moline; J. I. Case company and Farmall tractor plant of International Harvester at Rock Island, and International Harvester and John Deere harvester and spreader works at East Moline.

Study Worker Shift

An industry-wide policy governing the seniority status of farm equipment workers displaced by government curtailment orders or transferred to war industries was studied yesterday at a joint conference of Office of Production Management, labor, and industry representatives in the Congress hotel.

Eric A. Nicol.

The conference was called by Eric A. Nicol, executive officer of the OPM labor division, as a preliminary step to formulation of a blanket policy for the farm equipment industry to be announced later by Sidney Hillman, OPM associate director general.

In Midst of Changeover.

Nicol explained that the farm equipment industry with 1,100 plants employing 96,000 workers, is in the throes of the changeover from peacetime to war production.

He declared that the industry policy would safeguard the seniority rights of workers who have been laid off, who are working less than a full week, or who are not employed at their regular trade. These workers would be permitted to take employment in war industries without impairment of seniority, but they would be subject to call by their original employer when he can furnish full-time war industry employment.

Those at Meeting.

Among the companies represented at the conference were International Harvester company, Deere & Co., Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement company, Massey-Harris company, J. I. Case company, Caterpillar Tractor company, Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, and Oliver Farm Equipment company.

Among the AFL and CIO representatives were David Sigman, AFL regional director at Milwaukee; Fullerton Fulton, CIO regional director, and De Witt Gilpin, educational director of the CIO Farm Equipment Workers Organizing committee. AFL machinists, blacksmiths, and farm equipment workers also were represented.

U. S. SEES NEED FOR MANY MORE ARMS WORKERS

May Double, Triple Force: Hillman.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 [Special]. Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management, estimated today that the number of workers in America's war industries must be doubled or trebled to meet President Roosevelt's increased schedule for armament output. He spoke before a meeting of the federal security advisory council.

The OPM official said that during the conversion of plants from peacetime to wartime uses "a temporary displacement of workers is inevitable," but that there will be no unemployment when the arsenal job gathers speed.

Hillman said the hiring of skilled workers will become increasingly difficult and that "we might even run into man power shortages." He urged intensive training of additional industrial workers.

10 Million More Workers.

Louis Levine, federal employment service analyst, estimated 17,500,000 workers, or more than 10,000,000 above the number now employed in war industries, would be required by the end of 1942 to produce the war materials under the President's $56,000,000,000 program.

Levine said that of the number needed 4,000,000 would be new workers and 6,000,000 drawn from nonessential industries.

William S. Knudsen and Hillman, in a joint OPM statement, said "there is no legal barrier" to employment of aliens in war industries except in plants turning out secret weapons.

Place for All Loyal Persons.

Declaring the "aims of democracy" demand that every able bodied alien of unquestioned loyalty be employed, they said:

"In all-out war production we must utilize every human resource with sanity, with common sense, and the conviction that no one shall be denied opportunity to participate in the war effort because of race, creed, color, or national origin."

The American Federation of Labor, in its monthly publication, called for full coöperation between employers and employés "to overcome the axis' head start" in production of planes, tanks, and guns.

"The six months just ahead," the statement continued, "is the crucial period for labor and industry when swift conversion must bring every possible plant and worker into the war effort."

ELECT TAYLOR TO CONTINENTAL BANK'S BOARD

Present Directors All Renamed.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

After hearing Chairman Walter J. Cummings review the 1941 operations, shareholders of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company yesterday reëlected all present directors and added one new member to the board. The new director is Frank F. Taylor, senior vice president of the bank's trust department.

Frank F. Taylor.

Prior to the annual meeting of shareholders, the old board met and voted a semiannual dividend of $2 a share on the 1,500,000 shares of stock outstanding. The dividend, which is to be distributed Feb. 2 to stockholders of record Jan. 20, maintains the rate which has been in effect since the beginning of 1940.

Surplus Account Boosted.

Announcing the dividend, Chairman Cummings commented on the disposition made of the bank's 1941 earnings which were slightly more than 15 million dollars.

Six million dollars, he said, was paid out in dividends and 10 million dollars was added to the surplus account, raising the latter to 50 million dollars. The directors, he said, pursued sound and conservative policy in the disposition of the profits.

"Our earnings were good and the bank is in a strong position," he added.

The new board met immediately after the shareholders' meeting and promoted two officers to full vice presidencies and elected eight new officers. The new vice presidents are Spencer L. Hart and Fred M. Naber. Both were formerly second vice presidents.

New Officers Are Named.

New officers in the commercial banking department, all assistant cashiers, are Harry L. Jones, Wilfred E. Resseguie, Leslie A. Anderson, Harry V. Dyke, Millard S. McGuffin, and Paul E. Miller. Osmond A. Jackson of the New York office of the bank was also made an assistant cashier. Holly P. Blessing was made an assistant secretary of the trust department.

Taylor's election to the board increased the membership to 17. Taylor has been in charge of the bank's trust department since March 18, 1929, when the present bank was formed thru the consolidation of the Continental National Bank and Trust company and the Illinois Merchants Trust company. Prior to that time he was a vice president of Illinois Merchants.

The 1941 operations of the bank, results of which were previously made public, were reviewed by Chairman Cummings at the shareholders meeting. The resources of the bank now exceed 1¾ billion dollars, increasing approximately 174 millions in the last 12 months.

Chicago Steel Rate May Fall; Scrap Needed

Further curtailment of Chicago district ingot steel production because of the scrap iron shortage is likely to result next month, or possibly sooner, unless the flow of scrap into the area substantially increases, steel men said yesterday. For many months scrap reserves have been dwindling, and recent developments have further aggravated the situation.

Leigh B. Block.

Cold weather has reduced the scrap industry's production. Drastic reduction of motor car output has discouraged scrapping of older cars. Automobile plants also have produced large amounts of scrap thru their operations, considerably more than many types of arms plants, and their scrap production is further curtailed during the transition from automobile to arms production.

Inland Faces New Cut.

Inland Steel company, only Chicago district producer which so far has reduced its steel output because of the scrap shortage, may face further curtailments, soon, Leigh B. Block, vice president, said.

Early in December, Inland cut its steel production about 10 per cent and since has been operating only a few points over 90 per cent of capacity. Neither Inland nor Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, the district's largest producer, contemplates a reduction in steel output next week.

Seek OPM Allocations.

Carnegie-Illinois officials described the scrap situation as "tight," but declined any predictions as to when it will affect their plants' production schedules.

So far Inland Steel is the only Chicago district producer to receive a direct allocation of scrap iron from the Office of Production Management, but steel men said other companies operating in the district have sought such allocations.

In virtually all of the nation's steel producing districts at least some open hearth furnaces have been shut down because of inadequate scrap supplies.

WAGE GAIN OUTSTRIPS RISE OF LIVING COSTS FOR FACTORY WORKER

New York, Jan. 9 (AP).—The purchasing power of employés in manufacturing industries continued to rise in 1941 despite an increase in the cost of living, the National Industrial Conference board said today.

Average weekly wages in November, 1941, were 20 per cent higher than in November, 1940, while the cost of living was up 9 per cent in that period.

The board's index of real weekly earnings [that is, the index of weekly wages adjusted for changes in the index of the cost of living] has been rising since January, 1938, except for a few temporary interruptions.

From January, 1938, until early in 1941 there was little net change in the cost of living. Average weekly earnings, however, increased 34 per cent so that real weekly earnings also increased at an average rate of about 1 per cent monthly.

Ersatz Fabric No Match for Russian Cold

Failure of Germany's touted ersatz fabrics to protect Nazi soldiers from Russia's winter weather is playing as deadly a rôle as bullets in the invaders' retreat on the eastern front, an analysis of world wool supplies indicated yesterday.

Reporting a crippling shortage of wool in Germany, the American Wool council declared that German troops by the tens of thousands are freezing on Russian battlefields in uniforms that contain a third or more of synthetic materials. It said that many Germans who escaped freezing to the ground are lying in hospitals in Germany and conquered nations, their arms or legs lost because their clothing was not warm enough.

Civilians Poorly Clothed.

Behind the shivering armies, the council said, are millions of insufficiently clothed civilians in Germany and the overrun countries of the continent.

Reporting that Germany's raw wool supply has been exhausted, the council declared that the reich's armies have tried unsuccessfully to avert a wool shortage by a systematic seizure of woolen goods in the households of the invaded countries.

"Germany early realized her desperate need to augment wool supplies," the report said. "She has conducted an organized looting of the wool supplies of occupied countries which has left the larger part of Europe's people shivering. Hitler's soldiers made house to house canvasses requiring householders to deliver up wool sweaters, blankets, socks, and other knitted clothing.

Norway Stripped of Wool.

"It is reported the Germans visited nearly all of the 442,000 households in Norway, taking 3,500,000 blankets and an unknown quantity of sweaters, sheepskin coats, underwear, and socks."

Since the war began, Germany has had access only to supplies of raw wool accumulated before the war by "sharp barter deals," the council said. These reserves were estimated at 500 million pounds. In addition, the reich had built up a stock of uniform materials.

Meantime, German textile makers were required to use specified percentages of synthetic fibers in goods for home use. Even the army private's uniform at the beginning of the war was 30 per cent "ersatz" and the proportion has been increased since, the council said. Serviceability and protective qualities diminished as less wool was used, the report added.

Democracies Control Supply.

Declaring that Germany's "grim situation is strikingly similar to that which existed in the winter of 1918 and contributed materially to the surrender," the council observed that the world's wool supplies are now "firmly held by North America, South America, and Great Britain."

The analysis emphasized the large amount of wool required to clothe a soldier. It said an American soldier would have to have 279 pounds of wool for uniforms and replacements each year for fighting in a climate such as that of the northwestern states.

SPIEGEL SALES DURING 1941 SET ALL-TIME HIGH

Spiegel, Inc., Chicago mail order house, reported yesterday that sales for December and 1941 established new all time high marks. Sales in December amounted to $7,509,264, an increase of 11 per cent over the $6,758,542 volume in the same 1940 month.

The company sold $57,039,995 in merchandise during 1941, compared with $53,477,323 in the preceding year, an increase of 6 per cent.

S. H. Kress & Co., New York variety chain store operator, reported sales of $17,376,051 for December, against $15,732,229 in 1940, an increase of 10.4 per cent. Sales for 1941 amounted to $101,389,664, an increase of 14.8 per cent over the preceding year total of $88,299,960.

OPPOSE FURTHER FEDERALIZATION OF JOB OFFICES

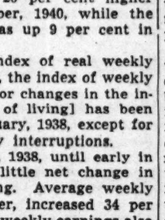
The Illinois Chamber of Commerce yesterday asked coöperation of the state's 225 local chambers of commerce in opposing any further federalization of unemployment compensation administration.



C. G. Ferris.

In a letter to these business groups, C. G. Ferris, the state chamber's executive vice president, charged the social security board seeks to take control of unemployment compensation administration from the states without obtaining approval of congress. He cited the board's recent action in assuming jurisdiction over the taking of unemployment compensation claims.

The chamber said it has called the situation to the attention of Illinois congressmen.

CIO Union Is Winner in Swift & Co. Election

The Packing House Workers' Organizing committee [CIO], in an election held yesterday, won the right to be sole bargaining agent for the maintenance and operating workers in the Chicago plant of Swift & Co. The CIO unit polled 2,662 votes and the Independent Packing House union 1,180. A total of 660 workers declared opposition to both unions. The election was supervised by Charles A. Graham and Ross P. Madden of the National Labor Relations board.

NAVY PREPARING NEW 4 MILLION BUYING PROGRAM

The navy department is preparing to buy more than 4 million dollars' worth of equipment which Chicago area manufacturers may be able to make, Thomas S. McEwan, district manager of the Office of Production Management contract distribution division, announced yesterday.

Among the prospective purchases listed by McEwan are $776,000 for wire, $644,000 for amatol, $456,000 for fuses, $263,000 for anchor chain, $261,000 for valves, $375,000 for tools, $206,000 for marine cable, $150,000 for fiber helmets, and $95,000 for cotton mattresses.

PAPER CLIP TOSSING, RUBBER BAND PLAY OUT FOR REST OF WAR

Chicago stationers yesterday said the supply of rubber bands, erasers and other office supplies made of rubber will last only two or three months unless reclaimed rubber can be processed for those purposes. Supplies of paper clips, brass fasteners and other metal items are also short.

ALABAMA POWER ASKS BIDS ON 80 MILLION ISSUE

Alabama Power company, Commonwealth and Southern corporation subsidiary, announced yesterday it will receive bids Jan. 19 on 80 million dollars of first mortgage bonds due in 1972. The company also will sell 12 million dollars of notes.

Proceeds will be applied on purchase of all seven issues of the company's outstanding bonds, totaling 95 million dollars.

The Pennsylvania Electric company, Johnstown, Pa., filed with the Securities and Exchange commission in Washington a 32½ million dollar issue of first mortgage bonds, due 1972, and 34,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock, $100 par value. The securities will be sold thru competitive bidding, proceeds to be used principally for refunding purposes.

SCHANIEL NAMED LAKE SHORE BANK VICE PRESIDENT

Election of officers and directors by several banks in the Chicago area yesterday resulted in few changes in executive personnel.

Charles J. Schaniel, assistant vice president of the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank, was elevated to vice president, and Joseph P. Cummings, assistant trust officer, was named trust officer. All other officers and directors were reëlected.

William Zander was elected assistant cashier of the Main State bank, the only change reported among officers and directors of the bank. All officers and directors of both the Cicero State bank and the Pioneer Trust and Savings bank were reëlected.

Railroad to Speed Train Schedules to Milwaukee

Service between Chicago and Milwaukee will be speeded starting Monday, the Milwaukee road announced yesterday. Fourteen of the 27 trains that run daily between the two cities will make the 85 miles in 75 minutes from start to stop. Four will make the trip in 80 minutes and others will operate on 85 and 90 minute schedules. Also starting Monday six fast trains will be operated without change of cars between Chicago, Milwaukee and Green Bay, Wis.

BUY FIVE TRAINS OF COTTONSEED OIL FOR FOODS

Purchase of approximately five trainloads of cottonseed oil yesterday to make shortenings, oleomargarine, mayonnaise, and salad oil was reported in vegetable oil trade quarters. The buyers paid southern and southwestern producers 12½ to 12⅝ cents a pound, the limit permitted by the Office of Price Administration.

The purchase is one of the largest ever reported. It involved more than 18 million pounds of crude cottonseed oil, approximately 300 tank cars. Brokers said the prices paid for the oil indicated it would go into foods, as it sold too high for industrial uses.

Trade rumors said the oil was bought in the name of the Office of Production Management, which is expected to relax its limits placed on manufacturer's inventories Tuesday or Wednesday. The oil will be held in reserve, subject to transfer to the OPM if a shortage should develop, according to the trade.

TRUSTEES OF BIG UTILITY FILE SUIT FOR 11 MILLIONS

New York, Jan. 9 (AP).—Two suits for a total of $11,183,786 were filed in federal court today by the trustees of the Associated Gas and Electric corporation. The first, for $10,881,743, named as defendants the Public National Bank and Trust company, depository, and four escrow agents under a debt rearrangement plan for the Associated Gas and Electric company in 1933.

The bank was charged with acting in bad faith in failing to present for payment in 1938 debt certificates held in behalf of some 100,000 investors. A resolution adopted by the escrow agents, directing the bank not to cash the certificates until directed to do so by the agents, was not competent to justify the bank's omission, it was charged.

The second suit demanded the return of $302,043 in fees paid by the corporation to the bank.

China Pushes Production of Tungsten and Antimony

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 9 (AP).—China is bending to the task of supplying two vital war materials—tungsten and antimony—to the united nations in the battle against the axis. In Chungking today a Chinese government spokesman, broadcasting in English, declared "China is doing everything to increase production of these war essentials."

Order Engraving Company to Stop Union Interference

CAUTION RULES TRADE AS CURBS OF WAR ARE FELT

New York, Jan. 9 (AP).—Intensification of the war effort made itself felt in all phases of business in the week ended Wednesday, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., said today in its weekly review.

"A tightening of curbs on civilian industries mixed the production trend altho the increase in war goods output was sufficient to raise the total to pre-holiday record levels," the agency said.

"Wholesale markets, opening for spring ordering, found sellers cautious in accepting forward business and buyers anxious to insure deliveries while maintaining flexibility of inventory.

December Employment by Rails Tops Year Ago

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—The nation's class 1 railroads reported today they had 1,184,536 employés in December, an increase of 15.51 per cent over December, 1940, but a decrease of 1.45 per cent compared with November, 1941.

Furniture Industry Avoiding Inflationary Price Increases

The furniture industry is demonstrating its willingness to coöperate with the government in the war on inflation by avoiding price increases, Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the American Merchandise Mart, said yesterday.

In a semi-annual report to the American Furniture Mart board of governors, Whiting said that despite shortages of some materials and a healthy buying tone at the National Furniture and Home Furnishings show, now in progress in the mart, no price advances have been discovered.

Whiting's report was verified by Dr. James F. Bogardus, chief of the Office of Price Administration's durable goods division, who addressed several meetings of the group. Bogardus warned earlier that any price increases which might be interpreted as leading to inflation would be halted.

Buying Is Down Slightly.

"Buying is slightly below the volume at the January market last year, due to restricted lines and manufacturers' inability to deliver more home furnishings," Whiting said. He estimated that 27 per cent of the industry's facilities can be devoted to armament production.

"Studies are being made at the American Furniture mart this week for keeping six months in advance of requirements for furniture," Whiting declared. He said the government is eager to keep the 300,000 workers in the industry gainfully employed.

Attendance at the show thru yesterday was 7,954, a drop of 18 per cent from the 9,579 total in the same period a year ago, it was announced. The drop was attributed to the severe cold spell.

Confusion Over Ruling.

Representatives of the floor covering division of the International Home Furnishings market in the Merchandise Mart expressed confusion over the OPA ruling which curtails wool consumption and permits a 5 per cent price increase for all goods produced after the date of the order.

Under the order the prevailing price ceiling on distributors' inventories is maintained, but manufacturers are permitted to raise prices 5 per cent on stock on hand or future production. Manufacturers have complained that buyers are placing orders with distributors to avoid the price increase.

Attendance at the market for the first five days totaled 6,952, a decrease of 11 per cent from the 7,763 record total in the same period last year, it was announced.

SET MARKET DATES.

Dates for the spring and summer National Furniture and Home Furnishing markets were set last night by the board of governors of the American Furniture Mart. The spring market was scheduled for April 27-May 2, and the major summer market for July 6-18.

ORDERS JOBBERS TO PROVE LOSS IN GASOLINE SUIT

Madison, Wis., Jan. 9 (AP).—Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone said today he would suspend the trial of 25 damage suits by middle western oil jobbers against 10 major oil companies unless the jobbers could prove that they lost money thru a conspiracy by the companies to raise gasoline prices.

S. O. Leonard of Lidgerwood, N. D., is suing the Socony Vacuum Oil Company, Inc., and other firms convicted in the so-called "Madison oil case" in 1938. Also pending are 24 other suits in which jobbers seek damages of about a million dollars under the Sherman anti-trust law.

Judge Stone said he relied upon a decision of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals that a gasoline jobber had no claim for damages if the price increase resulting from the conspiracy was passed on to his customers.

Upturn in Auto Output Follows Schedule Change

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 9 (AP).—Estimating the current week's output of the nation's automobile plants at 60,190 cars and trucks, Wards Reports, Inc., said today the upturn marked the start of revamped January production schedules. Last week's production was estimated at 18,535 units. In the initial full week of 1941, the survey said, 115,935 cars and trucks were assembled.

RALLY BY RAILS GIVES STOCKS A RECOVERY TINGE

Tax Worries Continue Big Restraint for Many.

New York, Jan. 9 (AP).—The stock market developed a fair rally in rails and specialties today but permitted many other groups to struggle in lower territory. The carriers had all the best of it at the start and the majority finished not far from the tops of the day.

Final advances of fractions to about 2 points were well distributed at the finish, altho numerous losses of equal amounts made for considerable irregularity.

There was nothing startling in the general news. Little stimulation was derived from war developments and tax worries continued to keep many issues in the background.

Sugar Shares Shoot Up.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 37.8 after three successive declining sessions. Transfers totaled 654,490 shares compared with 532,000 the day before.

The transportation group still was buoyed by hopes for higher freight and passenger rates and the thought that automobile restrictions would return long absent traffic to the roads.

A report that rationing of sugar is being considered touched off a belated advance in shares of producing concerns in Puerto Rico but further depressed stocks of soft drink manufacturers. New 1941-'42 highs were recorded for South Puerto Rico Sugar and Fajardo Sugar.

Patino Mines also hit a peak level for the last year, as this big Bolivian tin producer was expected to benefit from curtailment of imports from the far east. Coca-Cola and Pepsi-Cola slipped again to new lows.

CHICAGO LIST FIRMS.

Prices moved unevenly into higher ground on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transactions involving 20,000 shares and 85 issues. Of the total, 37 advanced, 23 declined and 25 closed unchanged.

Chicago corporation, which closed unchanged from Thursday, was the volume leader with 4,350 shares traded. Of other heavily traded stocks, Central and South West and Commonwealth Edison closed unchanged, General Motors declined ⅞ and Middle West declined ¼.

In the half hour after the New York close General Motors, W. B. Jarvis and Pressed Steel Car declined ⅛ each and General American Transportation advanced 1.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL FINED $8,000 FOR GRANTING CREDIT

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday fined the Illinois Central railroad and William Haywood, general freight traffic manager for the road, $8,000 and $1,000, respectively, for violation of the Elkins act, which prohibits railroads from granting unfair concessions to shippers.

Assistant District Attorney Lawrence Miller said that the Illinois Central had granted certain commission men unduely long credits which enabled them to do business virtually on railroad credit. This gave the group of the credit an advantage over other produce commission men who had to operate on a cash basis in paying freight charges.

A number of other railroads and their freight officials recently were convicted and fined on similar charges. When the cases were brought to the attention of the court, railroad attorneys said the roads welcomed the court action which enabled them to get rid of a costly practice that had grown up over the years.

SAVINGS GROUPS REPORT GAINS IN SHARE ACCOUNTS

First Federal Resources Reach 12 Millions.

Annual statements being issued currently by federally chartered savings and loan associations in Chicago disclose a uniform upward trend in the institutions' resources, in the savings invested by their customers in share accounts, and in the reserves which are set aside to protect the investments.

An increase of more than 19 per cent in total resources, to $12,035,309 at the end of 1941 against $10,046,031 on Dec. 31, 1940, was reported by First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago. Liquid assets in the form of United States government obligations and cash constituted $1,615,412, or 13.5 per cent, of the 1941 year-end total.

Loans Rise Over a Million.

A principal resource, Morton Bodfish, president, said, was a total of $10,231,083 of loans, including first mortgage loans to 2,306 residential property owners. A year earlier the association had $8,789,912 of real estate loans, including 1,971 first liens.

Savings and investment share accounts rose to $9,176,715, from $8,999,202 on Dec. 31, 1940, and reserves were raised to $483,238, from $328,111.

Home Federal Savings and Loan association of Chicago reported a rise in total resources to $10,732,962, from $8,374,776 a year earlier. Charles A. Zundalek, president, said 11,183 individuals, firms, or corporations had $7,150,532 invested with the association at the year-end. A year earlier 9,037 accounts were reported and the savings were $5,985,532. Reserves increased to $229,770, from $146,107.

Talman Profits Larger.

Talman Federal Savings and Loan association of Chicago, of which James Liba is president, announced that its total assets reached $9,311,000, compared with $7,435,912 at the end of 1940. Savings and share accounts were $7,163,403, against $6,123,090, and reserves and undivided profits were $408,918, compared with $264,800.

Justin Mackiewich, president of Standard Federal Savings and Loan association of Chicago, reported his company's assets rose to $7,164,439, from $5,878,338. Reserves and undivided profits were $568,482, against $429,683. First mortgage loans totaled $5,840,084, compared with $5,185,376 at the end of 1940.

Western Federal Savings and Loan association issued a six month comparison showing that its assets increased to $5,004,553, from $4,676,412 on June 30, 1941; reserves and undivided profits to $332,208, against $288,379, and first mortgage real estate loans to $4,489,152, compared with $4,285,692.

U. S. GETS DATA ON EXTENSION OF CROP INSURANCE

Washington, Jan. 9 (AP).—The Federal Crop Insurance corporation reported today it had made progress in research looking to the extension of production insurance to growers of corn, tobacco, rice, and citrus fruits.

The corporation is now authorized to insure growers against losses on wheat and cotton crops, resulting from drouth, floods, freezes, hail, insects, and other hazards. Wheat insurance has been in effect since 1939, and is being offered on cotton for the first time.

Under the wheat and cotton plan, growers pay a premium based on a crop loss history of their farms. Farmers are insured for either 50 or 75 per cent of their normal production.

The corporation said it had collected corn yield data records from 20,000 farms in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Kentucky.

40C IS CHARGED DOWNSTATE FOR 25C ANTI-FREEZE

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 9 [Special].—Prices of anti-freeze for auto radiators went up to 40 cents a quart for solutions marked 25 cents here today, when the majority of filling stations ran out of all brands and dealers announced they cannot obtain more. Manufacturers warned last fall that chemicals used in anti-freeze compounds are required for production of explosives.

Isolated instances of profiteering on used tires were reported, with some dealers asking $20 for tires that sold for $5 a month ago. Most places, however, have posted prices that show $9 to $10 for tires that were $5 a month ago.

Recapping firms are behind the demand and taking orders for delivery 30 or more days hence. The first tire sold in St. Clair county under the rationing program went today to Frank Powell, Millstadt coal hauler.

Standard Co. Assumes Jap Insurance Liabilities

W. Ross McCain, president of the Aetna Insurance company, Hartford, Conn., said yesterday that all liabilities of the United States branches of the Tokio Marine and Fire Insurance Co., Ltd., and the Meiji Fire Insurance Co., Ltd., have been assumed by the Standard Insurance Company of New York. Aetna purchased Standard Insurance last May. McCain issued the statement to "allay any misunderstanding" that may have been caused by recent legal advertisments of the New York insurance department's liquidation bureau.

Award for Civic Service Finds No One Is Worthy

The Junior Association of Commerce of Chicago announced yesterday that the distinguished service award given annually to a Chicago man between the ages of 21 and 35 for outstanding civic accomplishments would not be presented for 1941 for lack of a worthy candidate.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

F. J. Carr.

Election of F. J. Carr as vice president of finance of the American Steel and Wire company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, was announced yesterday. Ogden Ashley has been made assistant to Carr. Carr was controler of the Tennessee Valley authority four years, and became assistant to the president of the steel company in 1938.

J. F. Molony, vice president of the Binkley Coal company, has been elected president of the Chicago Wholesale Coal Shippers association. Walter Touhy, president of the Globe Coal company, is vice president.

Croll Hunter, president of Northwest Airlines, yesterday announced the election of John E. Parker as a member of the air lines' board of directors. Parker is associated with the Auchincloss, Parker, and Redpath Investment company of Washington, D. C.

The first of a series of lectures on ferrous metals sponsored by the Chicago chapter of the American Society for Metals will be held Monday night in the Peoples Gas, Light and Coke company auditorium, 122 South Michigan avenue. Fred C. Smith, Carnegie-Illinois Steel company, will discuss the manufacture of machine steel.

James A. Shanahan, managing director of the Art Center, Chicago, will be the speaker at a Junior Association of Commerce luncheon Monday in the Hotel Sherman. Shanahan is former instructor in advertising and selling at Creighton university.

H. L. Cook of the Liquid Carbonic company will speak at a meeting of the Chicago Salesmen's club Tuesday evening in the Merchandise Mart.

H. E. Ingram has been named chairman of a committee of members of the Chicago Association of Credit Men to aid in the coördination of defense activities in the Chicago area.

The 12th annual benefit dance given by Walgreen company employés will be held Sunday and Tuesday evenings in the Morrison hotel. Proceeds are turned over to a fund to supply food to needy families.

CITRUS FRUIT CROPS PLACED WELL ABOVE AVERAGE OF 10 YEARS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—The department of agriculture reported today that the orange crop for the 1941-'42 marketing season is placed at 84,726,000 boxes, compared with 84,482,000 a month ago, 84,082,000 for the 1940-'41 marketing season, and 60,283,000 the 10 year average.

California orange production is placed at 49,528,000 boxes, compared with 49,284,000 boxes a month ago, 49,478,000 the preceding season, and 37,198,000 the 10 year average.

Florida orange production is estimated at 31,300,000 boxes, compared with 31,300,000 a month ago, 31,100,000 a year ago, and 21,290,000 the 10 year average.

The Texas orange crop is placed at 3,100,000 boxes, compared with 3,100,000 a month ago, 2,750,000 the previous season, and 1,157,000 the 10 year average.

Total grapefruit production for the 1941-'42 season is estimated at 41,440,000 boxes, compared with 41,490,000 a month ago, 43,033,000 last season, and 24,383,000 the 10 year average.

BUTTER CLIMBS AS U. S. TAKES MILK AND EGGS

Wholesale butter prices advanced ¼ to ½ cent a pound yesterday as receipts fell off and the government announced the purchase of substantial quantities of dairy and poultry products for lend-lease purposes. Best grades of butter sold for around 36 cents a pound.

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation announced it had purchased 1,610,950 pounds of dry skim milk; 1,121,750 cases of evaporated milk; the equivalent in powdered whole eggs of 3,750,000 dozens; 61,000 pounds of canned chicken and 45,000 of canned turkey; and 73 carlots of cheese.

In the futures markets, January egg contracts sold ¾ cent higher at a four week top of 32.75 cents a dozen. The February delivery was at a new seasonal high. Butter futures closed about ¼ cent a pound higher after selling at the highest prices in eight weeks and longer.

EXPRESS AGENCY ASKS EXTRA FEE ON ALL PARCELS

St. Louis, Jan. 9 (AP).—The Railway Express Agency, Inc., applied to the Interstate Commerce commission today for an additional emergency charge of 10 cents on each shipment.

The request came near the end of the commission's week long hearing on the application of the nation's railroads and water carriers for a general 10 per cent increase in freight and passenger rates. The express agency asked that the special charge become effective Jan. 20.

More than 250 witnesses have appeared before three ICC commissioners at the hearing, which was expedited by introduction of written statements of their testimony. It was one of the speediest hearings of a major case in the history of the commission. Final arguments will begin Monday.

OIL OPERATORS PLAN MEETING TO UNITE EFFORTS

Centralia, Ill., Jan. 9 (AP).—A renewal of oil exploration, greatly curtailed by recent federal regulations governing priorities, is the purpose of a meeting of independent oil operators from the middle west at Evansville, Ind., Monday night.

An announcement said the operators will perfect a permanent organization and select a committee to confer with the Office of Petroleum Coordinator regarding the spacing of wells and to represent the independent producers in working out their development plans.

The meeting was called by representative operators of Illinois, Indiana, and Missouri, including Sam D. Jarvis of Decatur, N. V. Duncan of Fairfield, Walter Duncan of La Salle, and B. K. Leach of the Egyptian Tie and Timber company, St. Louis.

Crude Petroleum Stocks Increase as Output Dips

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—The bureau of mines reported today stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum at the close of the week ended Jan. 3 totaled 244,440,000 barrels, a net increase of 450,000 barrels compared with the week before. Daily average production for the week was 4,038,000 barrels, or a decrease of 43,000 barrels.

RAILROAD BONDS RISE, BOOSTING DAY'S TURNOVER

New York, Jan. 9 (AP).—A long list of railroad bonds attracted a strong following in today's market, many rising major fractions to more than two points and imparting a generally higher trend to other groups.

It was the seventh day in which the carriers had been in important demand and reflected, brokers said, a reappraisal of the railroad industry in the light of probable widespread curtailment of motor transportation facilities as well as growing belief the Interstate Commerce commission would grant a boost in tariffs.

Any number of issues turned over in excess of $100,000, face value, and boosted the day's total sales to $13,735,700, the best thus far in 1942. Thursday's turnover aggregated $11,082,100. The Associated Press average of 20 rails added .04 of a point at 63.3, making the total net gain in this composite in the 7-day rise 3.6 points. Other groups in that index reflected marked steadiness.

United States government issues held steady on both the stock exchange and over the counter, altho trading activity in the former market was again light.

PRESS FOR ACTION ON ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY PROJECT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—The rules committee has been requested to approve a rule to permit the house to consider a billion dollar rivers and harbors bill.

Committee aids disclosed today that Chairman Mansfield [D., Tex.] had made the request, which was in line with his earlier decision to seek passage this month despite contentions by some representatives that the measure should be sidetracked because of the war.

Representative Kirwan [D., O.] and others contended there was no valid reason to delay action since the bill did not appropriate money but merely authorized projects, none to be carried out during the war unless designated as necessary to defense by defense officials.

The bill would authorize numerous navigation and hydroelectric power works, among them St. Lawrence seaway and power development and the Florida ship canal.

STATE SALES TAX LIFTED ON SEEDS AND STOCK FEED

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9 (AP).—The state finance department today issued a ruling exempting sales of seeds and live stock feeds from the state sales tax when such sales are made to farmers for the purpose of growing crops, feeding live stock for market or producing milk and eggs.

The new ruling, which will result in considerable tax savings to farmers, was promulgated after seven law suits had been filed in Sangamon county Circuit court challenging the legality of the tax on sales of seeds and live stock feeds. The tax, which previously had been levied on seed sales, also was placed on sales of feeds last August by the finance department.

The department also ruled today that sale of breeding animals to farmers shall not be subjected to the sales tax.

CANADIAN-U. S. CANAL TRAFFIC AT PEAK IN 1941

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 9 (AP).—Freight passing thru the Canadian and United States locks of Sault Ste. Marie canals in 1941 reached an all-time record of 111,121,718 tons, the dominion bureau of statistics reported today. The previous record was 91,888,219 tons, set in 1916. The 1940 tonnage was 89,857,672.

Traffic thru the Welland canal also set a record of 13,232,263 tons, compared with the old high of 12,906,474 in 1940.

Explain How Old Factories Can Be Fixed for War Use

Representatives of the construction industry were told how old factory buildings could be rehabilitated for armament work thru use of priorities preference rating P-19-A, at a meeting of the Construction Industrial council of the Chicago Association of Commerce at the La Salle hotel yesterday. Earle Hessley of the priorities field service of the Chicago Office of Production Management was speaker. Seventy architects, builders, heating engineers, painting contractors, and other members of the construction industry attended.

ORGANIZE BLUE NETWORK, INC., IN NBC SPLITUP

Formed as a Subsidiary of Radio Corp.

New York, Jan. 9 [Special].—The first step in divorcement of the Blue network from the National Broadcasting company system was taken today with formation of the Blue Network Company, Inc., as a separate and wholly owned subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America. Incorporation papers for the new company, which is to be cut loose from the RCA-NBC organization, were filed at Dover, Del.

David R. Sarnoff, president of RCA, announced that, with the permission of the Federal Communications commission, the new Blue network will own and manage WJZ in New York, WENR in Chicago ,and KGO in San Francisco. It will continue to furnish program service to more than 100 independently owned affiliated radio stations thruout the country.

Applies for License Transfers.

As its initial step in independent operation, the new company today applied to the FCC for permission to transfer licenses for the operation of stations WJZ, WENR and KGO.

Mark Woods, formerly vice president and treasurer of NBC, was elected president of the new company. Edgar Kobak, NBC vice president in charge of sale for the Blue network, was made executive vice president, and E. R. Borroff, Chicago, vice president in charge of the central division. Niles Trammell, NBC president, was elected chairman of the new company's executive committee, which includes Woods and Kobak as members. Trammell will continue as head of NBC.

Complete Divestiture Planned.

"The Blue network," said Trammell, "will continue to be housed in its present locations pending the establishment of permanent quarters elsewhere. Certain of its routine operations will be carried on by NBC until the new company has established its own facilities."

Forming of the new corporation, it was learned, is a preparatory step to determining it s asset value, after which RCA intends to undertake outright divestment of the Blue system either by a pro rata distribution to RCA stockholders or by sale to an investment banking syndicate for distribution of stock to the general public.

Decision to split NBC into individual networks was brought to a head by the objection of the FCC to NBC's having two networks.

A. of C. Urges Passage of Lanham Housing Bill

Directors of the Chicago Association of Commerce voted an appeal to congress yesterday to pass the Lanham bill, providing for the construction of houses for workers in various defense industry areas. At the same time they voted disapproval of senate amendments which would permit construction of housing for other than defense purposes.

BRANIFF AIRWAYS.

I would appreciate any information you can give me as to the earnings and dividends of Braniff Airways. I have held some stock in this company for two years, but have never seen it quoted on any stock exchange.

—R. G. W.

Answer: In the 12 months ended June 30, 1941, Braniff Airways, Inc., had a net loss of $121,908, compared with a profit of $49,805 in the corresponding 1940 period. Earnings for the fiscal years ended Dec. 31 follow:

| | Operating revenue. | Net income. | Per share. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1940 | $2,571,130 | *$14,446 | $.... |
| 1939 | 1,740,399 | 43,824 | 0.15 |
| 1938 | 1,395,144 | 28,765 | 0.10 |

*Loss.

Braniff Airways' only capitalization is 400,000 shares of $2.50 par capital stock. In March, 1940, par value was changed from $10 to $2.50, and outstanding stock was split four for one. The first public offering of the stock was made at that time. As of Mar. 27, 1940, T. E. Braniff, president, owned 55 per cent of the air line's stock.

No dividends have been paid on the $2.50 stock. The shares are not listed on any exchange but are traded in the over-the-counter market.

Braniff Airways, incorporated in 1930, transports passengers, mail, and express. The air line operates over 2,600 miles of routes, connecting Chicago and Kansas City with Texas and the southwest.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

What is the difference between American Tobacco company's common and common B stocks? Have they the same par value?—M. V.

Answer: The common stock voting power is vested solely in the common shares. The common B stock has no voting power. The two classes of stocks are both $25 par and have equal dividend and liquidation rights.

NONMEDICAL.

—J. H. D.

Answer: Nonmedical life insurance is written without the ordinary medical examination of the applicant. To be eligible applicants must meet certain requirements and be considered a good risk by the insurance company. Nonmedical insurance is written in limited amounts. Usually the maximum policy obtainable is $2,500, altho larger policies have been issued. Ordinarily the policies are issued only to persons from 18 to 45 years of age.

GRAIN HANDLERS BUY U. S. CORN FOR INDUSTRIES

Federal Sales Are Held Up at Two Markets.

BY PHILIP WARDEN

The grain trade went to the government for large additional supplies of corn yesterday to fill industrial orders. Dealers estimated that Chicago handlers purchased close to a million bushels of the stocks owned by the government thru the Commodity Credit corporation.

That the buying of the government stocks was widespread was confirmed by the agency itself when it withdrew its offers to sell at both Kansas City and Omaha. Trade reports said that the corporation had had to take time out to check up on its supplies.

Iowa Shipping U. S. Corn.

Iowa was reported as ready to ship between five and six million bushels of federally owned corn with around four million bushels already having gone forward. The shippers said the corn was being sent to distilleries for the manufacture of alcohol for use in ammunition, and for lend-lease purposes.

Brokers estimated that hedging sales on more than 300,000 bushels of corn were made by one unidentified operator during the morning session on the Chicago Board of Trade. They said it was indicated that the seller intended to purchase an equal amount of government corn late in the day.

Under this selling pressure, futures prices eased slightly, the market closing unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel lower. The May contract in which most of the selling centered, closed at 85⅝ cents. Contracts calling for the delivery of almost a half million bushels of corn were made in Thursday's trading, lifting the number of uncompleted contracts to a new two-year high.

Rye and Wheat Advance.

Rye advanced about a cent a bushel with buying associated partly with the Office of Production Management order to distillers to manufacture industrial alcohol from grain. Corn derived only meager support from the order because commodity credit has already allotted around 2½ million bushels from its stocks to the distillers for alcohol production. This amount is about equal to the total quantity of corn consumed in making alcohol and spirits by the distilling industry last year.

Rye closed ⅝ to ⅞ cent a bushel higher. Wheat was ¼ to ⅜ cent higher in a light trade, the number of uncompleted contracts open on the Board of Trade declining to an all-time low of 36,582,000 bushels. May wheat contracts closed at $1.28⅞.

Oats sold ¼ cent lower at the close. Strength in related fats and oil markets was reflected in the soy bean pit where prices closed 1⅝ to 1¾ cents higher. The large lend-lease purchases of lard were a factor in the 2½ to 12½ cents per hundredweight advance that carried lard prices to the highest levels since war-emergency ceilings were lifted off the markets.

RECEIPTS CLIMB, PUSHING PRICES OF HOGS LOWER

The movement of hogs to market reached full winter volume thruout the country yesterday, resulting in a setback of 5 to 15 cents in prices at the Chicago stockyards. Arrivals during the day totaled 23,500, the third largest Friday supply in more than two years.

Costs of most other meat animals also eased. The majority of steers and yearlings sold weak to slightly lower. Slaughter lambs dipped 10 to 25 cents.

SUPPLY OF CORN ON FARMS IS TWO BILLION BUSHELS

The department of agriculture said yesterday that on Jan. 1 farmers were holding 2 billion 12 million bushels of corn on their farms compared with 1 billion 837 million a year ago. Holdings represented 82.8 per cent of last year's crop. More than 333 million bushels were held on Illinois farms and more than 473½ million on Iowa farms.

The department estimated that 39.5 per cent of the wheat crop, or 373,820,000 bushels, was still on the farms on Jan. 1. This compared with 280,840,000 bushels a year earlier. Kansas farmers had stored 64 million bushels on their farms and North Dakotans 86,257,000.

Oats stored on the farms represented 63.7 per cent of last year's crop and totaled 749,417,000 bushels against 795,448,000 a year earlier. There were 98,632,000 bushels on Illinois farms and 118,778,000 on Iowa farms.

General List.

NEAR NORTH SIDE

Why spend time commuting when you can live down here near the lake, and near so many interesting things, with just a nice walk to and from your office in the loop? We have little 2 bedroom shagry roof peasant houses in a little slate paved court up on the second floor level. Heated and serviced like apartments. Also a cozy 2 room furnished studio. Also a 2 story balcony studio just flooded with light. Also a layout with living room over 30 ft. long, with windows at both ends, and skylight and fireplace; one large and two small bedrooms, and, just outside, a sunny roof all floored and ready for a roof garden next summer. Also a 6 room with sunny bay window living room. All with fireplaces, the comforts and pleasant surroundings that the Cook Estate offers.

We also have a group of handy men who can generally, at short notice, take care of some of your household troubles, such as plumbing, refrigeration, etc.
